NEW BRUNSWICK NAMES CANDIDATES FOR TEST

Force Spurred Into Increased Action by Flood of Criticism Following Murder of A. Lingle, Reporter of Tribune; Business Men Talk of Martial Law to Clear Gangsters Out of City.

Canadian Press

Chicago, June 12.—Police "execution squads," each captained by an officer whose courage in fighting gangsters is attested by notches on his revolver, raked Chicago to-day for the man who killed Alfred (Jake) Lingle, Tribune reporter.

By last midnight 500 hoodlums, derelicts and suspicious characters were in jail. Lawyers flocked to detective headquarters demanding the release of their clients, but no releases were made.

William Russell, police commissioner, and John Stege, his chief of detectives, were spurred to action not only by the crime itself and their own close friendship with the slain newspaperman, but by a rising flood of hostile public sentiment that gained expression in front page editorials and in statements of civic leaders.

There was talk unofficially among business and civic groups of the possibility of martial law to supersede the police and drive the gangsters once and for all from the city. One American Legion post offered the services of its members to take up arms, under proper authority, against the gangsters.

POLICE SCORED

The Herald and Examiner, which has joined The Tribune and The Evening Post in offering a total reward of $55,000 for the arrest and conviction of the man who shot Lingle dead last Monday in the crowded Randolph Street subway, excoriated the police department in a front page editorial. It referred to the department's "miserable inefficiency," and added:

"Chicago is disgusted with its headless, footless city administration, so streaked with rottenness that honest men in it, thinking of their daily bread, keep their mouths shut and their eyes closed."

The "execution squad" of the police were so called because their commanders have shown in previous gangster hunts that they are unafraid to shoot down outlaws.

"Lieut. Frank Reynolds, in charge of one squad, has killed eleven criminals," Chief Stege said. "Lieut. Al Booth has killed six; Lieut. Walter Storms has killed five; Lieut. William

Kingsford-Smith Crew Hopes to Leave Ireland For United States

Weather Reports From Ships in Atlantic Are Favorable

Dublin, Ireland, June 12.—A big improvement in the weather last night and the prospects of still better conditions over the Atlantic has caused Captain Kingsford-Smith to decide on a start to-morrow with his three companions aboard the monoplane Southern Cross, for the United States, should the present outlook hold. He has hopes that further weather reports will reveal even better conditions. Should no favorable developments be reported, the Southern Cross will be taken to Curragh camp this evening to prepare for the start.

The airmen then intend to wait for a weather bulletin at midnight and should this prove reassuring the Southern Cross will take off at 3.30 a.m.

PROVINCE ADDS TO BERRY CROP HANDLING COST

Province Increases Growers' Expenses By Closure of Prairie Office

Following the cessation of Provincial aid in routing and placing strawberries to the best advantage, the fruitgrowers of Saanich have been compelled to send H. E. Tanner as special commissioner to the prairies, to handle their shipments for the season. Great annoyance is expressed by leading growers regarding the closure by W. W. Duncan, markets commissioner, of the Calgary office maintained in previous years by the government for the assistance of fruit and vegetable producers.

J. A. Grant, prairie markets commissioner, is now without headquarters where he can be communicated with in regard to marketing berries.

The growers assert that the marketing assistance received is nil as far as the Department of Agriculture is concerned.

Mr. Tanner left yesterday for the prairies, at the expense of the growers, and will watch the marketing of berries and keep the growers posted as to conditions.

HELEN IS QUEEN OF ROUMANIANS, SAYS THE KING

Bucharest, Roumania, June 12. — King Carol to-day was reported to have declared Princess Helen, his former wife, to be "already Queen of Roumania."

The King told his brother Nicholas and his sister, Princess Elizabeth, that when his father, King Ferdinand, died, he, Carol, automatically became king and Helen became queen.

Since then the divorce had been pronounced, but with the parliamentary annulment Sunday of all intervening events since King Ferdinand's death and his own reinstallation as king, Helen automatically had become queen.

King Carol begged Prince Nicholas to give this message to Helen, which he did when the mother of Crown Prince Michael came to bring their child this forenoon to play.

Helen was reported as having declared herself satisfied.

CUMBERLAND MAN TO HEAD ODD FELLOWS

J. C. Brown Elected Grand Master at Meeting This Morning

Grand Lodge Pays Honor to J. Wriglesworth, Veteran Victoria Odd Fellow

J. C. Brown of Cumberland was this morning elected grand master of the Grand Lodge of British Columbia, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, being accorded the customary promotion of one step. Other officers elected by acclamation were Deputy Grand Master, E. E. Elliott of Vancouver, and Grand Warden, Frank Clark of Prince George. Both received one step advancement in rank.

The only election was for the office of treasurer, which was voted to W. T. Cheate, Nelson, on second ballot. Robert Livingston of Victoria was runner-up. Thirteen candidates were nominated on the first ballot, these being Robert Livingston, W. S. McPherson, Charles Aitchison, Ray Merritt, Harry Porter, W. Robertson, William Ramsay, James Bell, J. E. Fitzwater, D. McLaren, A. M. Russell and Ellis C. Turner.

E. G. Cavalsky of Nanaimo, retiring Grand Master, was elected grand representative to the Sovereign Grand Lodge.

VICTORIAN HONORED

J. Wriglesworth of Victoria, past grand master in 1880, was given an enthusiastic reception when he entered the lodgeroom, the ovation being in honor of the golden anniversary of the attainment of the office of grand master. Mr. Wriglesworth recalled that, after being created grand master fifty years ago, he had enjoyed the honor of officiating at the dedication of the Odd Fellows Hall.

TRUSTEES RE-ELECTED

The board of trustees of the home fund presented a satisfactory report showing the great progress made during the year and was then accorded the honor of unanimous re-election. The board includes the following: W. W. Walkem, M. J. Phillips, R. A. Merrithew, J. T. McDonald, E. L. Webber, W. A. Johnstone and D. E. Mackenzie.

The grand lodge passed legislation concerning life-memberships and suspension of lodge meetings during the summer months at the discretion of each lodge.

The question of stipulated benefits was referred to a committee to be dealt with next year.

NEW TARIFF IS GREAT AID TO NOVA SCOTIA

Ralston, Nominated For Commons, Says U.S. Learns Canada's Course Firm

Barrington Passage, N.S., June 12.—"The Dunning budget, the most far-reaching in its effect in this province of any since Confederation, has served notice on the world that we will trade with those who trade with us," Hon. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence, told the Liberal convention that yesterday named him as candidate for the Commons in Selburne-Yarmouth.

The budget, he said, had created a new atmosphere in the United States in indicating Canada had decided to deal with its own tariff in its own way, regardless of the attitude of Congress. This had not been done in any spirit of blatancy, he continued, but the effect was: "If you want us to buy your goods, you must buy ours as well."

JAPAN DESTROYER AND SUBMARINE ARE IN COLLISION

Tokio, June 12. — The 900-ton destroyer Fuyo and the submarine TP-68 of the Japanese navy collided to-day in Bungo Strait during the manoeuvres there of the first fleet.

There were no casualties, although both vessels were considerably damaged. They were towed back into the Inaid Sea to the naval base at Kurz.

PILOT PLANNING LONG PLANE HOP SHOWS HIS SKILL

Roosevelt Field, N.Y., June 12.—The proposed round trip, non-stop flight to Bermuda in the monoplane Columbia was called off for to-day by Roger Q. Williams, the pilot, because of a heavy fog.

Yesterday Williams demonstrated his skill as an aviator by steering an airplane with its motors and making a safe landing after the rudder had collapsed.

Flier Sets Altitude Record

Lieut. Apollo Soucek did not know when he landed at the Anacosta naval air station at Washington whether he had broken the world plane altitude record. Two days later, after his instruments had been officially checked, he learned he had been higher than any man had ever flown before. He went above 42,200 feet. The upper picture shows him being congratulated just after he had landed. At the left is a close-up of the daring flier.

Firebugs Blamed For Big $500,000 Winnipeg Outbreak

Two Fires Most Spectacular in Manitoba City in Decade; Three Buildings Destroyed and Flames Sweep Over Lumber Yard and Part of Oil Tank Yard; Many People Flee From Homes.

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, June 12.—After hours of great anxiety and a heroic battle by firemen, aided by police, militiamen and citizens, fires which threatened destruction of the northwest section of Winnipeg, including the suburb of Weston, were brought under control shortly after 5 o'clock this morning.

Fanned by a wind of almost cyclonic strength, the fires raged for several hours, until a drenching rain brought relief to the harrassed fire fighters and citizen volunteers. But before the rain came the flames had raged uncontrolled, bringing destruction of property valued at more than $500,000.

Fire fiends are held responsible for the most spectacular fire outbreak the city has witnessed in a decade. This was the conviction of fire commission officers, firemen and police, while residents of the district reported having seen two men behaving in a suspicious manner shortly before the outbreaks.

PEOPLE LEFT HOMES

Three buildings were destroyed, while a large lumber yard and the plant of an oil company fell prey to the flames as scores of other buildings and houses in the district were threatened. The heavy wind carried sparks from the burning lumber and oil for blocks. Scenes of panic were witnessed as people fled from their homes.

A few minutes before midnight the first alarm was sounded, sending the firemen to the old McDiarmid warehouse, at the corner of Myrtle Street and Winnipeg Avenue, which had been utilized by the Federal Government for the housing of Vetcraft shops. The

TAX OFFICER IS WITNESS AT CALGARY TRIAL

Solloway and Mills Hearing Continues in Prairie City Court

Calgary, June 12.—Evidence that the firm of Solloway, Mills and Company at Calgary had failed, over a period, to pay excise tax on sales put through the house account and not on the floor of the exchange, was given by Edgar Gray Holtby, C.A., excise tax officer, when he was examined by A. McLeod Sinclair, K.C., prosecution counsel, at the trial of I. W. S. Solloway and Harvey Mills this morning.

Questioned by Mr. McGillivray, the witness testified that when he examined the books of the company early in 1930, he found an amount of $20,715 owing to the excise tax office. This amount was made up of excise tax stamps which had not been paid on sales not put through the exchange. Tax, however apparently had been paid on all sales put through the exchange as well as on all buy orders.

"I was under the impression in August, 1929, the excise tax was not being paid on certain sales and accordingly I visited the office of the company," Mr. Holtby said. "I then found that up to the end of July an amount of about $1,100 was owing. I instructed them to take care of the tax in future."

DID NOT SEE ALL BOOKS

Mr. Holtby said it was during an inspection made in March of this year that he had found the shortage of $20,715 covering a period from March 1, 1929. He had been unable to find the complete records from June 19, 1928, to February 28, 1929, he said.

During cross-examination of Harold Riley, secretary-manager of the Calgary Stock Exchange, Mr. McGillivray elicited the information that Solloway, Mills and Company did, on an average from 25 to 33⅓ per cent of all the business on the exchange.

The witness testified he was in error when he had stated at the preliminary hearing that the company did forty per cent of the business on the exchange. Subsequent calculations had resulted in his revising this figure.

FIRE DESTROYS STORE

New Westminster, June 12.—A fire that broke out shortly after 1 a.m. to-day destroyed the general store at Maillardville, owned by Wilfred Duplin. The loss, about $6,000, is partly covered by insurance. The post office was in the store, but practically all the mail and the post office records were saved.

FLOUR PRICE INQUIRY IS NOW URGED

Vancouver City Council to Send Request to Heenan at Ottawa

Relation of Wheat Prices to Bread Prices Subject of Discussion

Vancouver, June 12. — Decision to call on the Minister of Labor of Canada to make an investigation of the relation of wheat prices to the prices of flour, feed and bread and whether or not association of millers, bakers and dealers constitutes a combination in restraint of trade, was reached by a special committee of the Vancouver City Council this morning.

The general form of a resolution which will be sent by the council to Ottawa and also an appeal to other western cities for support was agreed upon.

In the resolution agreed upon, the council does not undertake to prove or disprove any given statement, but places before the authorities information which it believes warrants investigation.

LIBERALS SHOW KEEN INTEREST IN NOMINATION

All Supporters of Party Have Voice in Selection of Candidate

Interest in the open convention to-night to name a Victoria Liberal candidate for the federal election contest indicates that the Sons of Canada Hall, View Street, will be crowded to capacity. All attending will be asked to sign a register at the door declaring they are bona fide Liberal supporters and beyond that there will be no formalities.

J. B. Clearihue will present the rules of the convention, on the adoption of which the meeting will get under way under the chairmanship of W. H. Kinsman, president of the Victoria Liberal Association.

George S. Pearson, M.P.P., Nanaimo, will be the speaker of the evening.

It is probable that three names will be offered from which to select a candidate. They are George McGregor, Stuart Henderson and Alderman E. S. Woodward. No announcement has been made of who will offer the names of the three known aspirants for nomination, but Alderman Woodward, the latest entry in the field, is reported to have the support of C. J. V. Spratt, former president of the Victoria Liberal Association.

BIG TEXAS FIRE IS INVESTIGATED

Por Arthur, Texas, June 12.—One man lost his life, thirty-five were injured, eleven seriously, and damage estimated at more than $1,000,000 was listed to-day as a result of an explosion and fire at the refinery of the Texas Oil Company here.

Official investigation into the cause of the explosion was begun by Superintendent M. K. Holmes.

TO-DAY'S BASEBALL

Detroit, June 12.—Babe Ruth hit his twentieth home run of the season today in the fourth inning of the New York Yankee-Detroit tiger game. His run scored Lary ahead of him and gave the Yanks a lead of 8-1.

Eastern Province Swings Into Last Stage of Election

Ninety-eight Candidates Officially Nominated To-day for Polling June 19 Which Will Fill Forty-eight Seats in Legislature of New Brunswick; Alberta Will Have General Election Same Day.

Canadian Press

St. John, N.B., June 12.—Candidates totaling ninety-eight were officially nominated to-day to contest the forty-eight seats in the New Brunswick Legislature in the general election next Thursday, June 19.

The Liberals, headed by W. O. Jones, and the Government party, the Conservates, under the leadership of Premier J. B. M. Baxter, nominated candidates to contest every seat.

In addition two independents entered the lists, Hanford Price, in Moncton city, and Robert Ewing, who will contest St. John city on a straight prohibition platform.

A provincial general election will be held in Alberta the same day as that in New Brunswick.

PLAYGROUND PLAN WELL UNDER WAY

Parks Board Head and Y.M.C.A. Official Confer on Supervision Project

Beacon Hill, Central and Victoria West Parks to Come Under Control

Definite action on the plan to have properly supervised and organized games and athletics on city playgrounds was promised following a conference this morning between V. Shoemaker of the Y.M.C.A. and Alderman John Worthington, chairman of the city parks and boulevards committee.

A tentative budget of $1,000 has been fixed for the programme. It is expected to have three young men as instructors and two or three women to look after the children.

Playgrounds at Central, Beacon Hill and Victoria West Parks will come under supervision. Children from the ages of four and five years up to fifteen and sixteen will be instructed and directed by capable persons. It is planned to carry out the programme during the months of July and August.

TO RAISE FUNDS

Funds for the project will be raised by subscription from public bodies. The service club council has already promised $225 on condition that the balance can be secured.

The proposed programme will be a considerable extension of that already carried out by the parks committee, which spends $300 a year on playground work and keeps three instructors employed during the summer months.

JAPAN PRINCE TO BE VISITOR HERE JUNE 21

Father of Mr. Tokugawa, Minister to Canada, Sails For Tour in Canada

Yokohama, June 12.—Prince Iyesato Tokugawa, president of the House of Peers of the Japanese Parliament, since 1903, sailed to-day for Victoria and Vancouver, B.C., aboard the liner Empress of Russia.

Other passengers on the liner include Walter Hagen and Joe Kirkwood, famous golfers, who have been touring the Orient.

While in Canada Prince Tokugawa will visit his son, Iyemasa Tokugawa, Japanese Minister to Canada, who will come to Victoria from Ottawa to meet him, arriving in Victoria June 19.

The Empress of Russia, with the Prince aboard, is expected to reach Victoria June 21.

Crew of Steamer In Collision Is Criticized

Canadian Press

Boston, June 12.—This morning the sea cast up the first material proof that the oil tanker which was rammed and sunk in Massachusetts Bay Tuesday night by the passenger steamship Fairfax, with forty-six deaths resulting, was the Pinthis of Fall River, Mass. Hull police found on the Green Hill beach, near Nantasket, about twelve miles from the spot where the tanker went down, a warped and twisted lifeboat, right side up but empty, and bearing the name "Pinthis" on its scorched bow.

CREW CRITICIZED

Boston, June 12.—A vivid description of the sea tragedy involving the tanker Pinthia and the liner Fairfax and forty-six deaths, came from the lips of George F. Farrell, Everett, Mass., chief signalman of the U.S.S. Lexington, and it contained frank criticism of some of the liner's crew.

While the seven marines three chiefs and two sailors of the United States navy aboard the Fairfax were desperately fighting the fire on the starboard side, trying to prevent panic-stricken passengers from leaping overboard and were rigging an emergency radio aerial, Farrell also asserted some of the ship's officers seemed more excited than the passengers and that some of the crew apparently did not know where the life preservers were kept—that the navy men had to distribute them to passengers.

MACNIDER IS EXPECTED TO BE MINISTER

Anticipated U.S. Senate Will Confirm Hoover's Nomination For Canada

Washington, June 12.—The threat offered to the appointment of Lieut.-Col. Hanford MacNider as United States Minister to Canada yesterday was more apparently real. Informed circles believe Senator Brookhart of Iowa, who opposed the appointment on the ground that it was "personally offensive" to him, has shot his bolt and that the Senate will confirm President Hoover's action probably at this session of Congress.

The foreign relations committee of the Seattle yesterday reported the appointment to the Senate without recommendation. This is taken as a concession, and it is suggested Col. MacNider's political challenge enemy will have to be satisfied therewith.

BENNETT NOMINATED

Calgary, June 12.—Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, was nominated here this afternoon as standard-bearer for his party in his old constituency of West Calgary, in the coming general election. No other name was placed in nomination.

Mackenzie Vancouver Liberal Candidate

Canadian Press

Vancouver, June 12.—Liberals of Vancouver, Centre to-day are lined up behind Capt. Ian Mackenzie, M.P.P., as their standard-bearer in the Federal general election. While he was being unanimously nominated yesterday evening at a large and enthusiastic convention here, another Liberal nomination was made in British Columbia—that of J. F. Guimont, at Cranbrook, in East Kootenay, the constituency represented by Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Pensions and National Health, till his recent appointment as a Senator.

In Vancouver South, Leon J. Ladner, former member, was chosen again as Conservative candidate.

The nomination of Capt. Mackenzie, who is regarded as in line for a Cabinet post, was unanimous. It put him in the field against Hon. H. H. Stevens, who is generally expected to be named Conservative candidate in Vancouver Centre at a party convention to be held this evening.

Owing to illness which has confined him to bed for the past ten days, Capt. Mackenzie was not present at the convention, but his name was given a rousing ovation by the assembled delegates.

The nomination was moved by Alex. Henderson, K.C., and Walter Owen, and was unanimous.

The records of Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, and Hon. H. H. Stevens, were told by J. W. deB. Farris, K.C.; G. G. McGeer, K.C., and Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith, in vigorous addresses.

READY TO SERVE

Gordon Sloan, chairman, read a short message from Capt. Mackenzie:

"I regret very much that on account of indisposition I shall not be able to be present at the Vancouver Centre convention this evening. You and my other friends in Centre, however, may rely upon all the assistance I can render in whatever capacity I am asked to serve.

"No party ever had a better cause to fight for Canada and the Empire. No party ever had a better leader than our brilliant Prime Minister, Mr. Mackenzie King.

25,000 Shriners At Toronto Event To-day

Canadian Press

Toronto, June 12.—Dedication of the monument presented by the United States nobles of the Mystic Shrine to their Canadian brethren in commemoration of the more than 100 years of peace that has existed between the two countries was the high spot of to-day's activities in connection with the Shriners' international convention here.

Some 25,000 uniformed nobles — chanters, bandsmen and patrols — in mass formation, presented a glittering picture as they paraded in the elaborate ritual before the imperial potentate's reviewing stand prior to the ceremony.

Speeches by wire from Premier King and Henry L. Stimson, United States Secretary of State, were features of the dedication.

A Dream of Ninety Years Ago Comes True

Superimposed is the main span of the Montreal Harbour Bridge where it crosses over the steamer channel of the harbour.

In 1840 the people of Montreal dreamed of a bridge to join the harbor with the communities of the South Shore. The site they then selected was that on which now stands the magnificent structure known three generations later as the Montreal Harbor Bridge, officially opened on May 24, 1930. The single 16 candlepower gas lamp in the foreground is typical of the scientific darkness of its day, for it was not till 1880 that electric light was installed in the harbor of Montreal. To-day the dream of ninety years ago is realized in the bridge—one of the world's finest monuments to modern science and engineering—illuminated by 165 1,000 candlepower incandescent electric lamps—a total of 165,000 candlepower. Special plans for this unique installation were designed by the engineers of the Harbor Commission in conjunction with illumination engineers of the Northern Electric Company Limited.

ACQUITTAL IS END OF TRIAL AT VERNON

Hearing of Penticton Case Results in Not Guilty Verdict For Charles Oliver

Vernon, B.C., June 12.—It took less than twenty minutes for the Assize Court here yesterday to bring in a verdict of not guilty at the trial of Charles Oliver, charged with assaulting Dr. V. E. Latimer in Penticton last November 25. It was almost a foregone conclusion following the address of Chief Justice Morrison to the jury that Oliver would be acquitted, and a murmur of satisfaction ran around the packed courtroom when the verdict was given.

In addressing the jury the Chief Justice said: "The first thing you must consider is: Was Dr. Latimer assaulted and who assaulted him? What evidence is there to show the accused had anything to do with the assault? The evidence, if there is any, is only inferential against the accused."

THREE IN AUTO

The Chief Justice also pointed out that the cause of the trouble had come during the absence of Oliver in the Old Country, and consequently it might be expected Dr. Latimer would be thinking of Oliver continually. "But why pick on one man when three men were in a certain car when the assault is alleged to have taken place?" the Chief Justice asked.

"If Latimer saw Oliver in the car, why did he not see the other two and charge them also? It seems Latimer must have thought to himself that if it wasn't Oliver, it should have been," the Chief Justice concluded.

Only four witnesses for the prosecution were examined, and littel time was lost by Hon. R. L. Maitland, K.C., chief defence counsel, in cross-examination. With the case for the prosecution closed, Mr. Maitland put in no defence, but immediately opened his address to the jury.

The jury retired at 3.40 p.m. and rendered its verdict at 4 p.m.

Mining Engineers Go to the Cassiar

B. B. Neiding, formerly with the Kennecott Copper Corporation, left aboard the river steamer for the district to look over the strike for the Guggenheim interests and Dr. Joseph T. Mandy, Canadian government engineer also went in to survey the district for the government.

NEW OPPORTUNITY

"This is in a very special degree Vancouver's opportunity, with a tariff policy suited to our expansion and development and with an Empire policy specially designed to enrich our Empire trade, and most of all, a definite, unequivocal declaration by our Prime Minister guaranteeing in the very near future transportation facilities to the great Peace River area.

"Here we have a Vancouver policy, a western policy, a national policy and an Empire policy, all in one—surely a cause strong enough to inspire us—surely an issue vital enough to unite all progressive-minded citizens of Vancouver."

FRASER VALLEY

Mr. McGeer announced he would go to Chilliwack on Friday to accept the Liberal nomination for Fraser Valley, as well as the Farmer nomination. He had warned the Liberals and farmers both that if he were nominated and defeated it would be the end of the railway freight rates fight as far as he was concerned, but they had urged him to carry the fight to the floor of parliament and he had agreed. It was significant to find the farmers and the Liberals uniting, he said, and he urged Vancouver Centre to send Capt. Mackenzie to co-operate with him at Ottawa in getting the last vestiges of the differentials against the coast removed Premier King's promises to build a Peace River railway and to remove unequal feright rates must be supported in Parliament by Liberal members, he urged.

"The softest seat in British Columbia for a Liberal to win is Vancouver Centre," said Mr. McGeer. "Mr. Stevens started on the toboggan in 1925 and he has been going ever since."

PEACE RIVER BUSINESS

Vancouver had had to fight the C.P.R. and Mr. Stevens to make this a grain port, he continued, and now with the tremendous Peace River business offering, Vancouver again found Mr. Stevens was co-operating with the same interests to take that business to another port, Mr. McGeer said.

"At a banquet in Stewart," said the speaker, "Mr. Stevens said he was not concerned with what the people of Vancouver had to say to him. But was he not employed by you to represent your interests at Ottawa? You never had a better chance to win an election from Harry Stevens and the best help you have are the speeches of Hon. R. B. Bennett."

MAN OF VISION

Mr. Farris paid tribute to Capt Mackenzie's ability, his vision, his parliamentary skill, his character and courage. Already one of the outstanding of the younger statesmen of Canada, he had in prospect a brilliant future of public service.

Nothing Mr. Bennett or Mr. Stevens had done or said had any regard for British Columbia's welfare, said Mr. Farris. In 1924, when freight rates were the issue, Mr. Stevens had told the railway men of Revelstoke that lower rates would mean lower wages for them, he said.

Messrs. Bennett, McRae and Stevens had held up the Fraser River salmon treaty with the United States for a year—a proposal designed to restore to British Columbia a lost industry, he said. Mr. Bennett had since swallowed himself, but he could not swallow that year.

EXCHANGE OF TRADE

A year ago, when the United States proposed to put a tariff against British Columbia lumber, Mr. Bennett had got excited and demanded immediate retaliation, said the speaker. Premier King's declaration was that Canada would act in her own way and he had laid down the policy that Canada would trade with countries that would trade with Canada.

The Tories had accused the government of stealing the Tory policy, but that policy had been laid down a year ago by Mr. King and Mr. Robb and had been derided by Mr. Bennett. When Mr. Bennett had wanted to indulge in immediate retaliation the Premier had pointed out that a large element in the United States Congress was opposed to the tariff and he counselled against provoking that element.

"But Mr. Bennett," said the speaker, "came out here when the British Columbia lumber industry was threatened with this terrible blow, and on a Vancouver platform he exclaimed, Provoke them! What do we care? Was that responsive to the needs of British Columbia?"

OLD AGE PENSIONS

Mr. Farris said he viewed with alarm Mr. Bennett's proposal to enact a national old age pensions measure, because Mr. Bennett in Parliament, supported by Mr. Stevens, had said the only old age pensions he favored were contributory pensions in which the government would only pay out what the beneficiaries had already paid in.

More especially he feared tampering with old age pensions by Mr. Bennett because the Conservative leader was an eminent lawyer and as a lawyer he had declared in Parliament that the Dominion had no jurisdiction to enact an old age pensions law.

Mr. Farris described the two issues in the Dunning budget, the countervailing duties against countries, like the United States, that refused to trade with Canada and the counterbalancing feature giving relief to the common people by putting 500 items on the free list when they come from empire countries.

Mr. Meighen had said the British preference was unsound in principle. Mr. Stevens in Parliament had defended that statement. Mr. Bennett in this province last year had belittled the British preference.

NO GUN WANTED

"He advocated a tooth for a tooth policy in empire trade," said Mr. Farris. "That may be sound policy with the United States because we buy more from that country than she buys from us. But when Britain buys three or four times as much from Canada as Canada buys from Britain, this is not a time to put a gun up to the Mother Country.

"This fall there will be an economic conference in London on empire policy. The eyes of the empire are on Canada and the Dunning budget has inspired the old land as no Canadian policy has done in a generation," said Mr. Farris.

"Are we going to send to that conference Mr. Bennett and Mr. Stevens with guns in their hip pockets or men with love in their hearts and a desire to trade in friendly relations with the Mother Country? That is the issue in this campaign."

At present Capt. Mackenzie is M.P.P. for North Vancouver.

T. D. Pattullo, British Columbia Liberal leader, who was unable to attend the Vancouver Centre Liberal nomination convention yesterday evening, expressed regret to-day at the loss of Capt. Mackenzie from the provincial field.

"I have had long association with Mr. Mackenzie in the Legislature, he having been first elected in 1920," said Mr. Pattullo. "His long experience, his great ability and his scholastic attainments will be of great service in the Parliament at Ottawa, as they were in the Legislature here. Under forty years of age, the opportunity is his for long and brilliant service. During the time he has been in the Legislature, representing first Vancouver City and then North Vancouver, not only was he most assiduous in the interests of his constituency, but he had a wide grasp of Province-wide affairs and viewed public questions from the broad aspect of the general public welfare.

"We shall greatly miss him here provincially, but he will be an acquisition to the parliamentary life at Ottawa and a capable exponent of the requirements and needs of British Columbia."

EAST KOOTENAY

Cranbrook, B.C., June 12.—At a monster nomination convention here last night, J. F. Guimont, Canadian Pacific Railway dispatcher, was nominated for the East Kootenay constituency in the Liberal interests

The riding has been represented by Hon. J. H. King, who was appointed to the Senate.

LADNER NOMINATED

Vancouver, June 12.—Leon J. Ladner was chosen to carry the Conservative banner in Vancouver South in the approaching Federal election at a convention in Maple Hall, Vancouver South, last night.

Only one nomination was received, it being proposed by W. J. Blair and seconded by W. F. McLintock.

Among the speakers were Hon. H. H. Stevens; J. W. Cornett, M.P.P., South Vancouver; W. R. Rutledge, M.P.P., Burnaby; Charles E. Tisdall, Mrs. Angus McLean, Point Grey, and Miss Kate Morrison, South Vancouver.

Mr. Ladner represented South Vancouver from 1921 till the recent dissolution.

MAN DEMANDS PAY AS GORILLA

Los Angeles, June 12.—Hilton Phillips, Los Angeles, filed a complaint with the state labor bureau yesterday to collect $30 for a day's work as a gorilla in the jungle motion picture "Ingagi."

Phillips said he was hired by W. Sydeney Campbell, producer, as an African native and worked from October 14, 1929 to October 26 at $6.50 a day, then was engaged at $30 a day to play the part of a gorilla.

"Campbell told me I did not make a good gorilla," Phillips told deputy labor commissioners. "He refused to pay me according to the agreement. I insist I could be as good a gorilla as anybody else and am entitled to the $30 he promised me."

SUM HELD OUT OF SUBSIDY IS TO BE PAID

Ottawa, June 12.—The province of Nova Scotia is "not liable to pay to His Majesty in the right of the Dominion all expenses and costs incurred by reason of the calling out of part of the active militia in aid of the civil power in Cape Breton during June, 1925." This was a majority judgment of the Supreme Court of Canada, delivered by the Chief Justice here yesterday, Mr. Justice Newcombe dissenting and Mr. Justice Cannon finding liability was "conditional."

This settles a five-year-old dispute between the Dominion and the province in which the Federal government claimed reimbursement in the sum of $133,116.75, the cost of dispatching and maintaining troops of the permanent force in Cape Breton during the coal miners' strike of 1925.

A curious situation developed in connection with this case in that the Federal government had already withheld this sum from the province's subsidy. The effect of the judgment will be that the Dominion will have to reimburse the province for the $133,116.75 subtracted from the subsidy.

The matter came before the Supreme Court in the form of a reference from the Federal government.

NEW CATTLE RULE FOR STOCKYARDS

Ottawa, June 12.—Public stockyards are excluded from the restrictions placed on a designated area while testing for bovine tuberculosis is conducted, by an order-in-council passed by the federal government. It means the Minister of Agriculture may issue an order that a public stockyard in a restricted area may be permitted to carry on its business just as if the area had not been established.

The city of Saskatoon is the only place in Canada affected at the present time, according to officials of the Department of Agriculture. While no order had been passed affecting the stockyards in that city, one is expected, they say.

When tests for bovine tuberculosis are being conducted in a specified area, there can be no movement inward, except that of tested cattle. Stockyards protested that this worked an injustice on them and that it seriously affected their business. This led to the order-in-council which excluded them from the restrictive terms.

MOTHERS now learn value of MAGNESIA

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy, every mother should know about Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

This harmless, almost tasteless preparation is most effective in relieving those symptoms of babies and children generally caused by souring food in the little digestive tract, such as sour-belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, colic. As a mild laxative, it acts gently, but certainly, to open the little bowels in constipation, colds, children's diseases.

A teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia does the work of half a pint of lime water in neutralizing cow's milk for infant feeding, and preventing hard curds. Its many uses for mother and child are fully explained in the interesting book "Useful Information." It will be sent you, FREE. Write The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., Windsor, Ont.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years. (Advt.)

A POOR EXPLANATION

WHAT HAS THE DISMISSAL OF NORman Watt from his position as provincial government agent at Prince Rupert to do with the Dominion general election?

This question is pertinent just now because Premier Tolmie has announced that the investigation of the case—ordered by the Legislature three months ago—will not be commenced until after the electors of this country have gone to the polls on July 28.

It will be difficult for the people of British Columbia to understand why the Prime Minister of this province associates the case of a former provincial official with the battle which Mr. Mackenzie King and Mr. R. B. Bennett will fight out on the hustings between now and July 28.

As already pointed out, the elected representatives of the people of this province ordered the Legislature to appoint a commission, under the Departmental Inquiries Act, to discover the real reason for the dismissal of a trusted public servant who, incidentally, will carry with him to his grave mute evidence of his service to the empire in its hour of dire stress.

It will be remembered that when Mr. Shelly returned from Prince Rupert, after summarily dismissing Mr. Watt, he told a representative of The Vancouver Daily Province that Mr. Watt had been relieved of his duties because he had been "playing politics." But when Mr. Shelly found it necessary to give an explanation of his action to the Legislature he said Mr. Watt had been dismissed because he had taken coroner's fees which he, Mr. Shelly, had been informed should have been paid into the provincial exchequer.

As is well known, of course, these fees hitherto had been considered part of the perquisites of the office of government agent at those points in the province at which the government agent also officiated as coroner. In fact, Mr. Watt had been told by his predecessor that he was entitled to these moneys. Consequently he took them as a matter of course. Indeed, Mr. Watt, after having been dismissed, told his successor that he, too, would be entitled to these fees, according to a well-recognized custom.

Dr. Tolmie's refusal to proceed with this inquiry requires a much more convincing explanation than he has given. Patently the case has nothing to do with federal politics. Mr. Shelly, of course, new to public life, will be excused for suggesting that Mr. Pattullo's insistence that the order of the Legislature ought to be obeyed was "despicable tactics." But Dr. Tolmie, with wide political experience, and for some years organizer for the Conservative party of Canada, obviously recognizes the possible effect upon the electorate of this province the result of the inquiry into the Watt case would have. He knows that Mr. Shelly, his Minister of Finance, first of all said that he dismissed Mr. Watt for "playing politics," and then amended his explanation in the Legislature by saying that Mr. Watt had been relieved of his duties because he had taken money which really should have been turned into the treasury.

Under these circumstances, therefore, the Premier unquestionably realizes that the inquiry which the Legislature ordered is very much more an inquiry into the conduct of Mr. Shelly than it is an inquiry into any deficiencies of which the government may consider Mr. Watt was guilty.

Three months have slipped by since this inquiry was ordered. Dr. Tolmie and his government have ignored the wishes of the people of this province, as expressed by their elected representatives—and the Premier now seeks to justify further delay on the ground that matters of national importance are being discussed on the hustings, and that he has no intention of allowing the two to be mixed.

Dr. Tolmie's case is a weak one. He is being neither fair with a former civil servant, nor fair with the people who elected him to conduct their business.

RUSSIA AWAKENING?

QUITE OFTEN THE MOST INTERESTing news of the day is that which evades the front page. It fails to get prominence—and there is a journalistic warranty for "burying" it—because it lacks general appeal. But it is worth while harking back to it. We refer to a dispatch saying that a writer in a recent issue of The Golden Book Magazine disclosed that more than a million copies of Henry Ford's autobiography already have been sold in Russia. Then we read this:

"There were many instances where whole villages met to hear chapters of the book read aloud."

All will admit there is a striking implication in that simple sentence. Does it not suggest that some day in the not distant future the state of mind in present-day disordered Russia will gradually sort itself out and recognize international conditions as they are—not as the Utopian state which the country's visionaries think it possible to create overnight?

Everybody knows that the Russian village is as unlike the Canadian or British village as anything that can be imagined. A Russian moving picture director, for instance, coming to Hollywood to try his hand at the movies in the New World style, recently revealed that his movie company, going on location in a Russian village not long ago, nearly caused a wholesale panic simply because all the cameramen wore gloves. The superstitious villagers, he said, thought the cameramen were demons from the underworld, and wore gloves to conceal the fact that they had hooks where their hands ought to be!

In that anecdote, incidentally, we have an insight into the outlook of the Russian village. Remembering that, is it not interesting to picture these same Russian villagers so ready to believe in hook-handed demons from the kingdom of darkness, sitting in circles to hear the local wise men read chapters of the life story of Henry Ford? Could the old and the new come into more amazing contrast?

It is no accident that the Russians have set up Ford as a major prophet. The whole nation is striving, with incredible pains and turmoil, to get into step with the modern era; why should not its ignorant villagers select as their idol the man whose career and achievements typify the modern era so perfectly?

These Russians have hit on a truth that we usually overlook. In the modern use of machinery—the kind of use exemplified by the automobile magnate and his many contemporaries — there lies potentialities of striking significance. No matter how imperfectly these potentialities have been realized so far, it is nevertheless true that they have given humanity an incomparable weapon for its age-long fight against misery and want. For the first time in history it is possible for people to produce more than they need of everything.

A CITY OF GARDENERS

A RECENT VISITOR TO THE CITY was recorded in this newspaper as declaring that Victoria's gardens made it the jumping-off place to Paradise. These pleasant bits of hyperbole, particularly when they have a poetic touch, are not disagreeable to the Victorian ear, but they do not surprise us. We have become accustomed to accepting them as a matter of course and do not often pause to consider what an important part gardening plays in the life of our community.

Every writer who ever visited Victoria has called it a city of gardens, until the expression has become somewhat hackneyed. But if you will imagine for a moment Victoria without its gardens, you will see just what they mean to us. We are a city of gardens and a city of garden lovers—by environment and by instinct. Plant almost anything in Victoria and it grows; and we have become so used to the idea of planting things and letting them grow that it is second nature with us. The average Victorian no sooner builds a house than he builds a garden, too, and few homes anywhere in the city are without their dash of color and plot of lawn at this season.

Other cities do this, also, but in few places does Nature help the gardener as generously as she does here. She provides not only the climate needed to bring the shy white blossoms of the snowdrop out in January, and make the tall chrysanthemum linger until Christmas, but she has provided a setting here for gardens which we may say among ourselves is almost unequalled. Our native trees, our lavish fields of wild flowers, our mossy rocks and our background of sea and mountain, make a setting for the humblest garden, the like of which can be found in few places.

We take to gardening here because under these conditions it is the natural thing to do. Great numbers of our people are devoted to golf and other sports, but more still are devoted to the peaceful and blessed hobby of growing things. Since our first ancestors sowed wild grain and reaped their first crops beside the Nile and Euphrates, growing things has been an instinctive impulse with man; and since the days when the Roman emperors used to retire from the strife of politics to grow cabbages around their country villas, busy men have found that their gardens provide a sure retreat from the clamor and fret of the world. In these days of ever-increasing speed and nerve strain, such a retreat is more necessary and more satisfying than ever. Victoria's gardens thus mean more than the civic beauty which attracts visitors; they must have a real and enduring effect on the character of our people, on the manner of our life. Even our way of looking at things, which also intrigues the stranger, is different because we are a city not only of gardens but of gardeners.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

HAMILTON LIBERALS ACTIVE

The Hamilton Herald

Hamilton citizens will be pleased with the announcement that Mr. Freeman F. Treleaven has been chosen by the Liberal party to contest the East riding. Mr. Treleaven is known as one of the very best mayors in the history of the city. It would be difficult for most citizens to name one regarded as better. His various achievements are present in the minds of all, and his willingness to place his services at the disposal of the city in the federal field should awaken hearty satisfaction in all who have felt for many years the disability under which Hamilton labors in having no one to speak for her at Ottawa.

Mr. Treleaven is such a one as will command attention and respect wherever he speaks, and apart from political considerations altogether, he is one who knows the city and what Hamilton needs, and no one has done more to procure such necessities for her welfare.

BRITAIN AND INDIA

The New York Times

If India is determined to be free, one cannot go on indefinitely pleading the benefits of British rule. Neither can one use in the old form the argument that India is not yet ready for independence. In the old style "not yet" meant practically never, and there would apply the famous remark of Lord Macaulay, a great benefactor of India, about not conceding liberty to men until they are ready for it. It is like letting no one go in the water, he said, until he has learned how to swim. But it cannot seriously be denied that Britain, ever since the war, has been engaged in helping the people of India to learn how to swim. Among the certainties of the near future is Dominion status for India. That is the factor against which the rejection of economic considerations, of material benefits of expediency, must be evaluated. Were it a choice for India between perpetual subjection and independence with chaos, there might be only one answer. But the real choice seems to be between the dread uncertainties of immediate independence by violence on the one hand, and factual self-rule with peace on the other.

A THOUGHT

Loose Ends

Mr. Young preaches a false, but popular doctrine — England has trouble with its guns—which we don't experience here—and history teaches a quaint lesson.

By H. B. W.

OWEN D. YOUNG, internationally-known United States business man and author of the Young Plan covering German reparations, has lately given the world such a masterly dissertation on facts that a new American university has engraved these words in stone upon its walls. "Facts," says Mr. Young, "can be applied in any field. Our curse is ignorance. Facts are our scarcest raw material. This is shown by the economy with which we use them. One has to dig deep for them because they are as difficult to get as they are precious to have. I shall be happy if we can substitute the calm findings of the investigator for the blatant explosions of the politicians." This sounds fine, and has been widely quoted in the United States as an inspiring piece of advice to young men. But it is so unnecessary. The young men of this age have learned that lesson long ago. They are all after facts, they are devoted to facts, they feed on facts and are poisoned by them. What we need is not Mr. Young to praise facts, but someone of greater knowledge and finer courage to denounce them.

* * *

THIS CENTURY has all the facts it needs and probably knows less about the things worth knowing than most other centuries. Facts don't tell you anything about such things. The highest wisdom cannot even be expressed in facts but must be spoken in parables, poetry or drama. In our time we have ascertained innumerable facts about the human body and the human mind, but they have told us nothing about human life. The ancient philosophers, who had no facts of this sort at all, knew more about the essential thing than we do. Aristotle, who was the first great fact-finder, got together a great deal of interesting information and most of it has been upset by modern science. But the ideas of the other school, headed by Socrates and Plato, are just as sound now as they were then, and we haven't advanced on them by a hair's breadth. They will still be sound after all the facts which we are so busy compiling, under Mr. Young's kind of civilization, have been proved by subsequent generations to be utterly worthless. I hate facts. Besides, I can never remember them anyway.

* * *

ONE OF the acute post-war problems in England, according to English newspapers, is the disposal of cannons, machine guns, tanks and other relics of the war which a generous government conferred on almost every town and village in the Kingdom to be used as memorials to the war. Many places object to these grisly reminders of the great ordeal and see in them nothing sufficiently beautiful to entitle them to a prominent public position. Some bolder municipalities have even removed these memorials, but most of them have confined themselves to wishing that someone else would do something about them, we are told. One sagacious commentator suggested in a recent article that these troubles were over. Mr. Mussolini, he pointed out, had just declared in one of his rarer moments that such lethal weapons were the most beautiful things in the world. The sorely-tried municipal authorities, it is suggested, should take their tanks, machine guns and cannons, affix a neat label with the words, "Il Duce, Rome," and ship them to Italy, charges collect. This would relieve the green and pleasant land of England from disfigurement and make Mr. Mussolini very happy.

* * *

ON THIS side of the water the objection to memorial armaments will sound rather strange. Here there is little protest against these guns, which are mounted on our own Causeway and in front of the Parliament Buildings. Indeed, they are the constant admiration of tourists, thousands of whom have had their pictures taken with them, and of small boys, who clamber over them in swarms during the summer holidays. To older people undoubtedly they bring back painful if proud memories, but they will not long remain as reminders of the Great War. At the present rate of progress in scientific armament, these guns will be so hopelessly out of date shortly that they will appear to a new generation only as quaint relics of a dull age long past. That generation will think of them as we think of those ancient smooth-bore cannons, on their battered oak carriages, which stand in front of the old Drill Hall. Our deadliest weapons will be only amusing then and it hardly seems worth while, in the meantime to remove them and rob our grand children of their little laugh at our expense.

* * *

THE VANCOUVER City Council, which is reported to be alarmed at the price of bread and moving to secure a reduction, will be interested in research into this same matter by the Consumers' Council in England. This organization has found that during the Middle Ages municipal authorities used to have a good old-fashioned way of making the punishment fit the crime. Thus, we learn, Jacques de Tourzel, a mayor of Paris in the fifteenth century, ordered that every seller of watered milk should have a funnel placed in his mouth and be forcibly fed with his own product until a doctor should declare that the culprit could not swallow any more without danger of death; and the doctors, if they happened to be customers of the erring dairyman, doubtless sometimes overestimated his capacity. Those who sold short-weight butter, it is further related, were locked in the pillory and their entire stock of butter was placed upon their heads and allowed to stay there until the sun had melted it. In 1557, when the Chester bakers refused to sell bread at a price which the corporation considered was "lawfull, necessary and suffycyent for the baker to lyve upon," they were deemed unworthy to enjoy the rights of citizenship and disenfranchised. On other occasions bakers were drawn through the streets upon hurdles, their loaves hanging from their necks. When the Mayor of Coventry refused to make the bakers reduce the price of bread, "the commons rose and threw loaves at the Mayor's head in St. Mary's Hall." Those were the days.

A FAMILY AFFAIR

To the Editor:—Daddy is out of work and mother has a family to care for. Mother says the doctor has told her to give her children plenty of butter if she wants them strong and healthy. Some few distant cousins of hers, who live, some in Victoria, some in Vancouver and some up island, are dairymen, and who make just about enough butter to spread about a dozen pieces of bread for every one on the island each year. Her closest blood relations live in New Zealand; they also are dairymen and make a splendid brand of butter, and having a suitable climate can make it in great quantities.

These blood relations also want large shipments of our beautiful lumber to build themselves barns and houses, and they feel very wroth to think after buying so much lumber, and cars also, that their brothers and sisters here don't want to buy their butter. In fact, they are so put out that they intend seeing if their Uncle Sam will trade with them. Butter for lumber. Uncle Sam is such a nice obliging fellow and is dearly loved by everyone, so much so that he even sends to all his relations large quantities of oranges and lemons and sometimes vegetables, even when we can grow them ourselves to perfection, yet we don't grumble at that.

Our old mother in England also would like to send us out some things, but it is so far to send and the cost so much and also a heavy duty to pay that she feels disappointed, especially as we always go to her when we are in trouble, and the way she soothes us and tries to fight our battles and protect her children is very pathetic, to say the least.

I suppose some day there will be a great family reunion and a flag that we can all carry without these disturbances and a Christmas card sent all round to every one with the Golden Rule printed on it. Let's hope so, anyway.

WALTER J. DANDRIDGE.

BERRY GROWERS NEED SUNSHINE

Strawberry Crop Being Held Back By Dull Days

The strawberry fields of Saanich need sunshine. No damage has yet been caused by the dull weather, and the rains have aided in developing the fruit. Bright, warm days are necessary, however, if Saanich growers are to share in the excellent prices now being offered by prairie markets.

"The damage caused by the early May frosts was more serious than believed at the time. As the berries mature many growers are finding the injury suffered borders upon disaster. Evidence of this seen in the great number of crates which have been turned back," said an officer of the Saanich Fruitgrowers this morning. "It is doubtful if the recent rains have offset the larger frost damage," he considered.

Rain commenced again this afternoon and terminated picking operations, and it is doubtful if the three co-operatives will be able to dispatch additional cars to-morrow. Plans had been made for two cars to leave, supplementing the two which were sent east this morning.

One of the cars was loaded jointly by the Gordon Head and Saanich Fruitgrowers' Associations, the other shipment being from the Keating Co-operative Fruit Exchange, which this year has greatly increased its membership and acreage.

Sales reports on the first car sent to the prairies indicate a highly satisfactory return to the growers. The car left here on Monday and arrived in Edmonton and Saskatoon in excellent condition, being disposed of a prices averaging $4.75 per crate.

Train Men Will Meet in Portland

Portland, Ore., June 12.—Three hundred delegates representing twenty lodges in Oregon, Washington, Idaho, British Columbia and Northern California are expected to attend the northwest union meeting of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen here Saturday.

A business meeting will be held Saturday morning. A joint banquet will be held Saturday evening by the men and women.

D. E. Robertson, Cleveland, Ohio, grand lodge president; A. H. Hawley, Cleveland, Grand lodge secretary and treasurer, and Mrs. Agnes Strong, Boone, Iowa, grand lodge president of the women's society, will be the principal speakers.

Quick Pile Relief

No Salves or Cutting

Pile sufferers can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad blood circulation in the lower bowel. Cutting and salves can't do this—an internal remedy must be used HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, succeeds, because it removes this blood congestion and strengthens the affected parts.

HEM-ROID tablets as sold by druggists everywhere, have such a wonderful record for quick and lasting relief, that MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores always sell them with guarantee of money back if they do not end all Pile suffering. (Advt.)

Yesterday, with the object of establishing definitely just what the magnificent flagship of the C.P.R. coast fleet could do, the steamer Princess Victoria was made ready for a record-breaking run to Seattle. At Brotchie Ledge the signal was given and the Princess Victoria's engines began to revolve full speed ahead. The weather conditions were not what the exacting would call ideal, as there was a good breeze blowing, and a light sea running. The "slow-down" bell rang off Seattle exactly three hours and seventeen minutes from the full speed bell at Brotchie Ledge, giving an average speed all the way of exactly twenty-one knots.

ODD FELLOWS PAY TRIBUTE

Wreath Placed on Cenotaph in Presence of Thousand Convention Delegates

Solemn tribute to the memory of Odd Fellows who fell in the Great War was paid yesterday evening by the Odd Fellows Grand Lodge, a memorial wreath being placed on the Cenotaph by Grand Master E. G. Cavalsky, assisted by a representative of the Rebekah Assembly, in the presence of over 1,000 members of the order and a large gathering of interested spectators.

The Odd Fellows marched in procession from the Odd Fellows' Hall, the parade being headed by the Victoria Girls' Band in white and red uniforms. Patriarchs Militant, delegates to Grand Lodge and to the Rebekah Assembly followed in order, with a great attendance of members.

A brief service was conducted by Rev. W. T. Bunt of Mission City, grand chaplain, the Last Post was sounded, and the band played "Nearer My God, to Thee." The Odd Fellows returned to the Odd Fellows' Hall before disbanding.

VOTERS STILL BEING LISTED

Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt Residents Are Being Enrolled

Arising out of the fact that compilation of the voters' list is conducted in differing ways in city and rural ridings, enrolment of Nanaimo riding voters resident in Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt is still proceeding, and will continue until June 17. The city list closed some days ago. The qualification for the franchise is the same in both city and rural areas.

Revision of the lists by the registrars will take place on June 30, July 2 and July 3, when the registrar for each of the numerous districts into which the riding is divided will hear applications from 2 to 6 o'clock each afternoon for the placing of names then on the lists, for the striking off of names that are improperly on, and for the making of any necessary corrections which may be required.

Before that time comes the returning officer, Francis Simpson, telephone 7615L2, will post notices, after the style of those used in the city, setting out where the registrars will sit on the days mentioned. In each case the registrar of voters sits as revising officer.

In the preparation of the original list the registrars in rural ridings have until June 17 to complete their lists ready for revision. In many instances the work is nearly completed.

Until June 17 the registrar may place on the lists names of electors which he may obtain from any reputable source, and which he believes are qualified to vote. When the revision takes place on June 30 and July 2 and 3 any names improperly admitted to the lists may be struck off.

In the rural ridings there is not the dual enumeration system allowed as in the city ridings. The registrars in the rural districts are named by the returning officer, and one person does the whole of the work of collecting the names and revising the lists.

PLAN EXPEDITION TO FORBIDDEN PLATEAU SOON

Comox-Courtenay Board of Trade Making Arrangements For Scenic Trip

Courtenay, June 12.—An expedition into the Forbidden Plateau in August is being organized by the Comox-Courtenay Board of Trade. It is expected that the Lieutenant-Governor, Premier Tolmie, Hon. N. S. Lougheed, Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Hon. S. L. Howe and others will accept the invitation of the board to join the expedition into the wonderful scenic territory.

At the last meeting of the board a committee to arrange the expedition was appointed as follows: Ben Hughes, William Hughes and C. S. Wood.

E. P. Thomas suggested that the board's collection of oil paintings of scenes in the Forbidden Plateau be sent to the Vancouver 1930 exhibition. In talking with William Dalton, director of arts of the Vancouver Exposition Board, Mr. Thomas had learned that Vancouver would be very glad to have the loan of these paintings. The secretary will get in touch with Mr. Dalton and make the necessary arrangements.

SUPPORT AIR LINE

Endorsation was given by the board to the newly-formed Courtenay Aerial Transportation Company Limited, in its undertaking and went on record as promising all the support possible to this enterprise. Mr. Kirby of the Aerial Transport Company was present, and outlined the progress of the company to date.

Reporting for the agricultural committee, Mr. Thomas gave particulars of the result of a meeting recently held to stimulate interest in the World's Grain Fair to be held at Regina in 1932. The provisional committee will call a public meeting to further this purpose.

RANGE LIGHTS

The transportation committee turned in a report through Mr. Hughes, covering the proposed range lights at the entrance to the Courtenay River. The larger boats, it was found, were in favor of these lights being placed in line with the buoys outside the river's mouth, while the smaller craft would have the lights placed at the Red Blinker sand bar at the mouth.

Regarding the proposed float for the Courtenay River slough, the committee was of the same opinion as the city council that no float could be profitably put in in the present condition of the slough. Cribbing and further dredging was the unanimous advice of both bodies, before the construction of a float.

INSTRUCTIONS EXECUTORS ARE SUGGESTED

Montreal, June 12.—Argument in the Davis-Shaughnessy action was continued on behalf of the defendants yesterday with George A. Campbell, K.C., contending that even if it were shown—which he did not admit—that Lord Shaughnessy had committed errors of judgment, that fact alone would not be sufficient grounds to warrant his removal by the court as an executor under the will of the late Sir Mortimer Davis. Mr. Campbell did suggest, however, that it might warrant the judge giving the executors some instructions as to their future conduct, with respect to the incorporated company and the estate.

The general charges of incapacity and negligence, Mr. Campbell argued, were completely negatived by the record.

Mr. Campbell had not completed his argument when the court rose for the day.

WORLD NITROGEN BATTLE LOOMS; ALLIED CHEMICAL PLAYS FOR LEAD

Dominance of the important field of nitrogen production by the Allied Chemical and Dye Corporation within the next few years is envisaged in an article in the June issue of the business monthly, Fortune, which terms the company "this mysterious, almost unknown giant corporation."

Fortune reveals that when the closely-guarded nitrogen fixation plant at Hopewell, Va., of the Atmospheric Nitrogen Company, an Allied division, completes construction of its 1930 units annual production by its secret formula will be 350,000 to 400,000 tons. In 1928 Germany produced 740,000 tons of fixed nitrogen, America 184,800 tons and Chile 429,800 tons.

Chile, according to the business monthly, may make a desperate effort to regain its supremacy by cutting the export tax on nitrogen $12.50 a ton, but, says Fortune, the danger of this threat is mitigated by the fact that it is also a threat to Chile's budget.

The greatest secrecy has been observed in regard to the new Hopewell plant, Fortune continues. No one outside the company, and very few inside it, know the current production or what variation of the Haber-Bosch process is used there, or how much man power it requires. President Orlando F. Weber has never been at Hopewell, nor has any director of the company; and it is said that only five men at the central office can fully interpret the reports which come each month from Hopewell, according to the publication, which adds:

"President Weber himself is a mystical figure in American big business, despite his remarkable organization ability, which has brought the company to the top of its heap in ten years. He has never given an interview nor made a speech, and under only one document—the 1929 annual report—has he signed his name. From other companies come reams of statements, but from Allied comes only an annual statement, and that of so fragmentary a nature as to leave the condition of the company (aside from its evident prosperity) considerably in question.

"Allied's extremely liquid assets include some $92,000,000 in United States Government bonds and other investments, but in which industries Allied has chosen to take a position and what has been the result of these investments, neither the stockholders nor the Stock Exchange itself can discover. It has no funded debt, a depreciation fund of $110,000,000, current assets of $157,000,000 and 1927 earnings of $30,198,523.

"Allied Chemical came into being in 1920, the result of the merging of General Chemical, National Aniline and Chemical, Barrett, Solvay Process and Semet-Solvay Companies. The late Dr. William H. Nichols became chairman of the board. Among others on the board of directors are members of the famous Belgian chemical family of Solvay and the Hazzards, who had been earlier associated with the Solvays. Mr. Weber himself exchanged his presidency of National Aniline and Chemical Company for that of Allied."

According to Fortune, Eugene Meyer, close friend of Mr. Weber and associated with him in the defunct Maxwell Motors and later in National Aniline, is a large stockholder in Allied, but is not the potent force in Allied councils he is popularly supposed to be.

SARGON COMES TO CANADA

Investigators at Work in Every Field of Science

We Are Living In an Age of Swift and Steady Improvement—In Every Field of Science Investigators Are at Work Learning New Things Which Increase the Comfort, Health and Efficiency of Mankind.

A HUNDRED years ago man traveled by stage coach. To-day, we have the airplane. This is in the field of mechanics. It has only to do with machines. But, in a sense, biology, chemistry, physics—all branches of science—have to do with parts of a machine.

Even the study of medicine deals with a machine. It is concerned with the human body, a divine machine, the most intricate and wonderful machine in the world. How to keep it running smoothly year after year is the problem of Medical Science.

This great problem requires knowledge of every part of the human body and how each part must function to mainfain good health throughout the entire human system.

Medical Science, like all the rest, has not been idle. It has been attacking its problem, day and night, in every corner of the globe.

Important Discoveries Have Been Made

As a result of this modern research Medical Science has made some important discoveries which have completely overturned some of the practices and theories which we have known for a life time.

As an illustration, Medical Science has learned, first, that constipation, indigestion and other gastro-intestinal disorders are in thousands upon thousands of cases due to an insufficient flow of bile caused by a sluggish liver.

Second that biliousness is not due to too much bile, but to a lack of it. Third, that bile, prepared by the liver, is a marvelous laxative and is nature's greatest weapon against constipation. When the flow of bile is not sufficient, constipation inevitably follows and when a proper flow of bile takes place in the normal individual, constipation rarely exists.

Bile Is Important to Digestion

It has also been found that bile plays an important part in the digestive processes and without a proper flow of bile sound digestion and good health are impossible in the otherwise normal individual.

Due to modern methods of living, sedentary habits, lack of exercise and improper eating many individuals suffer from an insufficient flow of bile. When the liver fails to deliver a normal amount of bile into the digestive tract, many unfavorable symptoms, such as headaches, constipation, biliousness, indigestion, lack of energy, dizzy spells and many other distressing symptoms are usually noted.

One of the first essentials to good health, therefore, is to keep the liver toned up and invigorated so that it will produce a normal flow of bile.

The earth may be compared to a great chemical laboratory. The human body is also a veritable walking laboratory in which, like the earth, there are continuous chemical changes taking place producing the elements necessary to maintain health and strength.

Certain Elements Are Essential as Food

In order to keep this laboratory working, it must receive its regular supply of such materials as food, liquids and air.

Modern man represents the highest type of civilization the world has ever known; he is likewise farthest removed from natural methods of living. He eats improper foods and too much of one kind and not enough of another.

Certain chemical elements are as essential as food. Normally man obtains these elements from his food. However, many foods are deficient in their supply of these important elements. Furthermore, impaired digestion and assimilation often prevent the delivery of these all-important elements to the blood stream for distribution throughout the body. Nutrition, health and happiness often hang in the balance for want of these essential substances. When they are lacking the whole system goes wrong. Without them, it is impossible to enjoy a sense of well-being and comfort with the accompanying temperament and outlook on life.

LOCAL DRUG FIRM OBTAINS AGENCY

Owl Drug Stores Are Awarded Exclusive Five-year Franchise for Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills—Now on Sale Here.

Local citizens who have heard of the results which have been accomplished by Sargon will be interested in the announcement that the exclusive agency for this well known medicine has been awarded to the Owl Drug Stores for Victoria and Vancouver.

Manufacturers of Sargon have followed out the policy of selecting outstanding firms as exclusive agents in every city where the new medicine has been introduced.

The National Drug and Chemical Company of Montreal, with branches located in fifteen other leading cities of the Dominion all the way from Halifax, Nova Scotia, to Vancouver, B.C., has been appointed wholesale distributors for this medicine throughout Canada.

G. Tamblyn Ltd., leading chain store firm, with headquarters in Toronto, and stores in many other Canadian cities is among the many well-known retail concerns of Canada who have been appointed agents for Sargon.

Sargon Rapidly Becoming Known Over Continent

When Suffering Men and Women Find a Medicine That Helps Them They Naturally Tell Their Friends About It and the Rapidly Growing Demand for Sargon Is Largely Due to Grateful Endorsements From All Over America.

IF YOU found a medicine that was of such great benefit to you that you would go to the trouble of sending it to relatives and friends in distant countries, you would have to be convinced in your own mind that it possessed real merit, wouldnt you?

That's just what hundreds of people throughout the United States have been doing with Sargon, the new formula recently introduced in Canada.

From all over America and wherever Sargon has been introduced, thousands of letters have been received from grateful users telling of the gratifying results that have been accomplished by this medicine.

Thousands of Letters Received

On November 27, 1929, a letter dated November 23, was received at the Sargon offices advising that in one week one drug firm alone had shipped Sargon to Cavite, Philippine Islands; Coca-Solo, Canal Zone; Belebrook, Ireland, and Paris, France.

Only recently a well-known resident of Denver, Colorado, who had been restored to health by Sargon, sent a full treatment to London, England, to his sister, who is the wife of an executive of one of the greatest retail drug firms in the British Empire.

During the past month there appeared in the Toronto papers the statement of a well-known World War veteran whose health had been greatly impaired while in the service, who stated among other things, that he owed his restoration to health to two bottles of Sargon sent him by a friend in Minneapolis.

Sargon's Reputation Is Rapidly Spreading

From the Northwest, many letters of this kind have been received, advising that users of Sargon are sending it to relatives back in the old countries of Sweden and Norway.

These are only a few of hundreds of such cases which have arisen during the few months Sargon has been on the market.

Human nature is the same the world over. When suffering men and women find a medicine that helps them, they naturally want to tell their friends about it and in this way the reputation of Sargon is rapidly spreading throughout the length and breadth of the entire American continent.

Sargon's reputation is based on actual results, not empty promises, the facts are known and verified.

FACTS ABOUT SARGON

Introduced in the United States in April, 1928, Sargon has become an internationally-known product. Sargon owes its success to the fact that it is a modern medicine, representing some of the comparatively recent finding of recognized authorities.

As a result of exhaustive research, medical science has learned and proven conclusively that constipation, indigestion and other gastro-intestinal disorders are due, in the great majority of cases, to an insufficient flow of bile, caused by a sluggish liver.

Sargon also contains other ingredients of recognized therapeutic value which are designed to impart tone and strength to the entire system and are highly valuable for their influence upon the appetite, digestion and elimination.

While Sargon is manufactured in Fort Erie, Ont., and Dayton, O., its distribution is controlled exclusively by G. F. Willis, Inc., with home offices at Avondale Estates, a magnificent residential suburb near Atlanta, Ga., created and built by G. F. Willis, president of the company which bears his name. Mr. Willis was formerly president of International Proprietaries Inc., and was for years one of the largest individual advertisers in the world. He was also founder and president of the Zonite Products Co. Having disposed of these interests he is now devoting his entire time to the distribution of Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills, which seem destined to eclipse any of his former successes.

TIRED MOTHERS OFF TO CAMP AT SOOKE TO-DAY

Social Service League Takes Out Its First Party For Two Weeks

Lieut.-Governor to Perform Formal Opening Ceremony Next Week

The first contingent of tired mothers and their children to receive a holiday at the Sunshine Camp at Sooke were conveyed to their destination to-day, eleven mothers and twenty children making up the party. For the next two weeks these women and kiddies will enjoy a much-needed holiday as the guests of the Social Service League at the beautifully-situated camp at Saseenos, and on their return they will be succeeded by another contingent.

The women and their babies were conveyed to the camp by car, and the league would be very grateful if any car-owner willing to assist in taking out and bringing back the parties from time to time during the season, would leave his or her name at the league headquarters in the Arcade Building.

FORMAL OPENING

The formal opening of the camp will be held on Wednesday next, June 18, from 3 till 6 o'clock, when His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Miss Mackenzie, Premier and Mrs. S. F. Tolmie and Mayor and Mrs. Herbert Anscomb will be among the guests at the affair.

The camp has been made possible through generous donations from Victoria citizens and, thanks to the efforts of Fred Landsberg, an additional lot has been secured adjoining the present site. The camp consists of a spacious, airy, well-lighted main building, which is used as a dining and sitting-room, with kitchen attached, and at right angles, running down towards the beach, are the airy cottages with their comfortable beds and furnishings. Facilities are provided for the washing of garments.

The beauty of the situation, with its grassy slopes and fine beach overlooking the waters of the Straits of Juan de Fuca, with the snow-clad Olympics in the background, is conducive to rest and healing, and many a sick and weary mother has been able to forget her cares and come back to town immeasurably improved in health after a sojourn at this restful camp.

Gonzales Chapter Closes Meetings Till September

The June meeting of Gonzales Chapter I.O.D.E., was held at headquarters on Tuesday, this being the last meeting of the season. The Regent, Mrs. B. T. Drake, presided. A standing vote of sympathy was extended to the members of the family of the late Mrs. Charles Todd, who was for so long a most valued member of the chapter.

The members were pleased to welcome back Miss C. I. Alexander who during the past year has been travelling in Europe. One new member, Mrs. J. Norman Forde was received. Mrs. Saxton-White kindly volunteered to act as convener of the workers for Alexander Rose Day. Mrs. P. F. Curtis, educational secretary, brought to the attention of the chapter an application from a worthy candidate for assistance in secondary education and a grant of $10 was voted. Notice was given of the annual gathering of Girl Guides at Government House on June 14.

Jubilee Auxiliary Opens Campaign

The Jubilee Hospital W.A. opened its annual campaign for membership quest at Spencer's yesterday, when the following subscribers were listed: Mrs. Fleet Robertson (two years), Mrs. C. W. Rhodes, Lady Bernard, Mrs. Hermann Robertson, Mrs. Ignerty, Mrs. David Spencer (two years), Mrs. W. P. Walker, Mrs. Harry Ross, Mrs. R. W. Gibson, Mrs. W. Davidson, Mrs. H. E. Beasley, Mrs. C. E. Watkins, Mrs. A. R. Wolfenden, Mrs. William Bell, Mrs. Harry Helsterman, Mrs. Phil Taylor, Mrs. C. J. Prior, Mrs. T. H. Leeming, Mrs. J. N. Taylor, Mrs. G. Michaelis, Mrs. J. W. Hill, Mrs. Alexis Martin, Mrs. Charles E. Wilson, Mrs. E. S. G. Dottridge.

Wilkinson Road W.M.S.—The regular monthly meeting of the Wilkinson Road W.M.S. was held on Tuesday, June 1, at the home of Mrs Jewell, old West Road, with the president in the chair. The meeting opened by singing "Breathe on Me, Breath of God," followed by the repetition of the watch word. Rev. H. A. Ireland gave the Scripture lesson, mentioning both Pentecost and the fifth anniversary of union. The financial report for the first six months was given by the treasurer, Mrs. Pringle, and Mrs. S. Jones reported on the strangers' work. Mrs. U. E. Sonley of Victoria gave a most interesting report of the Presbyterial which was recently held in Vancouver. The watch tower was reported on as follows: Canada, Mrs. McHaffee; Africa, Mrs. Ireland; Trinidad, Mrs. Allison; India, Mrs. G. Jones; Korea, Mrs Van Decar. An instructive synopsis of the third chapter of "From Jerusalem to Jerusalem" was given by Mrs. Ireland, after Mrs. G. Jones sang "Softly and Tenderly." The meeting closed with the hymn, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," after which dainty refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Jewell, and a social half hour was enjoyed.

Dr. O. M. Jones Chapter Met—The regular monthly meeting of the Dr. O. M. Jones Chapter, I.O.D.E., was held at the home of Mrs. W. Ellis, Beach Drive, fourteen members being present. Mrs. J. B. Johnson was made a member of the order. The committee reported the sum of $39.75 was realized from the rummage sale held recently, and plans were made for assistance on Alexandra Rose Day. There will be no further meetings of the chapter until September.

HOME WEDDING UNITES COUPLE

Miss Harriet B. Burridge Married To-day to Mr. Ronald Burley

The marriage of Harriet Burgess fourth daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Burridge, 424 Gorge Road, and Mr Ronald Burley, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Burley, of 2515 Government Street, took place quietly this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of the bride, Rev. G. C. F. Pringle, performing the ceremony.

A color scheme of mauve and yellow flowers interspersed with maidenhair fern formed a background for the wedding ceremony, which took place in the drawing-room. Miss Winnifred McDonald played Mendelssohn's Wedding March as the bride entered the drawing-room on the arm of her father, by whom she was given in marriage. Her wedding dress was of cream silk lace over ivory satin, and was fashioned with semi-tight-fitting bodice, with long sleeves and full skirt touching the floor. With this she wore a lace hat to mach her dress, trimmed with French rosebuds and carried a shower of Ophelia roses and mauve sweet peas.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Audin Burridge, who wore a frock of peach-colored organdie trimmed with small French handmade flowers and a wreath of the same flowers on her head. She carried a Colonial bouquet. The groom was supported by Mr. James Burridge of Vancouver, brother of the bride.

Following the marriage service, an informal reception was held, at which the bride and groom were assisted in receiving their guests by Mrs. Burridge and Mrs. Burley.

Mr and Mrs. Burley left later for Seattle, where they will make their home. Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were: Mr. James Burridge of Vancouver, Mrs. Hardie Sr. of Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Hardie and the Misses Jean and Nema Hardie of Vancouver.

Light and Eyestrain

Undoubtedly there is more eyestrain caused by glare than is generally supposed. Glare causes an involuntary strain on the delicate nerves of the eye which also extends to the muscles of the face. The feeling is that of a set constant resistance which gives all the usual symptoms of eyestrain—headache, discomfort, cramp, and those effects arise from nerve depletion.

We can tell definitely if glare is the cause of your eyestrain, and can relieve it by suitable glare-free glasses.

RECITAL NETTED $309 FOR V.O.N.

Handsome Donation Results From Programme By Mme. Eva Baird's Pupils

Grateful acknowledgement of a very handsome donation of $309.25 from Mme. Eva Baird, representing the receipts from the recent operatic recital given by her pupils at the Shrine Auditorium, was made at the monthly meeting of the board of the Victorian Order of Nurses on Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. H. G. Lawson, the president, in the chair.

Miss Thornley's report showed a total of 982 visits paid, of these 198 were on behalf of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, 545 were nursing bedside visits, 29 pre-natal, 188 child welfare; the rest were child welfare instructive and T.B. visits; 4 well baby clinics attended and 2 classes held.

Thanks are given for donations of baby clothes and baby carriages, to Miss Duke, Comtesse de Suzannet, Miss M. Galt, Ready-to-Help Circle of King's Daughter, Mrs. C. Hartley, Mrs. Cleater and Mrs. Mellon.

Missionaries at St. Mary's—The addresses given by the missionaries from Ceylon, Mrs Paynter and Miss Jayawardene, on Tuesday evening in St. Mary's Hall were an excellent preparation for the missionary bazaar which is being arranged to be held next week by the girls of Columbia W.A., a large number of whom were present. Rev. C. H. E. Cropper was in the chair and introduced the ladies, who were in native dress. Mrs. Paynter described the interesting pictures which were shown, illustrating the scenery and industries, which included some magnificent carpets, worked by the young children, who have been rescued and placed in an industrial home, where they are cared for and instructed by these and other faithful native Christians. Mr. Dickson, diocesan president of Columbia W.A., expressed the sincere thanks of the meeting to the speakers for their deeply impressive addresses and helpful information regarding their work.

AMY GOT HER NEW DRESSES!

"I must get around Jack to buy me those two lovely dresses I saw today," thought Amy, "and I know the way to get them." Let's see what she did.

That evening she put some bacon on to fry. Then she put some Clark's Pork and Beans into a dish and, after pouring some bacon fat over them, popped the dish into the oven.

In about ten minutes she took out the dish of beans which by now were a tempting, rich, nut-brown color . . . then she spread the bacon in fancy array over the beans.

"Mmmm!" chuckled Amy, as she looked at the appetizing dish of beans, "When Jack sees this for supper . . . well, he never could resist Clark's Pork and Beans." (P.S.—She got the dresses.)

We are so confident that you will find Clark's Pork and Beans really delicious that you may buy them with the guarantee that if you are not fully satisfied with them, your grocer will refund you your money without question.
. . . they MUST be good!

Lady Barnard To Open Fete of Esquimalt W.I.

At the monthly meeting of the Esquimalt Women's Institute, held on Tuesday evening in St. Paul's Parish Hall, Mrs. J. D. Gordon, provincial president, spoke on institute work and method to a large attendance of members. Arrangemenas were compleed for the garden party, which will be held at the home of Mrs. Foote, Esquimalt Road, on Wednesday, June 25, and will be opened by Lady Barnard. The exhibition catalogues were distributed to the conveners of committees.

Letters of thanks were read from the secretary of Lampson Street school and from Miss Willing, teacher of the little pupils who danced the minuet at the Esquimalt sports on May 23. A donation of $10 was voted to the social service sunshine camp. Mrs. Appleby reported that two new babies had been enrolled at the child hygiene meeting on June 5, and were each presented with a silver spoon.

The annual picnic will be held at Cordova Bay on July 17. Mrs. Sadler, convener of home industries, reported that thirty-four members had visited the Golden West Bakeries on May 29. Mrs. Holligan reported that a successful dressmaking class had finished on June 9. There will be a demonstration o nthe use of sewing machine attachments in St. Paul's Parish Hall on June 19.

A social hour was spent, when a new member was welcomed. The hostesses were Mesdames Cresline, J. Rogers, McDuff and Hansen.

Want to Know If She Is Married To Canadian

Seattle, Wash., June 12.—Mrs. Helen G. Peterson, a Seattle nurse and a widow, wants to know if she has been married. She had filed suit in Superior Court to-day to find out. She set forth in her complaint that she met Harry A. Law, a railroad employee, at Edmonton, Alta., last June. They visited an official registrar and signed certain documents, which, she said, she believed to be a license to wed.

Without further ceremony Law announced they were wed, the complaint said. Mrs. Peterson said she refused to believe it, but had asked the court to determine, and if there was a marriage to annual it.

RALLY OF KING'S DAUGHTERS IS OPENED TO-DAY

Over Hundred Delegates From B.C. Circles Meet in Vancouver

Work of Duncan Hospital Is Described in President's Address

Vancouver, June 12.—The annual convention of Provincial King's Daughters opened this morning at Central Presbyterian Church, with the president, Miss Margaret S. Ross, in the chair. Delegates to the number of 102 registered officially, and many more local members of the order were in attendance at the opening session. A special guest was the international president, Mrs. Morris Leibert of New York, who spoke briefly this morning, and gave an address this afternoon.

DUNCAN HOSPITAL

In her presidential address, Miss Ross stated that she had, after her election last year, visited all districts except Victoria, and in May attended the graduation ceremony at the Duncan hospital, where she spoke to the four graduating nurses. The special work of the provincial group is the hospital, which is of great benefit to the surrounding district. Miss Ross mentioned Miss Macklin, who last year received the honorarium, and spent six weeks in an intensive operating course in Montreal, and has now returned to the Duncan institution.

The scattered circle of Cowichan acts as an auxiliary to the hospital, and supplies linen and other necessary articles, said Miss Ross. The board of directors reports 1,434 patients given assistance, and days' treatment (less Indians) numbered 14,055. The daily average was 39.1. Total receipts were $95,000, with $49,943 disbursement. The newly-installed heating plant has proved satisfactory, and a stablizer for the X-ray room, purchased through a tag day held by the Scattered Circle, had been a welcome addition to the equipment. A recent shower for the hospital by this circle has resulted in 252 articles and $41 being received. The directors hope to instal two new steam sterilizers shortly.

WORK IN VICTORIA

In Victoria the rest room for girls is given first attention, and this venture is now self-sustaining. The room was redecorated recently and have proved very attractive to many girls.

"There are now twenty-eight circles, with 641 members, in the province," remarked Miss Ross, who reported receipts amounting to $10,511, and disbursements, $8,434. The sum of $372 was paid on interest and loan fund, while $1,318 was expended in relief.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

When the housewife cleans out the ice-box and bread-box she combines the left-over meats into what she calls hash, and the left-over bits of bread are dubbed "Pudding a la Reine."

To-day, like the economical housewife, we are cleaning out our desk and all the letters we have been saving for opportune moments are destined to be thrown together in a hash a la Reine article. They don't fit, but we hope they'll prove palatable.

HAIR CUTS FOR CHILDREN

Mrs. C.W.G. had the usual nightmare of crying to experience each time Sonny went to get his hair cut. At first he was quiet and good, but one experience with a tired and hurried barber soured him on it.

But when Sonny went to the barber shop with his father and watched him have his hair cut and when father went along next time and sat in another chair, so that they were both being shorn simultaneously, he took pride in acting as daddy did and there were no more tears.

On the day they are to go to the barber shop, Mrs. V.H.S. encourages the children to play barber shop at home. One child brings her dolls to have their hair cut and they use a blunt scissors and trim the ends of yarn doll's hair. She has better success with her neighbor's children too, because the neighbors made the mistake of telling the children that if they didn't sit still the barber would cut their ears!

MOTHER'S BEHAVIOR

A Reader writes: "I am glad to note that in your column you use good sense in answering mothers' questions. I was pleased at the reply you made to a mother who called her child a 'young demon' when you said that she probably dictated too much. This was made clear to me in a visit to a friend whoes daughter is twenty-eight months old. In playing, this child irritates the mother and she is admonished and scolded constantly. The child screams out at times and the mother calls it ill-temper. Parents should know that a baby's only language is a cry and try to ascertain why they are crying rather than abusing them."

One must feel a sense of compassion for young parents so entangled in a thousand new experiences that they cannot find their way out. Most of the steps which mothers take are taken in ignorance and not in defiance of all kindliness. They want to do what is right, but many of them know only one way to change an irritating situation and that is by scolding or spanking the child.

I received a charming letter from a young mother, and I think the ending should be framed: "What is more helpless than a young baby?" And the answer is, "Two young parents."

ADELE BUCKLIN VIOLIN WINNER

Victoria Girl Awarded Silver Medal at B.C. Musical Festival

Vancouver, June 12.—Miss Adele Bucklin, of Victoria, was adjudged winner and silver medalist in Class 75, violin competition under nineteen years, at last night's session of the British Columbia Musical Festival here. Miss Bucklin received 178 marks; John Stobbs, of Mission City, was second with 169 marks.

An interesting feature of the proceedings was the adjudication of day school choirs. At the end of a closely contested competition, Bayview School, under the leadership of Miss M. McLeod, succeeded in winning the Russell McLean Challenge Shield from Tecumseh School choir. In the senior high school class, the Nicola Valley Lodge, Knights of Pythias, Shield was carried off by Templet Junior High School, conducted by Miss Nellie Bain.

A remarkable example of violin playing was given by competitors in the class for students under nineteen years. A good deal of rhythmic urge and tonal contrasts were noted, particularly in the finals. The silver medal was presented to Adele Bucklin, of Victoria, with a marking of 178.

Sharkey and Schmeling Battle For World's Title To-night

Jack's Experience and Boxing Skill Expected To Beat Young Teuton

Schmeling Enters Bout With Courage, Ambition and Dangerous Punch in His Favor; Sharkey's Odds Are Pruned From 2 to 1 to 7 to 5; Fight Fans Flock to New York From All Parts of Continent.

Main Event Starts at 6 o'Clock Victoria Time

Seventy-five Thousand Spectators Will Pay Close to $750,000 to See New Chapter Unfolded in Heavyweight History; Millions Will Listen to Bout Over the Air.

By ALAN J. GOULD, Associated Press Sports Editor

New York, June 12.—Little ol' New York was again the big fight town to-day with its rush and roar as the background for a world's heavyweight championship match between the youthful German from Hamburg and the hope of the home breds, a Lithuanian-American from Boston.

To-night, some forty-five minutes from the heart of Broadway, where the old-timers bellowed defiance at each other, Jack Sharkey and Max Schmeling swap punches for fifteen rounds or less, each seeking the same object—recognition as the heavyweight king and successor to the retired ruler, Gene Tunney.

At the ringside, perhaps in evening clothes, gentleman Gene was expected to see the new monarch of Maul crowned to restore once again the line that has seldom been broken since John L. Sullivan became the first world-recognized king of gloves fighters.

With fair weather assured, close to 75,000 spectators, featuring a notable ringside assembly, figured to pay something like $750,000 in the interests of charity and for the privilege of seeing a fresh chapter unfolded in heavyweight history.

The scenes, the times and the gladiators in this fistic extravaganza, promoted by a corporation whose directors are millionaires, and whose stock is sold in Wall Street, represent a far cry from the June night at Coney Island, thirty-four years ago, when James J. Jeffries won the heavyweight title from freckled Bob Fitzsimmons before a crowd of 10,000.

EVERYTHING "ALL RIGHT"

On that memorable occasion, the chief of police was at the ringside to stop the bout "after the first hard blow," but he said everything was "all right" after Jefferies, then twenty-two-year-old kid knocked out the veteran Fitzsimmons in the eleven round.

In the spacious American League ball park to-night, seven times as many people as witnessed the Jeffries-Fitzsimmons encounter, hoped to see many a "hard blow" struck in return for their devotion to the box office to the extent of paying from $2.10 to $26.25, or more at the speculators' price, for a seat.

Little ol' New York has seen, appraised, cheered and even booed the heavyweight champions from ancient to modern ring times. Fitzsimmons, Jeffries, Corbett, Willard, Dempsey and Tunney, all have fought in the big town for the most prized of all fistic titles.

To-night's was the eighth heavyweight championship affair brought to some corner of the metropolitan acreage. It was the first, however, to involve two contenders for the title, vacated two years ago, by Tunney. Its only parallel in ring history since Sullivan's era was the fight in Sydney Australia, in 1908, when Jack Johnson whipped Tommy Burns for the crown cast aside by Jeffries.

FAILED TWICE

Sharkey ruled the favorite to beat back the challenge of his youthful German antagonist, keep the line of title succession in the United States and climax his own erratic fistic career with a victory. The ex-sailor jumbled his two previous chances, in 1927 and 1928, to battle his way into the championship spotlight. Temperamental and uncertain though he has been, the majority of experts picked Sharkey to win. The gamblers backed him at odds pruned from 2 to 1 down to 7 to 5.

Boxing skill and experience were on Sharkey's side, with a victorious punch to support them. Courage, amoition and an equally dangerous wallop were the main assets of Schmeling. Both possessed the stamina for a hard fight, if necessary, to the limit of fifteen rounds, with a referee and two judges to cast the final verdict.

Sharkey of four or five years ago, when he was scrapping courageously for heavyweight recognition against any and all ioemen, would have gone into the big test an even bigger favorite than he has been. Sharkey fought then for his living — to-day Sharkey was spurred on by ambition to reach the goal previously denied him, but with wealth and even social position already in his possession, it seemed that some of the old vital urge was missing.

Youth and its compelling forces were on Schmeling's side this time. In that reversal of the situation, in the do-or-bust spirit of the under-dog, many of the experts foresaw the German's best chance of triumph. They envisioned Max in the same position as Dempsey at Toledo, as Tunney at Philadelphia, fighting against odds, but also with an excellent fighting chance. Moreover, Schmeling represents the new Germany. He is the first Teuton to challenge for the heavyweight championship and typical of the youthful generation that has figured in Germany's athletic comeback, one of the most remarkable in history. They have labelled him the "German Dempsey," largely upon a physical resemblance. But he will need the old Manassa mauler's aggressive courage and punch to-night to gain a fistic footing on the dignified throne of Dempsey.

Fight fans, to whom a heavyweight title affair is a ritual not to be missed, have flocked to New York from all parts of the land as well as from overseas.

The eyewitnesses were numbered in thousands but the "earwitnesses" figured to run well up into the millions, with a national network broadcasting the blow by blow details from the ringside on short wave lengths. The ringside story also was to be broadcast to Europe and South America, with the chances that Australia and the Orient might be able to tune in. More than 500 newspapermen were assembled to peer intently at the proceedings and contribute a few million words to the descriptive output.

The fight preliminaries were billed to begin around 4 p.m. (Victoria time) and the main bout at 6 p.m.

HELEN MOODY AND TENNIS HEAD CLASH

Standsead, Que.—J. C. Samson, Lib-

Wimbledon, Eng., June 12.—Some difference of opinion was reported to-day between Helen Wills Moody, captain of the U.S. Wightman Cup tennis team that meet the British women's team on Saturday, and Louis B. Daily, president of the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

Helen wanted Elizabeth Ryan for her doubles partner, but Daily felt he should not depart from the official attitude at home that America must be represented only by players actively engaged in the game in their own country.

This, of course, bars Miss Ryan, who is living in England. The Moody-Ryan combination bowled over some of the best women's doubles tennis teams in the world to win the French championship recently. Even without Miss Ryan the Americans will be favored to win the series of seven matches, five singles and two doubles.

U.S. TEAM FAVORED

While the English women are considered to have the best chance in doubles, Miss Wills is believed sure to win two singles matches and Helen Jacobs at least one and maybe two. The other players on the U.S. squad are Edith Cross, Sarah Palfrey and Mary Greef.

Elizabeth Ryan, although thirty years old, is recognized as one of the best women's doubles players in the world.

She is the daughter of a former mayor of Santa Monica, Calif., but for eighteen years has lived in England.

PICK THE WINNER

By JIMMY THOMPSON

To-night the sensational young scrapper, Max Schmeling of Germany will meet the talkative temperamental tar, Jack Sharkey of Boston, in a bout for the world's heavyweight championship. Schmeling has come along since the days, when as a youth, he dreamed ahead and saw himself the world's champion heavyweight boxer. He has made a study by slow moving pictures of how Dempsey knocked out Georges Carpentier, Jess Willard and Luis Angel Firpo. It has been a long time since fight fans have cheered a heavyweight; but not so long ago he received that distinction. Critics point out that he has no outstanding record behind him, but the New York Boxing Commission saw to it that he agreed to a return bout before they would sanction the first one. This move may be in the interest of good business, but it also shows that his ability is respected in some quarters. Unlike Sharkey, who has everything all figured out as to how and when he will administer the K.O., Schmeling is not boastful but quiet and confident. It is said that Sharkey depends on his ability to bulldoze his opponent and as Benny Leonard points out Schmeling may be the one who is not going to be bluffed.

RANGERS IN FINE FORM AT CALGARY

Scottish Football Champions Are Brilliant and Win Match By 8-1 Score

Marshall Leads Scorers With Three Goals; Nicholson Turns in Good Game

Calgary, Alta., June 12.—Glasgow Rangers gave a brilliant exhibition of soccer on Wednesday evening at Hillhurst Park, defeating an all-star team of Calgary by 8 to 1.

About 5,000 people left the field at full time satisfied that they had seen the finest machine of all time in action. One can fully understand them winning everything in Scottish football, for there was not a trick of the game that they did not demonstrate to the large crowd. It would be impossible to pick out an individual star, every man playing a wonderful game.

It was a disappointment to the local crowd when they realized that Allan Morton was not on the line-up, but the general opinion at the finish was that if Allan is better than Nicholson, he must be superhuman.

WONDERFUL CONTROL

Their control was wonderful, and the way they parted with the ball to the foot of a colleague was uncanny. The ball was kept traveling from Ranger to Ranger and there were times when the home team had to go about five minutes without touching the sphere.

The goal scorers were:

Calgary—Blair 1.

Calgary United—Stobie, Stewart, Stephens, Gibb, Pate, Cartwright, Mathison, Akenclose, Poster, Blair and Marsden.

Referee—Jimmy Gilhooley.

OLD COUNTRY CRICKET

London, June 12.—Splendid batting by Armstrong, of Leicestershire, who scored 147 runs against Surrey, featured yesterday's first-class cricket matches. Newman, of Middlesex, also turned in a fine performance, his 110, not out, being a major part of Middlesex first innings, scored against Essex.

First day closing scores follow:

At Bristol — Gloucestershire, 198 (Sinfield 58, Freeman six for 97); Kent, 21 runs for no wickets.

Power Boats Will Race to Cowichan For Lane Trophy

The power boats of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club will race from Cadboro Bay to Cowichan Bay on Saturday in competition for the Lane Cup. The craft will leave the starting-point at their own times and the first to cross the tape at Cowichan Bay at 6 o'clock will be awarded the trophy.

The sailing boats will also cruise to Cowichan Bay on Saturday and on Sunday will race for the Cowichan Cup. All ships will return to Victoria on Sunday night. Saturday night there will be a dance at the Cowichan Bay Hotel for the visiting Victoria yachtsmen and their ladies.

LOCAL TRACK TEAM INVITED TO BIG MEET

Coach McKinnon Considers Sending Four or Five Stars to Vancouver Carnival

Victoria will be represented in at least four of the events at the Dominion Day track and field meet in Vancouver next month, if plans made by Coach Archie McKinnon, physical director of the Y.M.C.A., mature. Invitations have been sent to the local track and field club with a request that Coach McKinnon send over as many competitors as possible.

It is his hope to have Art Pell, first ranking hurdler in B.C., enter in his particular event, while Chuck Cunningham, half-miler, is figured a sure entry in the 880 yards race. Len Nicholls is counted upon to represent Victoria in the quarter mile, with George and Frank Aldous possibly running in the mile or half mile.

An attempt is also being made to have Beverley Valo, crack young girl jumper, who captured first place in the event last year, compete.

Lyn Patrick has been suggested as a possibility in the junior 220. In the same division, Coach McKinnon is also considering taking across a half miler and possibly a relay team.

WILL WORK OUT TO-NIGHT

This evening the boys will hold a short workout at the High School grounds in preparation for the events.

Interest in track and field circles on the Island is now entirely focussed on the big meet in Vancouver, where the stars of the continent will gather to try to beat Percy Williams in the 100-yard dash

In order to let the Up-island boys get away for the event without prejudicing their chances of missing the Vancouver Island championships, the officials in charge of the latter, which were scheduled to take place in Nanaimo on July 1, have postponed their meet until Labor Day.

Although no Up-islanders have yet entered the invitation meet on the mainland, many of them will doubtless attend the races as spectators if they are unable to gain admittance to the competitive ranks.

MAX'S MOTHER IS CONFIDENT

Frau Schmeling Thinks Her Boy Will Win; German People Not Excited

Berlin, June 12.—At least one person here is really excited about to-night's heavyweight battle in New York between Max Schmeling and Jack Sharkey. That person is Mother Schmeling. A strong, vigorous woman, she is anything but the hysterical type, yet admits the suspense is causing sleepless nights. At the same time she denies she is worried.

"He'll win," declared Frau Schmeling, "and supposing he doesn't—he's young, but I am expecting victory."

This sturdy German woman is tremendously proud of her son.

"The boy has done a lot for his fatherland," she said. "He's the first German to get as far as a championship bout over there."

The bout finally reached the front pages of newspapers here yesterday but as yet there is no indication of high feeling among the German boxer's countrymen. What interests the German fans more than the outcome of the fight is the Arabian Nights atmosphere surrounding it—the $500,000 advance sale, the dizzy estimates of the final gate receipts, the gorgeous prosperity of a country where apparently it is possible with one smack of a glove to get more than Aladdin ever got by rubbing lamps.

It is safe to say all bets being laid on the fight here represent American money and difference of opinion among visitors from overseas. Germans ordinarily do not bet on prizefights, prefering horse races and lotteries. Consequently it was difficult to guess at what odds Schmeling's countrymen held his chances of beating Sharkey.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

TO-NIGHT'S fifteen-round battle at the Yankee Stadium in New York for the world's championship between Jack Sharkey and Max Schmeling brings back memories of the many great fights staged to decide the titleholder. Let's go back and look over the result of former bouts.

* * *

Since the start of the modern era of boxing, when John L. Sullivan and James J. Corbett fought for the heavyweight title at New Orleans and Corbett won in twenty-one rounds, forty-two bouts for the heavyweight championship have been fought. These include the contest in which Hart and Burns clashed and fourteen other bouts which Burns fought between the Hart tilt and the Johnson slaughter. There were several exhibitions in which champions took part, but they were not recognized as titular bouts.

* * *

Of these fights the longest was that between Johnson and Willard; the shortest, four-one-round battles, which Burns won; the most thrilling the Dempsey-Firpo encounter; the most punishing, the Dempsey-Willard clash; the most scientific exhibition, that of Corbett against Jim Jeffries; the most pathetic, that of Jeffries in his bout with Jack Johnson; and the most one-sided, the Tunney-Heeney and the Burns-Johnson contest.

* * *

John L. Sullivan knocked out by James J. Corbett with right to jaw, twenty-first round, in 1893.

James J. Corbett knocked out by Bob Fitzsimmons with left to stomach, the solar plexus blow (fourteenth round), in 1897.

* * *

Tommy Burns knocked out Bill Squires with right to chin, first round, in 1907.

Tommy Burns won from Joe Grimm in three rounds on a decision in 1907.

Tommy Burns knocked out Bill Lange in sixth round with a right to the chin in 1908.

* * *

* * *

* * *

Brooklyn Continues To Set Amazing Pace In National

Robins Still Holding Off Serious Threat Of McGraw's Team

Remain Five Games Ahead Despite Nine-game Winning Streak of New York Giants; Lopez's Timely Single in Ninth Gives Leaders One-run Victory Over Cincinnati; New York Beats Pittsburgh; Washington Creeps Up in American League Race.

Despite a nine-game winning streak by their dread rivals, the New York Giants, Wilbert Robinson's amazing Brooklyn Robins continued to show their heels to the rest of the National League field and confidently look forward to their first pennant since 1920. Giants, despite their long string of wins, still are five games from first place.

The Giants took Pittsburgh over the hurdles, 9-2, yesterday, but gained not one inch of ground as the Robins behind Dazzy Vance's great pitching, nosed out the Cincinnati Reds, 2-1.

Vance held the Reds to four hits, but it took a pinch single by Al Lopez in the ninth to bring the Robins victory.

Charley Root's fine pitching enabled the Chicago Cubs to break their losing streak at Philadelphia's expense, 6-2. Cuyler's home run with two on in the third gave Root all the runs he needed.

SENATORS CREEP UP

In the American League Washington Senators advanced to within a game and a half of first place by whipping Chicago, while the Philadelphia Athletics were bowing to Cleveland, 6-2.

Lefty Grove, Athletics' left-handed ace, who went nearly two months without losing a game, was charged with his second defeat in as many days yesterday.

Detroit put on a seven-run rally in the seventh to trounce the New York Yankees, 13-7.

Other scheduled major league games were postponed.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Cleveland, June 12.—Cleveland defeated the Philadelphia Athletics in the first game of a three-game series here yesterday. The A's used two pitchers, Grove and Shores, in a vain attempt to beat the Indians.

Philadelphia	2	10	3
Cleveland	6	12	0

Batteries—Grove, Shores and Cochrane; Hudlin, Ferrell and Myatt.

Detroit, June 12.—The Detroit Tigers got to four Yankee pitchers yesterday for fourteen hits, winning the series opener, 13 to 7. Lou Gehrig hit his fourteenth home run of the season.

	R.	H.	E.
New York	7	9	1
Detroit	13	14	1

Batteries—Carroll, Gomez, McEvoy, Johnson and Dickey; Sorrell, Uhle and Hargrave.

Chicago, June 12.—Irving Hadley held the White Sox to five hits yesterday, while his mates pounded "Dutch" Henry for ten and a 2 to 1 victory for Washington in the opening game of their series.

	R.	H.	E.
Washington	2	10	0
Chicago	1	5	0

Batteries — Hadley, Braxton and Spencer; Henry and Crouse.

Boston at St. Louis, postponed; rain.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

New York, June 12.—The New York Giants won their ninth consecutive game yesterday, defeating the Pirates, 9 to 2. Carl Hubbell held Pittsburgh to eight scattered hits.

	R.	H.	E.
Pittsburgh	2	8	2
New York	9	16	2

Batteries—Meine, Jones and Bool; Hubbell and Hogan.

Brooklyn, N.Y., June 12.—Dazzy Vance held the Reds to four scattered hits, but the Robins were forced to rally in the ninth to defeat Cincinnati, 2 to 1. Walker, pinch hitting for Durocher, scored the Reds' one run, hitting a home run in the eighth that tied the score.

	R.	H.	E.
Cincinnati	1	4	0
Brooklyn	2	7	1

Batteries—Kolp, Riggs and Sukeforth; Vance and De Berry.

Philadelphia, June 12.—The Chicago Cubs defeated the Philadelphia Nationals yesterday, 6 to 2. Cuyler, the Cubs's right fielder, started the scoring for his team in the third when he hit a homer and scored two men ahead of him.

	R.	H.	E.
Chicago	6	13	1
Philadelphia	2	8	0

Batteries—Root and Hartnett; Nichols and McCurdy.

St. Louis at Boston, postponed; rain.

COAST LEAGUE

Seattle, June 12.—Trying out the downtown civic stadium here yesterday as their prospective future ball park, the Seattle Indians were defeated by the Portland Ducks, when Williams broke up a tie game in the ninth inning with a single, scoring French. Portland won, 5 to 4.

	R.	H.	E.
Portland	5	12	1
Seattle	4	7	1

Batteries—Mails, Cascarella, Postel, Walters and Woodall; Zahniser and Borreani.

San Francisco, June 12.—Hollywood's Stars defeated San Francisco's Missions, 9-6 yesterday, the Missions putting on one of the best fumbling exhibitions seen here this season. The locals bobbled the ball seven times and the Stars merely had to take advantage of the breaks. Hollywood put over three runs in the fourth without the aid of a hit, walks and errors being the causes.

	R.	H.	E.
Hollywood	9	8	2

Batteries—Hollerson and Severeid; Caster, Knott, Douglas, Pillette and Hoffman.

Los Angeles, June 12.—The Seals capitalized on their dozen hits to-day off a trio of the Los Angeles hurlers, to win their second game of the series here, 8 to 5.

The Angels, on the other hand, found Curtis Davis, San Francisco moundsman, for fourteen safe blows, but were unable to collect enough of them at run-paying moments.

	R.	H.	E.
San Francisco	8	12	2
Los Angeles	5	14	2

Batteries—Davis and Gaston; Lelaney, Yerkes, Walsh, Gable, Skiff and Warren.

Sacramento, June 12.—Tony Freitas, sensational southpaw of the Senators, lost his first game of the season after seven successive victories here yesterday evening. The Oakland Oaks came from behind to beat the youngster in the eighth and ninth innings. The score was 10 to 9. It was the second night game played here and drew a crowd of 8,000.

Oakland	10	13	0

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE

Baltimore, 11-5; Buffalo, 6-2.
Newark, 4; Jersey City, 3.
Reading, 10; Montreal, 7.

LACOSTE AND GOLF QUEEN WILL MARRY

Lacoste Declares He May Be Through With Tennis For Good; to Take Up Golf

Paris, June 12.—On the stroke of noon, Monday, June 30, the chimes in the tower of Sainte Clotilde Church will ring gaily to announce the wedding of Madamoiselle Simone Thion de la Chaume, queen of the French golf kingdom, and Rene Lacoste, former Napoleon of world's tennis.

Their romance began abroad the transatlantic liner which brought the two young folks back from the United States to France in 1927. That was after Rene Lacoste by his victories over William T. Tilden and William Johnston had been the main artisan of the French victory, which brought the Davis Cup to France for the first time, and it was after Madamoiselle de la Chaume had made a most creditable showing, although not achieving such signal success, in the women's golf championships of the United States.

The romance was continued in the world of society, to which both families belong, the Lacostes as leaders in the automobile and airplane motor industry of France and the de la Chaumes as an old family dating back from the Bourbon regime.

The engagement was announced last September, but the wedding originally fixed for January and later for April, had to be postponed twice owing to the bridegroom's ill-health, a severe cold contracted during the finals of his singles championship match against Jean Borotra, which Lacoste won in five hard sets at the Roland Garcos Stadium in June, 1929, developing into severe chronic bronchitis, and, as has been the case oftener than and courage with which he has disputed countless battles on the courts, and, as has been the case oftened than not in tennis, he won the victory.

It will be a real Parisian wedding.

NOTABLES TO ATTEND

Personalities of the aristocracy of the Faubourg Saint Germain, leaders in the world of industry and finance, princes of tennis, and princesses of golf, will form that day around the two champions, a circle of admirers and well-wishers.

"We want as little display as possible," Madamoiselle de la Chaume told the correspondent.

The bride's dress also will be simple, although the work of one of the most fashionable dressmakers along the Champs Elysees—all white satin and in the latest 1930 summer style.

Invitations have been sent to most of the ranking tennis players of the world, and Simone expressed regret that Mrs. Helen Wills-Moody, busy at Wimbledon defending her title, would be unable to attend. Wimbledon is likely to prove a similar handicap for many other tennis stars, preventing them from being present.

WILL STILL PLAY GOLF

"Will you continue to play golf?" the future bride was asked.

"Why, of course," she replied.

"On June 19 I shall compete in the French international championships at St. Germain. Then I shall dispute the cup donated by my father and which bears his name. This will be at Chantilly, June 21."

"What about preparations for the wedding?"

"Two or three days will suffice," replied the champion golfer.

This from Lacoste in reply to a similar query about tennis:

"Yes, I am through with tennis, absolutely for this year." Then he added a little sadly, on thought:

"And perhaps for good." Brightening up, he concluded: "You see I am taking up golf."

Colwood Women Play To-morrow In Team Event

A high grade of golf and plenty of keen competition is expected in the second half of the annual match between teams led by the women's captain and the secretary of the Colwood Golf Club to-morrow. Mrs. Philbrick will meet Mrs. Hutchison in the first fixture of the day, while several other close games are also expected to be witnessed.

The draw and starting times, with the captain's team mentioned first, follow:

1.30 p.m.—Mrs. Philbrick vs. Mrs. Hutchinson.
1.35—Mrs. Parry vs. Mrs. Armstrong.
1.40—Miss Dunsmuir vs. Mrs. C. E. Wilson.
1.45—Mrs. Richardson vs. Mrs. Lawson.
1.50—Mrs. Crowe vs. Miss J. Hutchinson.
1.55—Mrs. Rasmussen vs. Mrs. Carew Martin.
2.00—Mrs. Lee vs. Mrs. Jack Gray.
2.05—Mrs. Criddle vs. Mrs. F. J. Hall.
2.10—Mrs. Hetherington vs. Mrs. Gonnason.
2.30—Mrs. Hodges vs. Miss Fitzgibbon.

OVER the WALL

Paul Waner, Riggs Stephenson and Babe Ruth packed the big bats of baseball's Big Six yesterday, as all but Al Simmons of the sextette got into action. Waner was credited with a perfect day at bat when he hit two singles in two trips, while Stephenson and Babe connected twice each in four times at bat. The Pirates' outfielder's activities boosted his average to .386. Ruth still holding the cellar position, but his average went up to .371. Stephenson's percentage rose three points and Herman lost three when he got one hit in four times at bat, while Rice dropped six points as he went hitless.

FIVE C'S DROP MATCH TO BAYS

Department Store Cricketers Win By Eighty Runs; University Beats Victoria

With Hanson batting 35, Baker 25 and Haines 22, the Hudson's Bays had little difficulty in defeating the Five C's in the regular Wednesday Cricket League fixture yesterday. After their eighth wicket, the department men had 155 runs, while the churchmen were all out for 75.

Hanson turned in the best performance in the bowling section, with five wickets for twenty-five runs.

In the exhibition match at Mount Tolmie, the University School first eleven defeated the Victoria Cricket Club by five runs, the former scoring fifty-eight to the latter's fifty-three.

Harris Sisters Put On Keen Match In Club Tennis Play

Betty Defeats Margie 7-5, 7-5 After Hard-fought Tussle in Kingston Street Club Championship; Bob Schwengers Wins Over Tommy Forbes, 6-2, 6-3, in Feature Match of Men's Singles; Alexander and Perrins Spring Another Surprise in Men's Doubles.

Twelve more matches were played off yesterday evening at Kingston Street Tennis Club in the annual club championships. The events are all down to the semi-finals and some of the finalists will be decided to-night. Twelve more championship events will be played to-day, while a number of the consolation singles will also be run off.

The battle between the two Harris sisters, Betty and Margie, featured yesterday's play. Betty won in two deuce sets that ended 7-5 in both cases, but was extended to the limit to win. Betty is recognized as the best of the three sisters, but will have to watch out for the youngest member, whom she defeated yesterday, in the tournaments ahead. Both players were hitting their shots hard from the baseline and many long and interesting rallies occurred before the points were finally won. Betty was a game ahead during the first set and won by the loss of a service by her sister. She again secured a lead in the second set that looked safe, but was forced to the utmost to stave off a determined rally when leading 5-0. The score was tied at five all when Betty ran out the set and match with the next two games.

Bobby Schwengers and Tommy Forbes indulged in the best men's singles of the day in which Schwengers won at 6-2, 6-3, but the score is little indication of the play, as many games went to deuce and were only decided after long rallies. Schwengers meets Gerald Cunningham to-day in the semi-finals.

HOCKING WINS

Gerald Cunningham defeated Hugh Renwick in another singles, while Hocking defeated Barnes in straight sets. Barnes did not play his usual game and his opponent scored on his errors. Hocking meets Steve Jones today in the semi-finals to see who will oppose the winner of the Cunningham-Schwengers match in the final on Saturday.

Alexander and Perrins, who caused the biggest surprise of the tournament in the opening round of the men's doubles, by defeating Barnes and Forbes, were expected to reach the end of their tether yesterday evening when they opposed Gelling and Harrison, a hard hitting second team duo, but caused another upset by trimming their opponents in straight set at 6-4 and 6-2. They played their shots accurately and got everything back to force their rivals into errors. They will now meet Burgess and Hocking in the semi-finals.

Women's Singles

Miss K. Harris defeated Mrs. Baird, 6-1, 6-4.

Miss B. Harris defeated Miss M. Harris, 7-5, 7-5.

Women's Doubles

Miss Ewart and Miss M. Harris defeated Mrs. Cann and Miss Dixon, 6-1, 6-0.

Mixed Doubles

Miss Ewart and Forbes defeated Miss Severs and Prentice, 6-2, 6-4.

Miss B. Haris and Burgess defeated Miss Knapton and Watson, 6-2, 6-1.

Men's Singles

Schwengers defeated Forbes, 6-2, 6-3.

Cunningham defeated Renwick, 6-1, 6-2.

Men's Doubles

Goad and Prentice defeated Leeming and Renwick, 6-3, 6-1.

EAGLES PLAY WELL TO WIN OVER CHAMPS

Feathered Tribe Spring Upset in Senior Ball League By Defeating Jokers

Brousseau Turns in Good Pitching Performance; Race Tightens Up

After having taken it on the chin pretty regularly since the beginning of the season, the Eagles came to life yesterday evening at the Royal Athletic Park to hand the Jokers, last year's champions, an 8-6 setback in the Senior Amateur Ball League. The victory of the feathered tribe was the biggest upset this season, and tightened up the race for league honors. The Elks are now leading the league by a two-game margin over the Sons and Jokers, who are tied for second place. To-morrow night the Jokers and Sons of Canada will meet.

At the start of the battle it looked like the Jokers were going to win another game. In the first two innings they managed to run up a five run lead, scoring two counters in the first inning and three more in the second. The Eagles pushed one runner around the sacks in the first frame.

TIE UP SCORE

Pollard, who started on the mound for the Jokers, got by until the last half of the fourth. In their half of this inning the Jokers had sneaked another runner home to lead by a score of 6-1. Then the lodgemen started to find their batting eyes. Essler started off the inning with a single, advancing to second on another safe hit by McDonald. Love struck out. Successive hits by Dunnett, Latham and Nex brought home five runs, enough to tie the score. Pollard was chased to the showers in favor of Holden.

In the seventh the Eagles grabbed the lead for the first time, but they never lost it again. Bobby Love reached first on an error by Belcher, stole second and reached the home plate on two passed balls. In teh next inning the Eagles drove in another run to sew up the game.

Brousseau made his debut for the Eagles in the Senior League and turned in a good performance on the mound. He was touched up for twelve hits, but kept them well scattered, while he struck out nine. The Eagles collected thirteen hits off Pollard and Holden.

Brousseau led the hitters for the evening with three safeties out of five trips to the plate.

SOFTBALL

Times vs. Colonist at Willows Park. Referees, Pascoe and Brown.

Harmony softballers continued their bid for their second straight women's city softball championship by scoring a 23-3 victory over the Standard Steam Laundry yesterday at the Central Park. The game between the Axioms and Lucky Strikes was postponed. In next week's games, Harmony will face the Axioms, and the Standard Steam Laundry will meet the Lucky Strikes.

Rolling up twenty-seven runs to the New Royals' three, the Y.M.I. won the deciding game for the first half championship of the "B" section of the Victoria and District Softball League, at Oak Bay Park yesterday.

The winners played fine ball behind the pitching of Eric Moir and had the battle in their hands from the start.

Two homers, one by "Shorty" Collins in the early part of the fray, and another by Eugene Tierney, in the fifth, with the bases loaded, featured the play of the Y.M.I.

HEALERS ASK BARTON CASE BE WITHDRAWN

Medical Liberty League Champions Case of Local Man Charged at Alberni

Dodern surgery was termed a "riot of commercialized butchery" at a meeting of the Medical Liberty League in the Progressive Thought Temple yesterday evening when resolutions were passed asking the Attorney-General to drop charges now pending against drugless healers.

Dr. A. W. Paskins, the principal speaker, declared surgery was "nothing less than an orgy of cutting and slashing, slicing and amputation." The answer to the tendency of modern development was found in the alarming increase in lunacy, he said.

Men training for the medical profession were not allowed an original or individual thought, he added.

Dr. Paskins termed the charges in Alberni against Dr. A. F. Barton as "orthodox medical persecution."

A strongly-worded resolution asking that the charges be withdrawn was passed as follows:

"Whereas it was clearly stated in the last session of the Legislature of British Columbia that there was no desire or intention of prosecuting drugless physicians; and whereas legislation properly to organize and regulate drugless physicans has been promised at the next session of the Legislature;

"And, whereas, the electorate of British Columbia has certainly expressed its desire for such legislation.

"Be it Resolved: That Hon. R. H. Pooley be requested to use his influence to have the charges, now pending against drugless physicians, dropped, together with any future charges which may be laid."

A further resolution demanding medical liberty, on a basis of religious liberty, with the same guarantees, was passed.

He Gave Service

The negro was asked to supply a tame turkey. The customer insisted it should be tame. When it came time to carve the bird, the customer found a lot of shot inside. He approached the negro and complained.

"In strict confidence," explained the negro, "dem shots was intended for me, not de turkey."

SAANICH NOW RELIEVED OF HIGHWAY COST

Thirty Miles of Roads to Be Maintained at Provincial Expense

The three major highways of Saanich, the Gorge Road, East Saanich Road and the West Saanich Road, have been officially designated arterial highways under the sole control of the Province, which will hereafter assume the total cost of maintenance of the thirty miles of highway involved.

Information to this effect was officially given Saanich this morning in a communication from Hon. N. S. Lougheed, Minister of Public Works.

The assumption by the Province of the cost of these major highways is expected to save Saanich large sums annually. Most of the paving was laid fifteen years ago. For more than two years the municipal council has viewed with alarm the certainty that large sums would have to be invested in trunk highways betterments within two years. Abolition of indebtedness incurred to construct the roads was attained last year, when nearly $500,000 of municipal debentures were retired with sinking funds.

Pender Island

C. H. O'Halloran, Liberal candidate, and Alex Macdonald of North Saanich, visited the Island on Thursday last and addressed a public meeting in Hope Bay Hall in the evening.

At a meeting held recently in the Port Washington Hall and addressed by J. A. Armishaw, organizer, it was decided to form a local United Farmers' Co-operative Association, six members being enrolled as a nucleus.

Guests at "Grosvenor House," Port Washington, during the last week included Felix Raper, Mrs. Raper and the Misses Raper of Victoria and lately of China; Mr. Hawthorne of Victoria, and Mr. Nash of Vancouver.

Mrs. O'Neil of Victoria was the guest during the past week of her sister, Mrs. R. H. Auchterlonie, Hope Bay.

Mrs. Annie Taylor is spending a few weeks at her cottage at Browning Harbor.

Mr. and Mrs. D. G. MacDonald and son, Ronnie, came home from town on Tuesday last, Mr. MacDonald returning to his duties again on Monday.

Mrs. P. W. Garrett is at present in Victoria, where she underwent an operation for removal of tonsils last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Hector McNeil left the first of the month for Rivers Inlet, where they will remain for the fishing season.

Mr. and Mrs. Bainbridge of Vancouver were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Menzies last Tuesday during the course of a sojourn among the Islands for the purpose of collecting pioneer history.

Col. D. B. Martyn, industrial commissioner, has purchased property formerly owend by Dr. Nelson at Bedwell Harbor and is improving it with a view to making a summer home there.

Mrs. J. Armstrong of Bedwell Harbor left recently for Bella Coola, where she has accepted a position as matron of the hospital.

A. E. McLean has gone to Vancouver to meet his mother, Mrs. A. McLean Sr., who has arrived from Guelph, Ont., to spend the summer here.

Much in Little

A simple original design inspired by the set-backs of modern architecture, made low for easy access, fitting snugly into corner or alcove; the CORWITH is an unusually attractive built-in tub that requires no tiling.

Perhaps you are inclined to think that a large room and a considerable investment are necessary for thoroughly modern beauty and comfort in the bathroom. Not so. New compact fixtures have made possible rooms in a hall-end or odd nook that in beauty and service are beyond criticism.

If you are planning a small house, with both bathroom space and money limited, here's a suggestion . . . a Corwith built-in tub that leaves no unsightly and hard-to-clean waste space behind or beneath . . . a Clermont twice-fired vitreous china wall lavatory . . . a twice-fired vitreous china Saneto syphon-jet closet. In a room only seven feet three by four feet ten and one half inches, these three fixtures can be installed, for a thoroughly modern, unusually convenient bathroom, surprisingly reasonable in cost. Walls of painted plaster or water proofed wall-paper, floor of linoleum, cheerful window hangings; only the imagination limits the colorful charm that can be given to such a room.

For decorating and arrangement suggestions, write for the Crane book, New Ideas for Bathrooms and Planning the Small Bathroom. For an idea of the economy and completeness of Crane offerings, visit Crane Exhibit Rooms or write for Homes of Comfort.

Victoria Druggist Given Presentation For Excellent Work

In appreciation of his excellent work for the B.C. Pharmaceutical Association, members of that body presented Joseph H. Emery, manager of Thomas Shorbolt Limited, with an illuminated address and silver pestle and mortar on his resignation from active office in the association. His withdrawal from the active ranks was necessitated through business pressure.

Mr. Emery has held the position of registrar, counsellor, secretary, president and latterly editor of The B.C. Pharmaceutical Record, the trade organ.

The presentation was made in Vancouver at the Board of Trade Building, on Tuesday.

The new president will be John H. Wulton of Victoria; the secretary-registrar, Russell H. McDuffee of Vancouver; counsellor, for Vancouver, J. W. Bowles. The remaining officers were returned by acclamation.

Ferry Services From Victoria Ready For Record Tourist Year

Princess Victoria Will Start New Service to Seattle Tomorrow Morning

Edmonds-Victoria and Sidney-Steveston Route to Commence Saturday

The coming week-end will see the passenger and automobile ferry service for the summer tourist season out of Victoria and adjacent points in full swing. Several automobile ferries have been in service since June 1 and by Saturday night several more services will be under way. Already motor traffic is moving in and out of Victoria and with increased services and finer ships this year the 1930 season is expected to set new records.

To-morrow morning at 1 o'clock the reconditioned C.P.R. steamer Princess Victoria will sail from the Belleville Street piers on her first trip in a Victoria-Seattle service. The Victoria was overhauled during the winter months at a cost of approximately $250,000 and is now one of the finest auto ferries on the coast. Fifteen feet were added to her beam and her public rooms were changed around and made more attractive. She will operate on a convenient schedule until early in September. This schedule will give Victorians an opportunity to travel to Seattle at night and sleep aboard and return later in the day. The Victoria will make one round trip daily and two round trips on Saturdays to take care of week-end traffic which is always heavy throughout the summer.

Following is the schedule which the Princess Victoria will operate on all summer:

Leave Victoria 1 a.m.; arrive Seattle 7 a.m.

Leave Seattle 5.15 p.m.; arrive Victoria 9.30 p.m.

Saturday extra trip: Leave Victoria 1.15 p.m. arrive Seattle 5.30 p.m.

EDMONDS SERVICE

On Saturday the Victoria-Edmonds ferry service will commence with the arrival here, shortly after noon, of the steamer City of Victoria, which for two years has been on this run and has been exceedingly popular with Victorians and touring motorists. The City of Victoria will use the new Canadian National pier, and, although the docks are not yet finished, a temporary landing has been made for the ship which she will continue to use until the wharves are completed.

An office has also been set up on the new piers where Ivan Beecroft will act as agent. Mr. Beecroft has been with the company since its inauguration two years ago.

The City of Victoria will operate on the same schedule as last year, which is as follows:

Leave Victoria 1 p.m.; arrive Edmonds 5 p.m.

Leave Edmonds 6 p.m.; arrive Victoria 10 p.m.

Leave Victoria 1 a.m.; arrive Edmonds 5.30 a.m.

Leave Edmonds 8 a.m.; arrive Victoria 12.30 p.m.

When the ship arrives on Saturday she will have a large party of Seattle people aboard who will make the round trip to Victoria as guests of the Independent Ferry Company, operators of the City of Victoria. Among the passengers who will have their cars are B. A. Raymond, automobile editor of The Seattle Post-Intelligencer, and Lester F. Carlson, automobile editor of the Tacoma News-Tribune and Ledger, who will tour Vancouver Island for motor travel material for their respective publications.

Capt. C. T. Wyatt, well-known coast skipper, will again have charge of the steamer and his staff will include competent and popular men who will be well able to look after the thousands of tourists who will no doubt travel aboard the City of Victoria this year.

SIDNEY-STEVESTON

Saturday will also see the commencement of the service between Sidney and Steveston which the B.C. Coast Service of the C.P.R. inaugurated last year with the motorship Motor Princess. The same ship will be used again this year and her schedule will be as follows:

Leave Sidney, 8.45 a.m.; arrive Steveston 11.45 a.m.

Leave Steveston 12.30 p.m.; arrive Sidney 3.30 p.m.

Leave Sidney 4 p.m.; arrive Steveston 6.45 p.m.

Around the Docks

Bound for Honolulu, Japan, China and the Philippine Islands, the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada was in port at the Rithet Piers for an hour this afternoon. She sailed from Vancouver at 11 o'clock this morning, and docking here at 4 o'clock was expected to clear for sea about an hour later. In command of Capt. A. J. Hailey, R.N.R., there was a fair list of passengers aboard the big liner for the trip across the Pacific.

* * *

With 125 tons of general cargo for this port, the Donaldson freighter Gracia is expected to dock at the Rithet Piers to-morrow morning from the United Kingdom by way of the Panama Canal and California ports. Capt. J. Cook has command of the Gracia.

* * *

The freighter Everett is loading 750,000 feet of Vancouver Island timber at the Ogden Point Piers. She docked yesterday morning at 10 o'clock and is expected to clear to-night for Seattle to complete cargo for the Orient.

* * *

To-morrow evening will see the arrival here of two inbound liners from across the Pacific, the N.Y.K. steamer Yokohama Maru and the American Mail liner President Taft. The Japanese ship will dock about 5 o'clock, carrying seven first-class and fifteen third-class passengers for Victoria, as well as 107 tons of general freight. The President liner will dock at the Rithet Piers about 7 o'clock in the evening with a large passenger list and a good parcel of freight. Several passengers will leave the ship here.

* * *

Bound for Victoria and Vancouver with nearly 1,000 passengers in all classes, the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Russia sailed from Yokohama to-day and after nine days at sea will dock here on Saturday, June 21, proceeding after a few hours to terminate her transpacific voyage at Vancouver. Capt. L. D. Douglas is in command of the big white liner.

* * *

Laden down with Vancouver and Victoria freight and ready to take on a full list of passengers, the C.P.R. Coast steamer Princess Norah is now at her dock in the inner harbor waiting to sail for the West Coast of Vancouver Island at 11 o'clock to-morrow night. This is the Norah's first trip of the summer season.

* * *

The steam schooner Quinalt was at the C.P.S. lumber wharf in the upper inner harbor to-day loading a parcel of timber for California ports. Another steam schooner, the San Diego, is expected there next Monday to load for San Pedro. King Brothers, local shipping agents, are representatives of both ships.

On her first trip of the summer schedule to Alaska, the coast steamer Princess Alice will leave from Victoria to-morrow night and from Vancouver Saturday night for Skagway and Alaska ports. The Princess Charlotte will take her first trip north from Victoria on June 17.

Ruth Alexander To Arrive From South Early in Morning

Delayed by adverse ground swells coming up the coast, it will be 4 o'clock to-morrow morning before the Pacific Steamship Company's coastal passenger liner Ruth Alexander docks at the Rithet piers here from San Diego, Los Angeles and San Francisco. W. M. Allan, local agent, was advised to this effect this morning by wireless from Capt. Frank Landstrom, master of the Ruth.

For Victoria the ship has fifty tons of general cargo and fifty passengers. Passengers will leave the ship between 6 and 7 o'clock, and the steamer will sail at the latter hour for Seattle, arriving at the Sound port about noon.

SAN FRANCISCO SHIPPING

San Francisco, June 12.—Withdrawal of the liner Tenyo Maru from the California-Orient service of the N.Y.K. Line was announced here yesterday by Seiichi Nakase, manager of the local office at Tokio. The line has been operating six vessels in the San Francisco service, but since the advent of the three new motor liners the schedule has been overtopping. The Tenyo Maru will end her present voyage at Kobe, and she will be replaced in the company's schedule by the Shinyo Maru sailing outbound from Kobe on June 18. Nakase did not announce into what service the Tenyo is to run.

When the coastal liner H. F. Alexander arrived here to-day from the Northwest she had aboard 582 passengers, the largest list ever carried by the greyhound between Seattle and this port. Of the number 228 debarked here and the others went through to Southern California. The liner took aboard 135 passengers here for San Pedro.

SEATTLE SHIPPING

Seattle, June 12.—Shipping men here yesterday declared that 90,000,000 feet of Russian lumber sold in New York and four billion feet sold in the United Kingdom would be marketed in direct competition to Pacific Coast lumber.

They said they had learned the huge sales were made by the Amtorg Trading Corporation of the Soviet Government of Russia and that the lumber would be moved from Black Sea and Baltic ports. The Italian steamer Humidia recently completed a cargo on Puget Sound after loading under deck in Vladivostok with Russian cedar for Rotterdam.

Guests Enjoy Banquet Aboard Japanese Ship

Lieut.-Governor, Prime Minister and Mayor Among Those at Dinner

Friendship Between Britain and Japan Referred to; N.Y.K. Complimented

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, Premier Tolmie, officials of the city headed by Mayor Anscomb, and a large party of prominent residents of Victoria were entertained at a formal banquet yesterday evening by the Nippon Yusen Kaisha aboard the new motorliner Hikawa Maru at the Rithet piers.

The main dining saloon of the Hikawa Maru was artistically decorated for the affair, and after a tour around the ship the guests sat down for dinner, each place being gay with a handsome souvenir menu card and a favor in the form of a Japanese jewel case. The tables were arranged with tiny vases of roses and maidenhair fern, while two large plants of Japanese plum blossom, cleverly done in paper, occupied the place of honor behind the captain's table.

Mayor Anscomb acted as official toastmaster, and after proposing toasts to the King and the Emperor of Japan told the gathering how pleased he was to be entertained at such a magnificent banquet by so distinguished a Japanese steamship company, whose ships plied in every part of the world. The mayor reminded the guests that Great Britain and Japan had been friends for many years, and during the Great War had stood shoulder to shoulder. The mayor spoke of the company whose guest he was, saying that it was by far the greatest steamship corporation operating under the flag of the rising sun. On behalf of the city of Victoria he wished the N.Y.K. and the Hikawa Maru every success, and said it was his personal wish as well as of all those he represented, that the new vessel would be well filled with passengers and cargo every voyage between Victoria and the Orient.

TWO MORE COMING

Lieutenant-Governor Bruce was the principal speaker of the evening. After thanking the N.Y.K. for its hospitality, he wished the Hikawa Maru and her two sister-ships which will come here within the next few months, every success in their operation on the Pacific. His Honor spoke of all the new ships which he had welcomed to Victoria in the last few weeks and told of the new vessels which were coming in Victoria before the end of the current year. He saw in this a great future for the port of Victoria as a shipping centre, and reminded the guests that they had a certain duty in regard to all these beautiful new ships, that of keeping them well filled with freight and passengers. The Lieutenant-Governor also spoke of the friendship between Great Britain and Japan.

The new ship was welcomed to Victoria and British Columbia by Premier Tolmie, who spoke on behalf of his government. The premier referred to the wonderful facilities aboard the new ship for passenger travel and gave a brief resume of the N.Y.K. since its inauguration. The Premier, addressing officials of the company, said that British Columbia was wealthy in natural resources and could provide full cargoes for many ships for years to come. He hoped that the N.Y.K. would take away much B.C. material in its ships. Trade, he said, would strengthen the ties between Japan and Canada more than anything else.

NAVAL TIES

The toast to the Nippon Yusen Kaisha was proposed by Commander Leonard W. Murray, R.C.N., senior naval official at the Esquimalt Naval Barracks. Commander Murray said that the honor was not a personal one, but a courtesy to the British navy. He told of the close terms on which the navies of Great Britain and Japan had always worked, particularly during the Great War. The Japanese navy was composed of valiant men, Commander Murray said, and Admiral Togo was revered in Japan as Great Britain revered the memory of Lord Nelson. Commander Murray briefly traced the history of the N.Y.K. and wished the new ship every success.

Replying to this toast K. Hotta, retiring N.Y.K. manager in Seattle, introduced H. Sawai, who succeeds him. Mr. Hotta took the opportunity of telling the guests how happy he had been in his associations with them during his regime in Seattle and said he was returning to Japan, confident that he had many friends in Victoria. He thanked his associates for their courtesies and said he hoped they would extend the same to his successor. Mr. Sawai, in replying, said he was sure he would enjoy his term of office in Seattle. He paid a delicate compliment to Victoria and the natural beauty around the city when he remarked that as he came in from Japan the other day and saw the hills around Victoria lit up with brilliant yellow broom he thought that the city was decorated to welcome the Hikawa Maru on her maiden voyage. It was a magnificent sight, he said, and he would like to visit Victoria often during his residence in Seattle. With true Japanese hospitality and graciousness Mr. Sawai hoped he would see Victorians often in Seattle and hoped that they would call upon him.

Proposing the toast to "Our Guests" Capt. S. Akiyoshi, commander of the Hikawa Maru, thanked everyone for being so kind to him and his ship on her first visit to the Northwest. He then asked Mr. Hotta, Mr. Sawai and A. H. Hebb of Victoria to rise and drink a toast to the guests of the evening. This toast was replied to by P. B. Fowler, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, who thanked the captain and officials of the line for their hospitality in entertaining such a large party at so sumptuous a banquet. Mr. Hebb, local agent for the N.Y.K., in a few words thanked the guests for attending, and said it was a pleasure for himself and the N.Y.K. to see them there.

During the evening Mrs. W. H. Wilson was heard in two song selections, accompanied at the piano by Miss Dorothy Morton. Both artistes were presented with beautiful bouquets by the commander of the ship following their numbers.

The time used is Pacific standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

Admiral's Wife Describes Work of Study Clubs; Bishop's Address

Rt. Rev. Bishop G. C. Murray was the guest of honor at a meeting of the subdivisions of the Catholic Women's League held under the chairmanship of the diocesan president, Miss H. O'Brien, in the K. of C. Hall, last evening, and expressed his pleasure at being present to voice his hearty approval of the work of the Catholic Women's League. His Lordship impressed upon his audience the importance of realizing that membership in the league meant membership in a world-wide organization and in a national organization and as such, each one became a vital part of the Catholic Church. He had come to the meeting not for the purpose of addressing the members, but rather to hear an address by the first national convener of study clubs for the Catholic Women's League, Mrs. W. O. Story, who with Admiral Story, were guests of the league, and he had welcomed this opportunity of expressing his appreciation of the league and his deep interest in its development.

Miss O'Brien in welcoming the Bishop voiced the wish to the meeting that he might long be permitted to remain as the guide and father of the people of his new diocese.

STUDY CLUBS

As convener of Study Clubs for the league in Canada, Mrs. Story gave a clever resume of the pioneer work of the Catholic Women's League since its formation, and of the difficulties and problems which confronted the first officers in the various parts of the country. As convener of Study Clubs it had become apparent to her that careful consideration must be given to a nation-wide plan which might be followed and adapted to suit the requirements of various centres; that there must be co-ordination for the general good and a programme evolved which would be feasible in operation from coast to coast and through which the members of the league might secure correct information, and an opportunity for reading, discussion and clear thinking, and facility of self-expression in the league meetings.

Upon the occasion of the opening of the fine new highway that links the east with the west, somebody had said that what was most needed by Canadians was education, more education and still more education about Canada. So in a three-fold way the Study Club idea might be worked out successfully by members of the Catholic Women's League, as Catholics, as women, and as citizens she said. In the first instance there was the great wealth of the beautiful liturgy of the church to be studied; in the second instance the welfare of the family and the home, so vital to the state. "We are too apt, said the speaker, to take the family and the home for granted, we must be prepared to defend the rights of the family and the home and to take an intelligent stand in all matters which might strike at the foundations of these sacred institutions; thirdly as citizens of Canada there is much to be learned so that an intelligent interest may be taken, and that the underlying principles of right may be understood, and general information concerning our vast Dominion in the making, brought to the knowledge of our people. In this way, Christian rather than pagan tendencies will be strengthened."

JUNIOR SUBDIVISIONS

Mrs. Story paid tribute to the promising work of the junior subdivisions, in which the hope and the future of the league will rest.

Rev. Father Wood, who with Rev. Father Evans, Rev. Father L. J. Bradley of Port Alberni, and Admiral Story occupied seats on the platform, spoke briefly in cordial welcome to Mrs. Story. He heartily commented her references to the daily use of the missal, and the outline of her study plan for the clubs to be formed. As diocesan chaplain he had great pleasure in the words of His Lordship upon the national scope of the league, and echoed the Bishop's commendation of the work of its members.

Rev. Father C. E. Evans, rector of the cathedral, spoke briefly of the work of study clubs from the movement in 1880 in Germany to that of 1910 in England, with the latter of which he had been actively associated for some years. Different problems had interested different localities, and he found a vast field for study in the excellent outline given by Mrs. Story, Christian doctrine, family life and citizenship.

At the close of the addresses those who had not already been presented to His Lordship were given an opportunity of meeting, and he remained in conversation with the president of the subdivisions and many friends from other parts of Canada.

The hall was prettily decorated with gold and blue lupin and delphinium, the tables on the platform bearing tall vases of these flowers in the league colors, while flags and emblems were displayed about the walls.

Dr. Wilson to Speak At Annual Meeting Of Y.M.C.A. To-night

Dr. W. G. Wilson, of the First United Church, will be the feature speaker at the annual meeting of the Y.M.C.A. general membership in the association this evening.

Supper will be served at 6.30 o'clock, and will be followed by a short musical programme and reports. The soloists for the evening are Miss Grace Platt, soprano, and J. Townsend, bass. Short reports will be given by the finance chairman, F. M. McGregor; nominating committee, V. R. Carver; general secretary, W. S. Maguire, and the ladies' auxiliary.

Immediately following the annual meeting, the board of directors will hold its monthly board meeting, at which the election of board members will take place, along with the regular monthly business transactions.

Slum

Phyllis—You mustn't take Jack too literally, dear. He probably means that you are a very plain type.

Victimized

Young Man (to messenger boy)—What did Miss Brown say when you gave her the flowers?

Boy—She asked the fellow who was sitting with her if he would like one for his buttonhole.

Tender Juicy Steaks

Cooked to Perfection

Having installed in our kitchen a new electrically operated "Jiffy" Grill, we have now made arrangements for the "ageing" and maturing of steer loins to provide our restaurant patrons with tender, juicy steaks, cooked and served in a fraction of the time it would ordinarily take by the old-fashioned frying-pan method.

Our patrons may rest assured that the steer loins used have been matured in our coolers just the correct length of time necessary to produce a real tender, palatable steak. Moreover the "Jiffy" Grill cooks scientifically, allowing no shrinkage and preserving intact the valuable natural juices of the meat so necessary to proper health.

Story-telling for the youngsters, properly-directed athletics on equipment now available at the parks and baseball, softball and other games will be handled.

VICTORIA BEHIND

Alderman Worthington, who has just returned from the convention of the International Association of Parks Commissioners of the Pacific Coast at Los Angeles, declared Victoria was behind many Coast cities in regard to playground supervision. During his trip south he took the opportunity to visit parks and playgrounds in several centres and has secured several ideas for the development of the scheme here.

Los Angeles has a separate municipal playground committe and spends something like $900,000 a year for the direction and entertainment of the children at parks and beaches, he pointed out. In Vancouver a staff of thirty persons is employed from May 24 until September 1 at the various civic playing centres.

TAUGHT SINGING

"Pretty club houses with all facilities for the children are provided in some Los Angeles playgrounds," Alderman Worthington said. "In one place I saw a woman seated at a piano with a group of youngsters around her and she was teaching them singing."

The Y.M.C.A. will work in co-operation with the parks board on the local programme and will look after the supervision of the instructors at the various grounds, it was stated. Mr. Shoemaker and Archie McKinnon, phy-

Line-up In China War Changes As Battle Goes On Armistice Near in Honan-Shantung Campaign and President Chiang Rushes South to Lead Nationalist Army in New Drive on Rebels There; In North General Feng Negotiates to Rejoin Nationalist Forces.

Canadian Press

Shanghai, June 12. — The Nationalist Government and Northern Alliance rebel forces were reported to-night to be seeking an armistice after a month of indecisive fighting in Honan and Shantaung provinces.

The peril in its northern province lessened, the government assembled its armies to beat back the southern rebels from Kwangsi province, marching against Yangtse River cities. President Chiang Kai-shek rushed by airplane from the northern battlefields to Hankow to direct personally a big offensive against the southern invaders.

FENG READY TO SWING

Nanking, China, June 12.—Official military reports from Hankow state that because of a lack of ammunition and food, a representative of Marshal has approached President Chiang Kai-shek, offering to surrender and expressing willingness to attack the rebellious troops of the Shansi government.

Feng was said to have demanded in return that the Nationalist government pay $3,000,000 for the reorganization of the Kuominchun or people's army, of which he is leader. Feng's plan was said to divide the army into fifteen divisions and to reserve the provinces of Chihli, Shansi and Honan as their garrison areas.

Chiang Kai-shek was stated to have refused the offer, demanding Feng first attack Shansi as a demonstration of his sincerity.

In the midst of the vigorous drive which Yen Hsi-shan, governor of Shansi has been making on Chiang Kai-shek, chief of the Nanking Nationalist Government, reports that Feng Yu-hsiang was planning to turn against Yen, his erstwhile partner in the revolt against Chiang, suggest the possibility of a new line-up in the already complicated Chinese situation.

Feng has repeatedly played a lone hand in the numerous developments in China during the past ten years, now siding with one group and again with the other, each time using his peasants' army as his chief weapon. Feng co-operated with the Nationalist Government several years ago, but then quarreled with Chiang Kai-shek and went over to Yen Hsi-shan. Together they organized a powerful movement in the North against China, which has placed the Nanging Government in a serious position.

Of late, however, Feng has not been co-operating very closely with Yen, and to-day's report from Nanking would indicate he is again contemplating switching sides.

Famous Writer Was Friend of Children

"Father's coming home!" The Kingsley children ran merrily about the house. They could hardly wait. Their father had been up to London to attend the wedding of the Prince of Wales, and how they had missed him! He was their favorite playmate.

"Here he comes!" shouted the outposts, and all the children went running. He tried to gather them all in one arm. With the other hand he held his dress hat, upside down.

"Look in my hat," he chuckled. They looked. It was full of little cakes and bonbons he had brought from the party. How they all laughed when they thought of their father, a supposedly dignified minister, bringing home a hatful of bonbons.

The Reverend Charles Kingsley, born June 12, 1819, in England, was a wonderful father. For the amusement of his children he wrote a famous book, "The Water Babies," which children all over the world read and love.

SALMON PRICES ARE AGREED ON

Vancouver, June 12.—Agreement on prices to be paid by British Columbia salmon canners during the season just opening was reached by the joint committee of operators and fishermen yesterday evening, it was announced.

The basis accepted, and which the fishermen's representatives will submit to a meeting of fishermen likely to be held on Saturday at New Westminster, is:

Fifty cents each for sockeye.
Twenty-two and one-half cents for cohoes.
Four cents each for pinks.

FOURTH MEETING

Negotiations have been going on between canners and fishermen for a considerable time, yesterday evening's meeting being the fourth during five weeks. The prices agreed upon by the committee are a compromise, which it is expected will prove acceptable.

The prices are on an "independent lay" basis, and there is an additional understanding that gear and equipment will be rented to the fishermen by the canners on approximately the same basis as prevailed in 1929.

The fishermen's committee consisted of J. Brodwick, chairman; J. Nelson, L. N. Rudolph, and Messrs. Iversen, Cormack and Clark. The canners were represented by Richard Bell-Irving, R. R. Payne and Clifford Thomas.

Many fishermen have set out for up-coast fishing grounds, it is stated, to be ready for opening of the sockeye season on June 20. The season on the west coast opened ten days ago, and the men have been fishing with the understanding that agreement prices would be retroactive.

NEW COMPETITION

In announcing the prices, the canners issued a report on market conditions, indicating unfavorable prospects in the various areas in which eighty per cent of the British Columbia pack must be sold.

In the United Kingdom, according to the report, Russian interests are guaranteeing buyers they will undersell whatever prices may be asked for pink salmon by any other producers. Japanese pinks have always sold lower than British Columbia products, and with Russians under-cutting their quotation, British Columbia pinks will have but limited chance.

The preferential markets of Australia are also acutely affected by the Siberian competition. Sockeye, for instance, is being offered at $11.16, as compared with a price of $16.75 named by British Columbia canners last year. Disparity in competitive prices is equally great in other varieties, it is stated.

The budget was approved with provision for an official visitation of the grand master to Dawson City lodge, together with grants to the relief boards of Victoria and Vancouver.

Resolutions complimenting the members of the Victoria committee, the press and the Victoria Girls' Band were adopted with enthusiasm.

Greetings from the Patriarchs Militant were conveyed to the Grand Lodge by a detachment in full uniform, which paraded under the command of Col. Alfred Procter, departmental commander. The greeting were expressed by J. T. McDonald, past grand representative.

The official proceedings will terminate this afternoon and will be followed this evening by a grand invitation ball at the Shrine Auditorium.

FOG WAS DENSE

"I was up on the forecastle," Farrell told the Associated Press. "The fog was very thick. The tanker appeared without warning. I think there was just one whistle. I felt the shock. It was surprisingly light.

"I think we hit her just aft of amidships. In about two minutes she exploded. The explosion was tremendous. I don't mean it was so loud, but it seemed to have a lot of power behind it."

The detonation, he related, sent out a shower of oil on the water, turning the sea around into a mass of living flame. People rushed from the starboard side of the Fairfax, which had taken the brunt of the blast. Passengers, whose staterooms lined the flame-swept deck, burst out only to find fire all about them. It was at that time, in a panic, that they leaped for safety into the sea.

BOATS ON FIRE

"The canvas on the decks was burning and the boats above were on fire," Farrell said, "and people on the top deck were trying to get down to the deck below by climbing over the rail and lowering themselves down. Some fell over."

He said Pharmacist's mate, J. B Walker, dargged several person to safety before he was pulled over the side of the ship himself in a vain effort to save a woman.

The naval group aboard almost alone fought and subdued the threatening fire than charred the port side of the Fairfax. Members of this group played an important role in rigging the emergency antenne to replace the wireless equipment carried away by the blast. Farrell said he understood no SOS call was sent out.

NEGROES IN BOAT

The navy men aboard, bound for Norfolk, Va., received little aid from the crew, Farrell asserted. Negro members had sought the starboard side, and he counted eleven sitting in one lifeboat.

"Some of the officers seemed more excited even than the passengers," he said. "They must have had mostly a new bunch on, I guess.

"Some of the crew didn't know where the lifebelts were. We had to break doors and windows to get out the life preservers.

"It seemed an hour before we got clear of the flaming oil. Actually, I suppose it was ten minutes."

Farrell said he understood one lifeboat was put down during that time, but it was lost in the fire. The tanker went down quickly and not once did he hear a voice from her decks.

As they awaited the coming of the steamship Gloucester, also a vessel of the Merchants' and Miners' Transportation Company, women wept and men were scarcely less calm. It was not known, then, he said, whether the ship would sink or not.

NURSE PRAISED

Standing out as a glorious example of fortitude, presence of mind and willingness to serve others during the panic and in the heartbreaking period following, Farrel said, was Mrs. N. A. Dayton of Boston, a former registered nurse. Obtaining medical supplies, she worked tirelessly, rendering relief to those burned and otherwise injured. She obtained bandages and dressing and hypodermic needles and gave soothings opiates to those in agony.

OFFER OF AID DECLINED

Boston, June 12.—An offer of assistance from the United States Coastguard Cutter Tampa, twenty minutes run away from the scene of the Fairfax-Pinthis disaster, was declined by the Fairfax, Commander S. V. Parker of the Tampa, reported to-day.

In his report to coastguard headquarters, Commander Parker revealed he had intercepted messages between the Merchants' and Miners' Company liners Fairfax and Gloucester, Tuesday night, soon after the crash that claimed forty-six lives. The message told of the necessity of transferring passengers.

Fearing an accident, Commander Parker ordered a query flashed to the Fairfax asking if assistance was needed. The reply that came back, he reported, was "All O.K."

Officers at coastguard headquarters said the Tampa was equipped with an excellent hospital bay and an able medical staff. The Tampa, they said, could have made much faster time than the Gloucester in getting the injured to Boston for treatment.

HAD FULL CARGO

Boston, June 12.—The motorship Pinthis, sent to the bottom after a crash with the steamship Fairfax Tuesday night, was loaded with a full cargo of 504,000 gallons of high-test gasoline.

In making this known, Captain Red M. Gower, superintendent of the Marine Division of the Lake Tankers' Corporation, Fall River, Mass., owners of the vessel, said the type of gasoline made the explosion which split the craft the more certain after the collision.

In his opinion, sparks from the iron and steel plates of both vessels ignited the gasoline released from the tanker by the impact.

Captain A. V. Jones, master of the tanker, had sailed her without mishap for six years. The Pinthis was built in 1919 at a cost of $185,000. Her final cargo was valued at $101,000.

She was bound for Portland, Maine, to unload part of her cargo, and then to proceed to Chelsea to dispose of the remainder at the Shell Oil Company plant, which had chartered the vessel.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Iyemasa Tokugawa, first Japanese Ambassador to Canada, will address the Victoria Rotary Club next Thursday.

The general meeting of the Canadian Pensioners' Association will be held tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock at premises at 740 Fisgard Street.

Speeches by Premier Tolmie, C. H. Dickie and D. B. Plunkett, as well as a lengthy programme of sports will feature the Saanich Conservative Association's picnic at Elk Lake on Dominion Day.

Thorough organization throughout the different wards in preparation for the coming Dominion election will be undertaken by the Saanich Conservatives, it was announced at their meeting yesterday evening. It is understood that C. H. Dickie, Conservative candidate, will speak at the next gathering.

Arrangements for the Victoria and Island Life Underwriters' Association's annual picnic were postponed at to-day's function on account of the illness of H. Shade, at whose summer home the event was scheduled to be staged. A vote of sympathy to Mr. Shade was passed.

For failing to park his car parallel to the curb T. F. Patterson was fined $5 in the city police court this morning. P. Woodley was fined $10 for driving an automobile past a standing street car. L. W. McVittie, charged with failing to pay a trade license, was remanded for one week.

To discuss market questions with Douglas S. Cole, Canadian Trade Commissioner, at Bristol, W. W. Duncan, head of the Markets Branch of the Department of Agriculture in the Provincial Government, left for the mainland yesterday evening. After conferring with Mr. Cole, who will shortly go east, Mr. Duncan will return to this city.

The Christian Brothers and the students of St. Louis College held a reception in honor of Rt. Rev. Bishop G. C. Murray yesterday in the auditorium of St. Ann's Academy. His Lordship was attended by his clergy and Mother Provincial and Sister Superior of the Convent were present. A Chorus Vivat was sung by the boys, and an address, presented by Vincent Butler, voiced the welcome of the students. Three resounding cheers led by Rev. Father Evans greeted his remarks. The Christian Brothers as old friends of the Redemtorist Order and of the bishop himself, were congratulated upon the excellence of the morning's entertainment.

OBITUARY

The remains of Mrs. Jane Young are reposing at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel, from where the funeral will take place on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in Ross Bay Cemetery.

The funeral of George Benjamin Sudbury took place from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, L. Kenworthy officiating in the presence of many friends. The hymns sung were "Rock of Ages" and "Nearer, My God, to Thee." A large number of beautiful floral offerings were placed on the casket and hearse. The pallbearers were: Herald Gray, W. Millard, J. W. Harkness and W. H. Graham. The remains were laid to rest in Royal Oak Burial Park.

There passed away on Wednesday evening at the family residence, 3292 Tennyson Avenue, Richard Coles, aged fifty-eight years. The late Mr. Coles was born in England and had resided in the Province for thirty-five years. He is mourned by his widow; one daughter, Mrs. N. Buchanan of Vancouver; one son, Cecil of Victoria; his mother, Mrs. Robertson of Victoria, two brothers in England and four brothers and a sister in Victoria. The remains are resting at McCall Bros.' Funeral Home. Announcement of funeral will be made later.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon in McCall Bros.' Chapel for Hans Lewis Peterson. Rev. E. W. P. Carter conducted the service, during which the hymns "Rock of Ages" and "Nearer, My God, to Thee" were sung. Interment was in Royal Oak Burial Park. The following acted as pallbearers: R. Walker, J. Walker, F. Walker, E. Peterson, C. Foote and P. Beale.

HAZELTON TRIP STARTS FRIDAY FROM BLAINE

Fifty Canadian and Americans Study Alaska Highway Project

Road Advocates Will Be Guests of B.C. Government

The tour of fifty prominent Canadians and Americans to Hazelton, directing international attention on a highway to Alaska will provide British Columbia with a remarkable opportunity to exploit its scenery and secure invaluable advertising, Premier Tolmie stated to-day.

Some of those who will take the trip, left Victoria to-day for Vancouver and will proceed to Blaine to join the Washington delegates and all will assemble at Vancouver to start the journey as guests of the British Columbia Government. Premier Tolmie has invited representative men from both sides of the line and U.S. highway advocates are enthusiastic for the construction of a road straight across British Columbia and Yukon territory into the heart of Alaska making the Pacific Highway the longest ribbon of pavement in the world.

Hon. E. W. Sawyer, assistant secretary of the Interior of the United States Government, Senator Condon, of Washington, representing the state; Major Malcolm Elliott, chairman of the Alaska Highway Commission, representative of Washington newspapers and automobile organizations, will meet Canadian representatives at Blaine to-morrow, to start on the tour Saturday. Dr. E. P. Doolittle, of Toronto, president of the Canadian Automobile Association, will join the party in Vancouver. Premier Tolmie, Hon. N. S. Lougheed, Minister of Public Works, and Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Minister of Mines, will go to Blaine to-morrow to meet the United States delegates and will accompany the caravan on the trip north. Lieut.-Governor Bruce will join the caravan at Hazelton. Bruce A. McKelvie, Director of Publicity for the Provincial Government, has the details of the tour in hand.

"We hope the trip will impress United States members of the party with the splendid scenery we have in British Columbia. They will see it far better from an automobile than they would from a car window. We should secure a lot of publicity that should bring tourists. We know the results California has had from tourists. First they went as tourists and later as investors," said Premier Tolmie.

Lawyers End Arguments on Ryder Estate

Lawyers to-day concluded their arguments before the Court of Appeal in suit of Humphrey H. Jones of Victoria and Vancouver, against Samuel Ryder of St. Alban's, England, for the rents from the 36,000-acre Ryder estate, hotel and lands on the Kettle Valley near Yale, B.C.

T. Edward Clark, an English solicitor, who moved to Canada and took up his residence in Victoria, became heir to a fortune in England as a result of the death of a titled family connection and bought from Mr. Ryder the whole estate for $500,000. The dispute over the disposal of rents arose, as Mr. Clark refused to complete the purchase when fire destroyed the $75,000 sawmill on the property. Mr. Ryder has been receiving the rents, but Mr. Jones claims them under a mortgage agreement.

The court announced that it would reserve its decision. J. B. Clearihuus of Victoria appeared for Mr. Jones and R. M. Macdonald of Vancouver for Mr. Ryder.

Rotary to Stage Nations' Pageant

A gigantic children's festival, entitled the "Pageant of Nations," will be staged by the Rotary Club during the last week in September, it was announced at to-day's luncheon of the club. L. C. Bessanto, formerly director of physical education in Nova Scotia, will direct the pageant which will be one of extraordinary beauty and extent.

Octopus, Taken In Gorge, Lands On City Sidewalk

A fourteen-foot octopus wandered a long way from its usual habitat this morning and as a result is on view in front of W. N. Lenfesty's store, Government Street.

The devil-fish was pulled out of water in the upper reaches of the Gorge, just east of Craigflower Bridge.

It was noticed by a man passing across the bridge. With the aid of a pike pole he went after it and Mr. Octopus reached out one of its tenacious tentacles and hooked on to the pole. It was pulled out of the water.

It is believed to be the first time one of these repulsive sea creatures has been spotted in the locality, although they are quite common off the harbor entrance.

Up to 2 o'clock this afternoon three parties had claimed the honor of catching the devil-fish.

INSURANCE MEN DISLIKE CLAUSE IN NEW BILL

Underwriters Object to Making Public Private Business of Agents

Pass Over Matter of Office Staff Members Writing Policies For Commission

Objection to any law which would force a life insurance agent to divulge matters in his private business, was voiced by the members of the Victoria and Island Life Underwriters' Association at their luncheon in Spencers' dining-room to-day. The discussion arose out of the reading of a letter from J. A. Birmingham, who recently went over the draft of the Agents' Licensing Bill with the local members of the association.

F. Lewin, president, brought up the matter of giving complete data on the amount each agent sold. He, along with the committee, which considered the draft of the bill, frowned upon the clause. He also referred to the licensing of members of the office staff, saying that such a practice was unfair to field men.

CAUSE OF CLAUSE

F. Fleming noted that the clause relating to the publishing of the number of policies each agent sold was aimed to prevent part-timers from "scalping" policies of friends. Some time ago, Mr. Fleming stated, each agent had to write more than twelve policies to be eligible for a license.

It was the general opinion of the board that if an agent was working legally, it was none of the department's business how much he was making.

On a unanimous vote the body went on record against any section which would pry into the private business of the men.

AGAINST BROKERS

A section, aimed to hit brokers not functioning in accordance with ethical practices, was received with favor by the meeting, but Mr. Lewin voiced the opinion that brokers could not be stopped if they wished to carry on.

POSSIBLY HELPFUL

Dealing with the question of allowing members of the office staff to sell policies, Mr. Lewin suggested that it might be of value to allow them to carry on in that way if the companies were trying to develop them into field agents. The matter was passed over by the body.

RESUME WORK ON OCEAN HIGHWAY

Men Under Engineer Swan Pushing Through Ground Beyond Jordan River

Construction work has been recommenced on the Ocean Highway between Jordan River and Port Renfrew, and will be steadily carried forward during the summer, it was announced to-day by Hon. N. S. Lougheed, Minister of Public Works.

H. L. Swan, departmental engineer, is in charge of the road construction operations on the West Coast route.

Several gangs of men are employed, and clearing, grubbing and grading is being carried on at a point about four miles west of Jordan River.

The work is of a very heavy nature, as the road runs through big timber and over rocky terrain, while timber bridges have to be constructed over yawning chasms and rushing streams.

The government engineers are also engaged in improving the existing highway between Sooke and Jordan River.

The entire work is being supervised by Patrick Philip, deputy minister and chief engineer of the department.

Two first offence charges of being intoxicated in a public place were heard in the city police court this morning, the offenders being fined $25, or in default ten days.

ROTARY IS TOLD FESTIVAL VALUE BY H. BECKWITH

Fine Advertising For City and Excellent For Cultural Development

St. Louis Choir Boys Entertain Club Members With Selections

"The Victoria Musical Festival Association has come to occupy a very important place in this community and in the northwest," declared Harold A. Beckwith, president, in addressing the Rotary Club at luncheon in the Empress Hotel to-day.

The festival was valuable to the city in two outstanding respects, Mr. Beckwith declared. First, the publicity which it gained for the city was of great importance. It had gained such a reputation that competitors from all over the northwest attended. Moreover a reception committee, inaugurated this year, had a great effect in displaying Victoria's hospitality to visitors. Second, the degree of interest in musical matters in Victoria has gone up more than one can describe during the four years the festival has been held, he declared, instancing the growth of the girls' band and the development of youthful soloists and instrumentalists.

Mr. Beckwith outlined the large task behind the staging of the festival each year, paying tribute to the ardent and efficient workers of the association and to the support it had received from the city, municipalities and other public bodies and firms. Work had already been started, he pointed out, on the 1931 festival. A large syllabus had to be drawn up and printed by October and after the first of next year, weekly meetings of the executive would be necessary to carry out arrangements.

St. Louis choir, winners of the Wilkerson Shield for junior choirs at the festival, provided the luncheon entertainment, rendering two numbers as a combined group while a solo was given by Jack Hickey and hornpipe dances executed by its members. Brothers Keogh and Russell were in charge of the boys while Brian Burdon-Murphy acted as accompanist.

REBEKAHS END SESSIONS HERE

Installation of Officers This Afternoon Closes Business

Installation of the new officers of the Rebekah Assembly took place this afternoon as the closing event of the three days of business conducted at the Shrine Auditorium.

At this morning's session many committee reports were received and adopted, the most important being a recommendation that a number of lodges in some districts be in future grouped together under one district deputy-president.

This evening the members will be guests at a grand invitation ball to be held at the Shrine Auditorium.

Liquor Taken Over By Officials Is to Be Sold

Vancouver, June 12.—At the close of business yesterday customs officers made a check of liquor in private warehouses here and found there were 6,193 cases still uncleared.

According to the Dominion regulations this liquor is now confiscated, and G. A. Allen, customs collector, is taking immediate steps to offer the liquor for sale at public auction to the Liquor Control Boards of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia.

"In the event of a satisfactory bid," said Mr. Allen to-day, "the goods will be offered for sale and if no satisfactory bid is received the goods will be destroyed."

"Use Palmolive twice a day"

urges

Mme. Elin Dahlstrand

foremost beauty specialist of Stockholm

"This fine facial soap keeps the surface of the skin well ventilated. It is bland and neutral. Use it with warm water, for careful cleansing, then rinse with cold water or ice to prevent relaxation of the skin."

Hamngatan 10, Stockholm

Every skin needs the deep cleansing which only the pure vegetable oils of palm and olives can give. These cosmetic oils have been known for generations as nature's greatest beautifiers.

"HOWEVER successful I am with my beauty treatments, all my efforts would be in vain if my clients did not continue the treatments in their own homes," says Mme. Dahlstrand. "My principle for home treatments is first of all to keep the skin clean, the most vital condition for beauty, and Palmolive Soap is my valuable assistant in the service of beauty."

In all Sweden there is no more important beauty shop than that of Mme. Dahlstrand, of Stockholm, who gives this interview on beauty. Her salon is housed in a magnificent marble palace, and her beauty theory was learned in Paris, centre of the cosmetic arts.

"This fine facial soap," she goes on to say, "keeps the surface of the skin well protected. It is bland and neutral. Use it with warm water, for careful cleansing, then rinse with cold water or ice to prevent relaxation of the skin."

Beware of irritation

So many soaps irritate while they cleanse. They are apt to roughen the texture of the skin and spoil its delicate coloring. Palmolive is a pure vegetable oil soap. Its color, its odor, its very feeling is that of nature's great cosmetic oils. It cleanses safely, beautifies easily.

Mme. Dahlstrand is one of a great international group of beauty specialists who have discovered facts about Palmolive for themselves and who now tell their patrons to use this soap in preference to any other. Today there are over 19,813 such experts. Here is the simple home treatment on which they all agree:

Massage a bland lather of Palmolive Soap and warm water gently into the skin, letting the lather get deep into every tiny pore. Then rinse away soap, dirt, make-up, with warm water, finally with cold, and you'll find your skin is wonderfully soft and smooth.

You will like Palmolive. You will be using it soon for the bath, too, since it costs even less than quite ordinary soaps. Follow Mme. Dahlstrand's advice. Begin this very day.

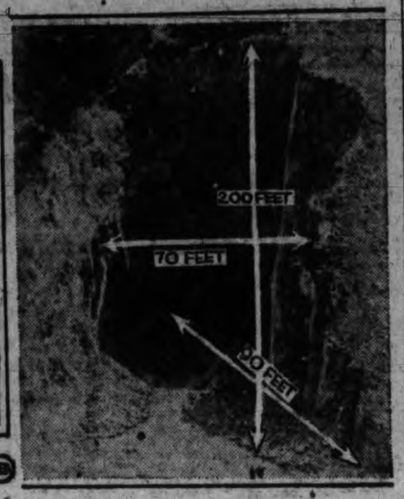
WHEN 60,000 POUNDS OF DYNAMITE WENT OFF



Here is what happened when a cement company blasted the side of a mountain near Salt Lake City, Utah, with 60,000 pounds of dynamite in a single charge, loosening enough carbonate rock to last it for three years. Tons and tons of rock were hurled hundreds of feet into the air, showering over an area of a half mile. The picture at the left was snapped at the moment of the blast; the one at the right shows the gigantic hole that resulted. Paul Talmage, who took this picture, suffered several broken ribs when struck by flying rock, though he was more than a quarter of a mile away.

HERE IS INSTANT RELIEF FOR

DEAFNESS

Head Noises, Catarrh

ROARING and blasting sounds, discharge, pains, sensitive and tender ears, and catarrh trouble. You will be surprised how quickly Aurine will help you. You may be a chronic long-time sufferer, you may have tried many things without relief, but do not give up hope before you know what Aurine can do for you. Dr. Edward Kolar, M.D., said, "Aurine helped cases I had given up as hopeless. A truly remarkable scientific remedy."

John Meredith of Canada says, "I have suffered from ear trouble for over 50 years. At times I would be stone deaf. I have only used half of your bottle of Aurine and I find it a great relief. All the head noises have gone and I can hear people talking clear. I heard the choir in our church and the organ play for the first time in 3 years. I also heard the minister read the Scripture."

Stop paying high prices for earphones, stop buying expensive treatment and enjoy the glorious relief that more than a half-million others have found in Aurine. A few drops in each ear and relief comes instantly. Mr. R. F. Maxwell, a well-known Deputy Sheriff, says, "Just started using my second bottle and am glad to state that I can now hear my watch tick. Today was the first time, this summer, I heard the church bell ring." No matter how stubborn or what your trouble is, you must try Aurine. No risk, no chance, no doubt. Aurine must do the work or cost you nothing. Our Book "How to Take Care of the Ears" sent free. Address AURINE COMPANY, CHICAGO, ILL.

PLANTAGENET VOTERS URGED TO USE CARE

Committee of Protest Against Consolidation Issues Manifesto

Warning the ratepayers of Plantagenet consolidated school district "to make haste slowly," the committee of protest against supercession of the four school districts of Mill Bay, Sylvania, Cobble Hill and Bench has issued the following statement over the signatures of V. H. Stewart-McLeod, J. J. Dugan, A. D. Welstead, A. B. James, Mrs. E. H. Keene, George Parkinson, W. H. Stuart and H. B. Wingate-White, secretary:

"The committee wish to make perfectly plain at the outset that they have not opposed the establishment of the Plantagenet consolidated school area because they were necessarily antagonistic to the principles of consolidation.

"From start to finish they have taken the stand that the Plantagenet district was improperly constituted, inasmuch as the ratepayers of the outlying districts were in ignorance of what was being done and the change was therefore made without their consent.

"This, in their opinion, constituted a violation of the rights of property and involved a vital principle of constitutional ethics, upon which the security of British institutions largely rests.

"The only opportunity the ratepayers of the outlying districts have had of expressing their views was at the meetings of protest held in the Mill Bay and Sylvania school houses, at which the Plantagenet scheme was condemned by an overwhelming majority.

"The committee have waged a long and arduous fight to secure for the outlying districts an opportunity of expressing their wishes in the matter, and they are happy to say that the Supreme Court has sustained them in their stand.

"While the merits or demerits of the Plantagenet scheme were not prime factors in determining the committee's attitude, they have naturally given considerable study and consideration to it during the past few months.

FIND PLAN FAULTY

"The Plantagenet scheme is open to the following criticism: (a) The steadily decreasing school attendance in three out of the four distrcist affected renders highly improbable the maintenance of more than a two-room school.

"The committee hold that the principal object of consolidating a number of rural school districts is to secure the establishment of a fully-graded school. This is not achieved by a two-room school. In the committee's opinion the education of the children would be liable to suffer, as each teacher would have far more pupils to instruct than under the present system.

"(b) The selection and proposed purchase of a site at Cobble Hill and the subsequent building of a new schoolhouse is not in the opinion of the committee in the best interests of the ratepayers. The site selected is on the highway and contiguous to low marshy ground. The Wilder property, available at nominal cost, would be much preferable, as it is on high dry land, well removed from any busy thoroughfare where accidents might easily occur.

BELIEVE COST $15,000

"Moreover, a good two-room school, practically new, already exists at Sylvania, and the committee feel that the possibilities of using this building should have been fully exhausted before embarking on a scheme involving the capital outlay of over $15,000. There is no reason why the selection of this site should involve any increase in the cost of transportation, and might well, if skilfully organized, effect a saving. The committee are therefore of the opinion that this proposed expenditure is quite unwarranted.

"(c) The committee find that the contention that consolidation is essential to the establishment of a superior school or high school class is untenable. Any school, or number of schools co-operating together, can obtain the establishment of a superior school provided they can secure between them the attendance of eight pupils who have passed their high school entrance examination. These conditions apply whether there is consolidation or not.

SHAWNIGAN LAKE

"The committee, after giving the most careful consideration to the whole question, have come to the unanimous conclusion that no scheme to consolidate the rural schools in this area is practical without the inclusion of Shawnigan Lake, as this addition would nearly double the school attendance. It is a matter of common knowledge that many people left the meeting at Cobble Hill on September 30 without any idea of what the respective costs and merits of the two systems really were. The committee therefore feel that the ratepayers have had no opportunity of estimating either the costs or the benefits to be derived from the Plantagenet scheme.

PROPOSE INQUIRY

"They suggest that two of their number, together with two of the advocates of the Plantagenet scheme, form a committee to thoroughly investigate the whole question from all angles and to prepare a report or reports to be submitted to the district meetings. For example, among other things, there ought to be information available on the questions of boundary rectification and the revision of the assessment roll.

"In closing the committee take the liberty of advising the ratepayers to make haste slowly and to remind them that it is easy to be wise after the event."

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

Winnipeg, June 12.—Wheat: Wheat market was decidedly heavy to-day, with prices breaking 2½ cents under the close yesterday. The chief factor was the fairly general rains or showers throughout western Canada, while at the same time foreign demand continued slow and disappointing.

Rains were heavy in some areas, but decidedly light in others, where conditions would not be improved to any extent, but generally speaking the precipitation was very welcome and will be of immense benefit. Further rains were reported falling to-day and where needed most.

The selling came largely through commission houses, partly for country account, but there was very little coming from the south or east. The buying was thin and largely profit-taking by shorts or against bids, but one large export house was credited with taking 500,000 bushels July wheat, but whether this was against, or new business could not be ascertained.

Some unfavorable reports were received from Saskatchewan, one from the crop expert of The Regina Leader, who stated that there had been a thirty-five per cent damage to 5,000,000 acres, mostly in central and northern Saskatchewan, with a large percentage of the balance turning brown from lack of moisture. This report was issued before the rains, which will change the picture to some extent, but the crop in the big central province is spotted and thin, with cutworms doing considerable damage in some areas. Two million acres in Alberta are said to be similar to Saskatchewan.

Foreign news was more favorable, with European weather improved, with a record crop in sight for Spain. Cash wheat was only in fair demand, offerings continuing light, and spreads were about unchanged to a fraction better. There was a better inquiry from abroad, but actual sales were small. Flour business quiet.

Coarse grains: These markets were all sharply lower again to-day, barley again making new lows. Selling pressure was not heavy, the weakness in wheat being the chief factor affecting coarse grains, and the precipitation in the west. Cash coarse grains were generally very quiet.

Flax: Small and featureless trade passing, with a lower trend in sympathy with the weakness in the general list.

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.

Chicago, June 12.—Wheat: Rains in western Canada served to effectually check buying demand this morning and at some time started renewed liquidation and local selling, everything combining to make a weak market. Cables were weak also, the English market reporting selling on better Canadian news pressure to sell hard winters and better weather generally throughout Europe. Export business was small, buyers holding off owing to the unsettled speculative market conditions.

The rains in Canada were extremely light in some sections but fairly heavy in others, the forecast being for cooler weather and scattered showers. In the southwest weather was fine and, with the immediate possibility of any crop scare in Canada precluded by rains, holders were nervous over the possibility of the developing of hedging pressure.

Rallies during the session were rather feeble, the weakness in stocks tending to further weaken confidence of holders. Statistical news was not specially significant. Primary receipts were 615,000 bushels against 688,000 a year ago. Winnipeg had 604 cars against 454 a year ago. Heavy shipments down the lakes are again congesting eastern positions.

Argentine shipments were estimated 3,050,000 bushels. Market needs more stimulation in way of crop news or exports to change the general trend materially.

Corn: Weakness in wheat and generally favorable weather caused a further drop in corn prices, but on the decline there was fair buying with considerable short profit-taking. The country offerings were small, only about 15,000 bushels being booked, while there was a good cash business, sales being 130,000 bushels. Spot basis was steady. Commission houses were moderate buyers on the decline, tightening the market a little.

Argentine shipments were estimated at 1,757,000 bushels and Danubian shipments were 2,074,000 bushels. Receipts here 167 cars estimated with primary arrivals of 735,000 bushels against 450,000 bushels a year ago. Showery conditions were indicated for next day or so. Think it will be hard to hold the bulges.

Oats: Regained some of the early losses. Cash basis was steady with sales of 68,000 bushels, primary arrivals 304,000. Rye: Affected mainly by wheat, demand slow.

SCATTERED RAINS AID PRAIRIE WHEAT CROP

Winnipeg, June 12.—Rains were fairly general and quite heavy in some sections, but light in others. Indications are for more.

A great deal of damage will be repaired by these, provided there are some further good rains in the sections where they have been light, there will still be a chance for a good crop, although not a bumper one.

From reports to hand, oats and barley areas will be particularly benefitted.

Winnipeg, June 12.—J. S. Fields, crop expert, after examining closely the Regina district, places the average to be reseeded or abandoned at 65 per cent, with crop in the territory tributary to the main C.P.R. line as spotty and thin.

Paris, June 12.—Weather is clear and hot and the new crop outlook in the region north of Paris is distinctly better, but crops from the central and southwest districts of France are less optimistic, as growth here is generally thin.

Hayes, Kansas, June 12.—From Salina, Hutchinson, Sterling, Lyons, Elworth and Russells, fields are muddy all the way from frequent rains the last two weeks. Cool breezy dry weather is needed. There is a slight improvement to no change since three weeks ago. The country averages 11 to 15 bushels per acre.

Saskatoon, June 12.—While the rain here yesterday only lasted forty-five minutes, it was a cloudburst north five miles, and it seems to have been confined to a narrow strip.

Lincoln, Neb., June 12.—Grain men who have been out in Nebraska wheat fields lately say that prospects of a harvest two weeks earlier than usual have been dissipated by cool weather the first week of June and cutting will not begin until early July. Wheat is showing up much better than a week ago in the southeast of Nebraska, where early prospects showed heavy infestation of Hessian fly. There is enough wheat to make fair yields unless a second brook of fly does material damage.

Winnipeg, June 12.—Western Canada weather: Winnipeg, 68, raining, has been raining most of night, forecast for scattered showers; Regina, 56, overcast, east wind, showers throughout night, forecast partly cloudy and cool; Saskatoon, 65, clear, west wind, had about half-hour good heavy rain at 5 p.m. last night, forecast clear and warm; Calgary, 58, part cloudy, west to northwest winds, comparatively cool with scattered showers throughout night; Lethbridge, 53, southwest wind, heavy showers overnight, cool with probable showers next twenty-four hours; Moose Jaw, 61, clear to cloudy last twenty-four hours, clear, bright until 4 p.m. last night when had terrific wind for twenty minutes, followed by heavy showers and rain throughout night, forecast cloudy and showers; Edmonton, 53, cloudy, strong west wind, sprinkling of rain last night, cool and cloudy last twenty-four hours, forecast, cool and unsettled.

REPARATION BONDS OVERSUBSCRIBED: MONEY DROPS TO 2½

New York, June 12.—Better feeling was created by the oversubscription accorded the German Reparations loan and by a definitely easier tone in the call money market.

After holding at an unvarying level of 3 per cent since May 6, the demand rate finally succumbed to the large offerings of funds dipping to 2½ per cent, the low level reached since March 30.

New York, June 12.—Interest in the appearance of the long awaited American portion of the German 5½ per cent loan overshadowed everything else among the bond group to-day.

The German bond was by far the most active and was accompanied by reports from bond houses they had been swamped with orders. Bankers identified with the offering syndicate said the success of the ring had exceeded expectations, although amount of oversubscription was not revealed when the books were closed by J. P. Morgan & Co. after a two-hour period.

Buying of German 7s, the so-called Dawes issue, and other European governments, were moderate and prices were steady.

Prime railroad issues were accumulated moderately with prices irregular. Interest in the rest of the domestic list was negligible and price changes were of small proportion, with many bonds motionless. International Telephone 4½s lost more than two points.

The day's financing reached a big total as a result largely of the German bond offering. Offering of the $50,000,000 Canadian National Railway 4½s bond issue was oversubscribed.

Toronto Mining Market

Toronto, June 12 (Mason and Diespecker Service).—Development work is in full swing at the Kirkland Lake properties of Oriole Mines Limited, according to official information. Directors have also announced the intention of pushing ahead on their sixty-four claims in Montbray township, Quebec, where pit and channel work was done along with some 2,000 feet of diamond drilling. It is reported that surface and pit assays from the latter property were good and that high-grade chalcopyrite has been uncovered.

Renewed interest in the mining operations in Portland Canal district is becoming more pronounced as the season advances. Development at the various Premier Gold Mine properties is responsible for much of the activity in this area, according to H. McGuire, managing director of the Woodbine Gold Mining Company Limited.

By reason of a plan to conserve ore resources during the current period of low quotations for copper, it is proposed to carry on a considerable amount of exploration and development on the Waite Ackerman Montgomery Mines.

Moderate production will be maintained, but first consideration will be given to development. The financial position of the company will be protected, but instead of aiming at earliest possible dividends at the expense of the mine, the new policy will build up the enterprise with big resources against the time when full production may resume with a much larger margin of net profit.

Tri-metal Mines Limited, whose stock was called for the first time on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange yesterday is capitalized at 5,500,000 shares, of which 2,500,000 shares have been issued and pooled. The company owns about three square miles in the Kemptville Gold District of Nova Scotia and also holds rights to approximately five square miles of property in the Snare Lake lead and zinc district above the Kemptville holdings. Three working shafts have been put down and drifting, shaft sinking and crosscutting totals more than 3,000 feet.

NATIONAL BREWERIES HOLDS STRONG ON HIGHER EARNINGS

Canadian Press

Montreal, June 12.—Prices on the whole turned definitely stronger this afternoon on the Montreal Stock Exchange and many of the early losses were recovered.

Brazilian Traction absorbed a large part of the trading and ran up 1⅛ points to 45⅛. Nickel, which was under pressure during the morning, recovered to close off, but ¼ at 25⅛. The rights were in better favor and shot up 9 cents to 37.

Abitibi declined ½ to 2½. Canada Power and Paper, however, which has been strong since announcement of its absorption of Anglo-Canadian Paper climbed a further point to 15.

Montreal Power, which touched a new low this morning, climbed to close at 60, up ⅜. Small gains were shown by Canada Car, Hamilton Bridge, McColl Frontenac, National Steel Car, Shawinigan and St. Lawrence Paper, while Power Corporation was up a point. Quebec Power rose from its low to sell unchanged at 58.

Dominion Textile eased off 4½. Fraser lost a point at 11 and Massey Harris and Steel of Canada were slightly lower.

Wednesday's drop in Montreal was the seventh consecutive decline in the index and makes a total drop for the seven trading days of 2.98 points to a new low for the year at 51.80, which is only 1.73 above the low established during the break of last fall, which was 50.07 on November 13, The Gazette to-days says in its comment wired to the B.C. Bond Corporation.

STEEL PLANTS TO EXPAND

Meetings of the executive committees of the boards of directors of the Lake Superior Corporation and Algoma Steel Corporation were held in Montreal on Tuesday. It is understood that the plans in connection with the alterations to the present plant of the Steel Corporation to permit of the manufacturing of rails up to 130 pounds and of larger structural shapes were under consideration, and that certain work in connection with these plans involving expenditure of $1,250,000 was duly authorized.

It is also understood that contracts for this work are now being placed with a view to the work being commenced immediately. It is expected that these will be completed by January, 1931. The expenditure referred to will be cared for without the necessity for any new outside financing.

National Breweries has been a noteworthy performer in the recent reactionary market here, failing to yield much ground when the general market liquidation had been at its heaviest, and revealing a robust rallying power on any turn for the better in the general trend. In addition to an apparently confident market support, the stock finds a good background in the general knowledge that in the face of generally unfavorable business conditions, this company is able to show earnings running ahead of last year.

NICKEL EXPLANATION

The proposed offering of new Nickel stock to shareholders was officially confirmed in a statement issued by President Stanley, while Mr. Stanley in a statement makes it quite clear in view of the company's huge expansion programme and the need for the company to maintain its strong liquid position, that the proposed financing is a sound development.

WHITNEY LETTER

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

BECOMING OVER-SOLD

"Since the market failure of Thursday of last week there has been an exceptional amount of confirmatory evidence that it was a real market failure which quite definitly spelled lower prices, subject to intermediate and at times quite drastic rallies.

"The failure of yesterday's market to extend Tuesday's rallies was but additional evidence that the weight of stocks overhanging the market precludes anything other than rallies engendered by an over-extended short interest. Evidence is multiplying that temporarily the market is in an oversold condition, so that the possibility is not removed that in the course of the next day or so not only will we see prices as high as those of Tuesday of this week, but even prices on the averages of five points higher.

"It is not predicted that a rally of any such proportion will develop in to-day's market. Indeed there is quite as much chance that yesterday's closing rally will fail to hold just as did that of the previous session, but a definite, if temporary, turn is near at hand, even though the longer pull prospects continue to point to a lower general average level. Regular as it may seem, a turning point for at least a sustained rally and recapture for a fair position of the current decline may hinge on the congressional vote which, from present indications, points to the passage of the present tariff bill. However undesirable it is to the entire financial and commercial community, at least something definite will have been established and the business world can at least proceed on known ground, however unsatisfactory that ground may be.

"It appears undeniable that general business has taken a turn for the worse, and until the financial community, which is all at sea at the present time, can form some kind of a reasonable opinion as to how far this latest downward trend will extend. It is not to be expected that the market can reverse its downward tendency.

"For those who disposed of stocks, either on profit or loss at the time of last week's failure, there appears no reason as yet for repurchasing them except for purely trading purposes.

"I do not believe that the type of raiding tactics which were employed in yesterday's market, and which may be attempted again to-day, will cause much additional damage. The market is quite evidently in any oversold condition, which may not crystalize into the type of rally which can hardly be postponed for more than a session or two.

"I do not believe that the present is any time to initiate short commitments, as the prospects for a materially better selling level before the end of the week are quite clear; temporarily at least, bearishness is being overdone."

BEARS THUMP WHEAT MARKET

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, June 12.—Ready to rear their heads at the slightest provocations bears took reports of general rains in Western Canada to heart to-day and gave the wheat market one of its worst thumpings in days. Prices in all futures months were off 2⅛ cents a bushel at the close.

Resisting valiantly in the first minutes of trading, the market thereafter succumbed to the bear raid without a struggle. Trading was on a fairly large scale. Heavy rains were reported throughout central and southern Manitoba, eastern Saskatchewan and in some parts of Alberta.

Loss of 2⅛ cents were marked in the three trading months, July closing at $1.09⅝, October at $1.13 and December at $1.14 to ⅝.

Weight of Loaves In Vancouver Is To Be Checked

Vancouver, June 12.—Following charges by Alderman R. N. Fraser that bakeries in Vancouver have been deliberately violating the bread by-law and have been selling fourteen-ounce loaves in sixteen-ounce wrappers to grocers and householders for at least six months, a special committee of the city council instructed the deputy chief of police to enforce the bread by-law immediately.

Alderman Fraser demanded the city bread inspectors should be asked to explain why some bakeries have been forced to comply with the regulations while others have been permitted to violate them.

Following the action of the special committee instructions were issued by the police commission to Chief of Police Bingham to proceed at once with an investigation and to prosecute if evidence of infractions of the bread by-law was secured.

STOCKS LOWER; 300 DIVIDENDS PASSED OR CUT

Market Eases Down To-day Without Vicious Break of Recent Sessions

Brokers' Loans Drop $103,000,000 For Week; Money Cut to 2½ Per Cent.

Copper Prices Again Turning Soft With Domestic Sales Down to 12½ Cents

New York, June 12.—More grief was the lot of the market for the bull to-day as the averages sagged slightly, although the big breaks of recent trading sessions were absent.

Tariff uncertainty as well as reports of sales of copper metal at 12½ 12¾ cents a pound, representing another break from the 13 cent level, were bearish factors.

THREE WEAK GROUPS

A long list of stocks again dropped to new low prices for the year, particularly in the motor, copper and rail groups.

Sales volume, however, was smaller to-day and there was not the general dumping of stocks although there was steady pressure of stocks all day.

New York, June 12 (B.C. Bond)—Brokers loans for the week show a decrease of $103,000,000 according to the official statement issued after the close of the market to-day.

At the close of the market this afternoon the Dow Jones average of thirty industrials stood at 247.18, off 1.90 points for the day; for twenty rails at 135.13, off .75 points and for twenty utilities at 91.22, off .43 points.

At mid-day to-day the selling dried up for a time, with a fair but not enthusiastic rally developing in the afternoon, but there was a more irregular tone just before the close.

NEWS FEATURES

News features which interested traders the most included announcement of heavy over-subscription of the German loan, Senator Reed's announcement that he would vote for the tariff bill, and a drop in call money to 2½ per cent from a renewal rate of three per cent.

MORE DIVIDEND CUTS

As is becoming customary, the Street was filled with stories of impending dividend reductions, poor earnings reports for the second quarter. The Wall Street Journal estimated that payments have been cut or passed on close to 300 stock issues since the beginning of the year. It is stated that more than 100 dividend meetings are scheduled over the next four or five weeks.

SCRAPING BOTTOM

Some floor traders were described as believing that stock prices were scraping bottom for the present at least, but it was impossible to discern evidence of confident buying.

LONG PULL INVESTORS NERVOUS

The Journal of Commerce says that success of professional drives against the more volatile stocks has brought considerable selling of stocks by long pull investment holders, who have been discouraged by bearish business reports and the poor technical conditions of the market.

STEEL RUMOR CAUSES SPURT

The sudden strength in U.S. Steel, The New York Times explains, was due to the report of an order to buy 60,000 shares of U.S. Steel, reputedly for Morgan interests, which spread swiftly throughout Wall Street and had an electrifying effect upon the market.

SOME LEADERS

The New York American to-day says: "Directors of Corn Products are expected to declare an extra dividend of fifty cents at the June 27 meeting.

"Technical position of American Foreign Power has been materially strengthened by heavy liquidation and professional selling over the last few days.

"Recent interest in Childs has been predicted on the knowledge that it will shortly realize to some extent on its vast real estate holdings."

WARNER BROS.' EARNINGS

While it is true that Warner Bros.' earnings are seasonably lower, final net for the year should establish a new all-time high and should support higher prices for the stock.

MIRROR'S OPINION

"Large scale buying orders from brokers who usually act for Morgan and the Steel Corporation, turned the market upward in the last half hour of trading on Wednesday, but the reasons behind the liquidation which was in progress all day remain a mystery.

"The fact that stocks rebounding sharply from new low prices has not offset the depressed feeling brought about by renewal of the selling campaign. The absence of any definite news regarding the situation is the most disturbing factor.

"One item in the day's news which will be read with a great deal of interest is that in which leaders in the steel industry look for a gradual expansion in business, which should be well under way in thirty to sixty days, with fall production around the 80 per cent level, as against 69 per cent at the present time.

"Inasmuch as market opinion must have its base in previous movements under similar circumstances, precedents say that an upward movement cannot now be long delayed. The situation now is as subnormal as it was abnormal at this time in 1929."

Studebaker Sales Cut Stock on Hand

Detroit, June 12—Studebaker May deliveries to consumers were twenty-four per cent below the total for May of last year and for the last ten days of May were eighteen per cent less. While deliveries for the first four months of the year were thirty-four per cent below last year, President Erskine announced to-day.

Mr. Erskine added that the corporation's sales for May exceeded production by more than 1,000 cars, reducing its stock of new cars on hand on June 1 in the United States and abroad to 4,528, against 7,130 last year.

Gusack, four; Lieut. Pat O'Connell, five, and Lieut. Andy Barry six."

These are special squads, with orders to enter any place where they think criminals may be quartered, without the need of search warrants or legal red tape. In addition, there are the regular cruising squads of detectives and a special foot detail combing the loop.

STATEMENTS MADE

Frank J. Loesch, aged head of the Chicago Crime Commission, denied published statements that he had demanded that Commissioners Russell and Chief Stege resign.

"What I say is merely this," he said, "that if Russell and Stege can't find the solution to this crime, they should give place to someone who can."

Russell replied to published criticism with the declaration that he had not sought the police commissionership and had not wanted it, but that he was not a "quitter" and had no intention of resigning. Stege said he had consistently done his best, and that his continued service as chief of detectives was a matter for his superior, the commissioner, to decide.

BUTTER PRICES ARE DECLINING

First Shipment From Alberta To-morrow; Strawberries Also Cheaper

Retail prices of dairy produce took a decided drop to-day, with butter down as much as 3 cents a pound on some brands. To-morrow morning the first shipment of Alberta butter is expected, and, it will sell at 37 cents a pound.

Prices on spring lamb have also decreased, with shoulders at 30 cents, and legs at 42 cents a pound.

Strawberries reached their lowest point to-day, selling in some stores at two boxes for 25 cents. It is not likely, according to reports that they will go much lower.

firemen, working under the direction of Fire Chief D. A. Boulden, turned to battle another fierce blaze a short distant from the McDiarmid building, which the flames already had consumed.

FACTORIES DESTROYED

The large lumber yard of the Caledonia Box Company was afire, and the flames quickly spread from pile to pile of timber to the company's factory, which soon was a smouldering ruin. Efforts to extinguish the fire at the box plant proved unavailing and the flames, spread by sparks and burning prairie grass, reached the plant of the Prairie City Oil Company. The strong wind continued and the plant was soon an inferno. Large stills exploded, threatening death to firemen and thousands of spectators, attracted by the leaping flames which lighted the early morning hours.

As the fire approached the oil tanks, residents in the vicinity fled from their homes. Those at a distance, where showers of sparks were falling, removed furniture and valuables from their houses.

DRUMS EXPLODED

By heroic efforts, the fire was kept from the larger storage tanks, but as the flames advanced through the refinery, large drums of oil exploded, showering the district with burning oil and sending out thick, black suffocating clouds of smoke. Then, when danger threatened scores of homes and other factory buildings, the rain came and the menace to the northwest community was over.

Many of the firemen, oil company officials and volunteers had narrow escapes as shattering explosions rocked the Prairie City Oil Company's plant, but all escaped injury.

MEN SEEN RUNNING AWAY

Timber valued at $350,000, stacked about fifty feet high and spread over a radius of a city block, was destroyed in the yard of the Caledonia Box Company. It was from the yard that residents of the district reported having seen two men run shortly before the flames leaped from a large pile of lumber. There was no chance of sparks having been blown from the McDiarmid building, as the wind swept the flames in the opposite direction.

For a time the plant of the British American Oil Company, located but a few hundred yards from the lumber yard, was menaced, and there was great danger of nearly a score of large tanks exploding, so intense was the heat. The wind, however, favored the firemen and blew the falling embers away from the British American yard and the plant escaped destruction.

Reparations Bonds Trading Starts

New York, June 12.—The German reparations bonds, which are expected to be publicly offered in this market any day now, were admitted to trading on a when issued basis on the securities market of the New York Produce Exchange to-day, the initial sale being five bonds at 91¼. They are trading under the title "German Government International 5½ per cent bonds."

ISSUE OVERSUBSCRIBED

New York, June 12.—Offering of $50,000,000 of Canadian National Railways twenty-five-year, 4¾ per cent bonds, was oversubscribed here to-day.

THE PEACOCK'S TAIL

By

Mrs. ROMILLY FEDDEN

He understood. He too was sensitive to such suggestion. For him also the green, rock-strewn glade, where the wild olives gave fantastic shade held magic. She led him in silence over the short, soft green turf beneath the gnarled branches, to the edge of the cliff, where the silvery lobes of the prickly pear and the glossy leaves of the wild pistachio pushed upward. Below, along the lane by which he had mounted, the bushes of wild geranium showed a mass of rose-colored blossom. Beyond the lane the meadow lay green, broken by rivers of white narcissus and lakes of orange marigold. Beyond the meadow the purple hills led in waves to the pale blue mountains. It was one of those moments when Nature takes on a meaning, when beauty of color and beauty of form in flower and tree and rock, in earth and sky, become spiritualized, when the unimaginative man is merely happy and calls for more beer, when the sensitive are lifted for a space out of this material world and touch the bounds of . . . something.

They stood together for a breath's span and were grateful for the appearance of the man, which saved them the need of words. As they both turned to meet him, Leslie was aware of a new softness in the girl's face.

"It is well, Abdullah. I will have it here. And you have taken Scimitar? That is well also." She directed the man briefly, who spread rugs upon the ground, and upon the bright green turf placed a flat panier of rushes. Upon this he arranged brown loaves, cheese in a green leaf, honey in a jar, and a jug of milk.

She turned to Leslie. "Shall we sit down?"

Chapter V

The moment in which a man and a woman, who have more than a platonic interest in one another, first break bread together alone is fraught with meaning; to them unconsciously the simple ceremony partakes of the significance of a rite, and may linger in the memory as long as life lasts. Happy indeed are they to whom chance presents that moment touched with the glow of pure romance. If love can hallow a crust in an attic, how much more can it transform fresh brown loaves beneath an olive tree. And, though they knew it not, love made the third at their first feast, hiding though he was, unguessed by either.

A new constraint settled upon them as they sat down together by the sylvan board. Leslie placed his fruit upon the panier beside the bread. Both hesitated to begin. The moment was not to be squandered. To be young and strong and beautiful, to have found this one spot in all the world set apart and sacred to them—this was a marvel.

"For you. I have always known it."

"For us, I said."

She colored slowly. "Perhaps for us. It's a dear place. The sun is warm here, but the air is always fresh, the grass is always green. I have always wanted . . . expected something to happen here."

"What?"

"I never thought or knew. Perhaps . . . this. But we are hungry, aren't we? Shall I break the bread?" She proffered the flat brown loaf. "And milk? Goat's milk? Or, there is water at the spring. But you shall help yourself. And . . . we must laugh today!"

She nodded. "You said to-day, and I say to-day. We must eat and be happy. Let us laugh at nothing. That is to be happy. Just as the sun shines and the flowers grow, while behind us, under the flowers, are the graves."

"You're like a child who tells itself stories, who frightens itself," he cried, leaning nearer. "Graves! There are no graves."

"Si, si," she insisted. "There, there, under the olive trees, the flat stones in the long grass. They are graves, the graves of the old hillmen from the village over there."

"But death, my dear," he insisted, "is not sad! They lived and were happy. Now it is our turn. The beauty of life is here. See, Phocis, my little Greek, life is here, life burning in our hearts; that is real!"

She met his eyes with hers questioning, then with a little gesture of acceptance, leant back her head against a tree. "Ah, you are right, my friend." Her voice was very sweet. "The present is all that we have and I am wasting it. For us there is no road again to Athens. But all is here." Her hand swept in an embracing gesture round the little wood.

For a moment they were silent; then Leslie rose to his knees, quite gravely. "We must pour a libation," he said. "But first we shall weave our garlands of the wild olive, make sacrifice to the gods of the place. We want the gods with us, don't we, Phocis? We must weave ourselves garlands and pour the libation upon the earth and call upon the gods of the place to have us in their keeping."

"Is it true?" She leant forward eagerly. "Will it help?"

He saw that she was moved.

"Help? Of course. They will look out for us both."

"For us both," she echoed, then rose to her feet at his side. "And they told me that the English had no souls! See, I will make your garland and you shall make mine. Of the wild olive branches only? May we not wear roses, myrtle, or any flowers?"

"In what garden?"

'Ah, but not for our garlands. Trust me, Phocis. I know the rules of the game. A chaste green garland, my child. We will take the roses afterwards. Hold up your head! Let me see. Too large. But, my dear, you do look ripping. If I could paint or draw, or had even a beastly camera, what a picture you'd make! Wait! There; it sets down on your smooth head. The gods will hear you! They must, unless they are blind. There is only one blind god and he's with us now. You are beautiful! Do you mind my talking like this? If you knew what it means to see beauty!" she stopped with a quickly indrawn breath, and lowered his head to receive the crown from her hands. "I expect I look a silly ass."

"You don't," she said. Their eyes met and he hurried on: "Now, my child, we kneel down. You facing me there. That is right. You're a vestal and I am a priest. Thank God we're not! And you raise the jug; oh, hold on, that jug ought to have a garland!" He jumped up, full of the game, and gathering a trail of purple convolvulus dropped it over her hands. "Now, you see, you raise your garlanded jug and when I have recited the invocation, you pour the libation upon the ground!"

"Genni loci! Gods of the place, we invoke thee! As we pour this libation we pray for thy protection, gods of the place! Gods of the place!"

A rifle shot echoed down the cliff and a bullet clipped its way between them. The brown jug lay shattered on the ground.

The girl sprang to her feet and caught his hand, crying out furiously some words in a dialect he could not understand. But he threw her hand aside.

"So, it's a trap," he said.

She caught his arm imploringly. "Trust me," she cried, and as a second bullet whistled above their heads, she dragged him with her through the trees. "Trust me. Quick, to the garden! You don't understand."

Convinced of her faith and ignorant of his enemy and of the country, he followed her fast down through the trees, where under the brow of the hill he saw with surprise, close below them, a green door in a wall and, beyond, the flat roof of a house in a garden. She pushed open the gate, none too soon, for another bullet flattened itself against the wall to one side, and as they passed through a figure in a jellab appeared above through the trees. The girl dropped a heavy wooden bar into the iron socket of the gateposts and stood looking up at him. She was laughing, but angry. "It's a disgrace," she said. "I will have him beaten. The wall is high, but we are better in the house."

She turned along the golden sandy path to the white walls of the villa. The dark green of the argan met with the lighter green of oleander above their heads. The villa stood on the side of a hill, and the garden lay below them; a paradise of flowering trees and roses, a labyrinth of paths through orange groves and bamboo plantations. Leslie had time only for a quick glance before he found himself in the entrance hall of the house.

Chapter VI

As in all Moorish houses, the passage in which Leslie and his companion stood ran between blank walls to a wall opposite, where it turned at right angles to the left into a square pillared room with a well in the middle. The girl led him across this through another passage into an inside patio or courtyard open to the sky, where water trickled from a fountain into a marble basin, surrounded by mimosa and orange trees. Light pilasters supported an upper gallery upon which sleeping-rooms opened. On two sides of the courtyard open to it were the living-rooms of the villa, long shallow apartments whose sole furniture consisted, as in most Moorish houses, of a low divan along the wall, cushions, and a carpet or two. Leslie knew the type of house well, and recognized it as the summer dwelling of some rich Moor from the town. At the present season it was evidently untenanted. It had a look of disuse. Dead leaves lay upon the unswept tiles.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Puppy Bush

(Copyright, 1930)

By HOWARD R. GARIS

The new little cat, which Baby Bunty found up in the pussy willow tree, stayed at Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow all night and in the morning Mr. Longears found out from Tommie Kat, where the cute little stranger lived.

"I'll take you home, Mew" said the rabbit gentleman. For this name had been given the lost pussy because she cried that way when Baby Bunty heard her up in the tree.

When his own little rabbit children hopped to the Hollow Stump School to recite their lessons to the Lady Mouse Teacher, Uncle Wiggily took Mew home. And on the way, as he held her soft, little paw in his, he asked her:

"What dog was it that barked at you and chased you up into the pussy willow tree last night, little Mew?"

"Oh, I don't know what dog it was," Mew answered. "I didn't stop to look. I never talk to dogs, anyhow, for they always chase us cats. But maybe it was Jackie or Peetie Bow Wow. Last night when I stayed in your bungalow, I heard Baby Bunty talking in her sleep about Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow. Maybe one of them chased me."

"Oh, no! Jackie or Peetie wouldn't do a thing like that," Uncle Wiggily said shaking his pink nose. "It must have been a strange dog. If I find out which one it was I'll speak to him so he won't chase you again, Mew. Well, here we are at your house."

Mew's mother was very glad to see her little pussy child again, for she could not imagine where she had been all night. Mew's mother thanked Uncle Wiggily for bringing the little lost cat home.

"I am very glad I could do it," spoke the polite rabbit gentleman. "Come and see me again, some time, Mew!"

"I will," promised the little pussy and then Uncle Wiggily hopped back home, laughing to himself as he remembered how Baby Bunty had thought a pussy willow bud had turned into a cat because she heard mewing up in the tree at the end of the rabbit gentleman's garden.

But that evening, when once more the rabbit children were gathered around Uncle Wiggily's easy chair to listen to the bedtime story from the evening paper, Baby Bunty was missing again.

"Where can that cute little tyke be now?" said Uncle Wiggily.

"Maybe she's down in the garden again, seeing if there are any more little cats in the pussy tree!" said Jingle with a laugh.

"Go on, Daddicums! Read the story! Don't wait for Bunty!" said Jangle.

Uncle Wiggily didn't want to do that, but just as he was going to look for Bunty as he had done before, all of a sudden the little orphan rabbit came hopping into the bungalow very fast and she shouted:

"Come quick! Come quick, everybody!"

"Where?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"What's the matter?" asked Buster.

"Down to the end of your garden again!" said Bunty. "There's a little puppy dog growing on a bush."

"A puppy dog growing on a bush? Nonsense!" exclaimed Mr. Longears. "You must be dreaming, Bunty. Though you did find, last night, a real pussy cat."

"And this is a real puppy, too!" said the little orphan rabbit. "I heard him barking and he's right on top of the bush where he is easy to pick off. Come on and pick him."

"She must mean the dogwood tree," said Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy. "You know you have a dogwood tree in the yard Uncle Wiggily."

"Yes, I know I have a dogwood tree," spoke the rabbit gentleman. "But that only has leaves and white flowers on in the spring. Puppies don't grow on dogwood trees or bushes.'

Uncle Wiggily and all the others followed Bunty to the end of the garden. And, as they came near the dogwood tree, or bush, they heard a tiny voice barking and yapping:

"Bow! Wow! Wow! Wuff!"

Surely enough a cute, little brown puppy was lying sprawled out on top of some flat branches of the dogwood bush. Uncle Wiggily reached over and lifted the puppy down. He wagged his tail and licked Uncle Wiggily's paws with his red tongue.

"However did you get up in the dogwood bush, little puppy?" asked the rabbit gentleman.

"I jumped up there to get away from the pussy cat who was chasing me," was the answer. "I ran fast and tried to jump over the bush to get away from that scratchy pussy cat, but I didn't jump far enough and I landed right in the bush and I couldn't get out so I howled and barked."

"What pussy cat chased you?" asked the rabbit and just then from under a big burdock weed a voice cried:

"I did, and I'll do it again, too!"

And what happened next you may read about in the story after this. It will be called Uncle Wiggily and little Mew. And if you can stop the loaf of bread from running away every time the knife tries to cut it, why then the butter will have a place to lie down.

Horoscope

FRIDAY, JUNE 13, 1930

Sinister stars seem to rule, according to astrology, which reads in the horoscope that this thirteenth day may be most unlucky.

Under this planetary government financial worries are indicated, and these may seem more insistent than usual.

This is not a favorable rule for transactions with banks or bankers. It is well not to apply for loans or extensions on notes until a more auspicious aspect prevails.

For many months before the stock debacle astrologers preached thrift and warned against reckless speculation. They now counsel special care in making investments.

This is not a favorable day for intellectual pursuits, for the mind may be difficult to concentrate.

While this configuration continues the judgment may not be reliable. It is believed to be equally unfortunate for choosing a wife or a stock.

It is not a propitious sway under which to begin ocean trips, for the weather may be freakish and traveling companions may be aggressive.

Although the stars appear to presage many social affairs for this date first meetings between persons of opposite sex should be made cautiously.

Acquaintances begun to-day probably will lead to disappointments, if the stars are rightly interpreted.

Wheat crops in Canada as well as the United States may be disappointing. Rubber crops also may be unsatisfactory.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the assurry of a year of success that is average. A few annoyances may interfere with serenity.

Children born on this day probably will be intense in nature and natural leaders. Many imaginative persons belong to this sign.

General Winfield Scott was born on this day, 1786. Frances Burney D'Arblay, 1752, novelist, also celebrated it as a birthday.

Broadcast Headliners

The Sharkey-Schmeling bout will be heard to-night from KOMO, Seattle. The fight broadcast from the Yankee Stadium will commence at 5.30 o'clock, with the main bout at 6 o'clock. (Victoria time)

STIMSON TO SPEAK

Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of State for the U.S., who headed the American delegation to the London Naval Limitations Conference, will this evening discuss those negotiations and the ultimate agreements reached by the world powers in the National Radio Forum arranged by The Washington Star over the Columbia Broadcasting System.

The Secretary of State's utterances on this occasion are expected to be the most significant he has made since the negotiations in London were completed, and they will be broadcast over the CBS hook-up. His address will commence at 6.30 o'clock, Victoria time, and will take up 40 to 45 minutes.

RADIO CORRESPONDENT

Cesar Saerchinger, well-know newspaperman and authority on music, has been appointed London correspondent for the Columbia Broadcasting System in connection with a programme of international news events to be broadcast direct from London to radio listeners in the United States. Mr. Saerchinger is the first regular news correspondent assigned to a foreign country by a broadcasting company.

The honor of being the first special foreign correspondent goes to Frederic William Wile, also of the Columbia System, who covered the Five Power Naval Parley earlier this year. Mr Saerchinger, however, will be a permanent representative.

He was born at Aix-la-Chapelle of naturalized American parents and was educated in the New York public schools and abroad, specializing in languages, history and music. He was associate editor of The International, 1912-14 and became assistant editor of Current Opinion in 1916; Mr. Saerchinger joined the New York Evening Post as special correspondent in 1919 when he wrote articles covering the German reconstruction period, the Bavarian Communist revolution and other events of world-wide interest. He left the Evening Post to become foreign editor of the Musical Courier. Later he joined the London Bureau of the Evening Post and the Philadelphia Ledger and has contributed largely to other American and English newspapers and magazines.

ENGLISH IN THE STATES

On the twentieth anniversary of their performance of two Shakespearean plays on the lawn of the White House, Mr. and Mrs. Coburn will present the first of a series of "Sound Dramas" over the Columbia Broadcasting System with the idea " of standardizing the English language in the United States."

The Coburns, who have just finished a long Broadway engagement in Booth Tarkington's "The Plutocrat," are widely know for their al fresco productions of Shakespeare and other classics, which have been presented on the campus of practically every university in the country. The White House performance on June 16, 1910, given at the invitation of Mrs. Taft for the benefit of the Washington Playground Association, is the only evening performance ever seen on the White House lawn.

Sun and Wind Bring Out Rusty-Brown Spots. How to Remove Easily

Even the woman with a tender skin need no longer dread the sun and winds. Though they coved her face with ugly freckles, she can safely fade them out in the privacy of her home with Othine.

After a few nights' use of this dainty white cream even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It's seldom that more than a jar of Othine is needed to clear the skin of the homely, rusty-brown spots.

Be sure to ask at any drug or department store for Othine double strength. It's always sold with guarantee of money back if it does not fade out even the worst freckles and give you a lovely, milk-white complexion. (Advt.)

Straight Talk to the Wife Who Expects Courtship Manners After Marriage—How Can the Henpecked Husband Assert Himself After Eighteen Years?

DEAR MISS DIX—I am married to a man I dearly love. Before we were married he was awfully affectionate and never tired of making a fuss over me. He always gave me the most expensive gifts and showed me a good time. Since we were married he doesn't seem so affectionate, but he never goes to work without kissing me good-by and always he kisses me first thing when he gets home. He is a perfect dear, except he doesn't seem so affectionate. Maybe it is my imagination, for I am a real baby and babies have to have a lot of attention. I want our life to be happy and for us always to be sweethearts. Do you think I am wrong in wanting my husband to take me about as much now and show me as much attention as he did before we were married?

ANXIOUS WIFE.

Answer: I think the real answer to the question of why husbands get tired is because so many of them have wives who put the idiotic value on little attentions that you do. I get thousands of maudlin letters from neurotic women who tell me that they are married to good, kind men who never say a cross word to them and who toil like slaves to support them in luxury, but they feel that they are poor, neglected, downtrodden creatures because their husbands don't treat them as they did in their courting days nor talk the mushy love talk they used to.

And these poor morons never seem to have got it through their solid ivory heads that marriage isn't courtship and that there are about a million good and sufficient reasons why a man's attitude toward his wife should be different from what it was when she was his sweetheart. Of course, the husband doesn't keep up his high-pressure love making after he is married and isn't forever swearing his eternal devotion to his wife. He has proved it by undertaking her support, and he says it with groceries and a charge account at the stores instead of quoting poetry.

Of course, a man doesn't take his wife around to places of amusement and give her a good time as he did before they were married. He didn't have to pay her bills then and he had more money to blow in on foolishness. Of course, a man isn't always paying his wife compliments and smirking and smiling at home. He knows that she knows what he thinks of her and he doesn't believe that two people who really love each other have always to be putting it in words.

Besides, he is up against the real problems of life and he expects his wife to have understanding enough to know that he is often tired and doesn't feel well and is worried and anxious and that she will have sense enough to know that there is nothing personal in his not always wanting to talk or jump around like a monkey on a stick.

If marriage means anything at all, it means that two people love each other well enough to understand each other and to make allowances for each other's moods and tenses, and that two people love each other well enough to love even each other's faults. And if a home is a real home it is a place where people can relax, where they can drop the mask and be themselves and where they don't have to be continually grinning and smirking and trying to keep somebody entertained and amused.

You say you are a baby. Lots of women adopt the baby pose and think it is alluring and fetching. Snap out of it, because there is nothing on earth of which an intelligent man can get so fed up as on a baby wife. If you want to see how that works out in life, get out your old copy of David Copperfield and read about Dora, who was such a darling child-wife and so alluring with her little tricks and her ignorance and her demands on David's attention before he married her, and of whom he got so badly weary after he was married to her and had to put up with her unreasonable and childish demands.

But don't befool yourself into thinking that there is anything attractive in acting like a baby after you are five years old. Not to grow up and develop into a mature woman who can take a reasonable and philosophic view of life merely shows that there is something the matter with your mind. The Peter Pans and the baby-talk ladies are nothing but high-grade imbeciles, so don't plume yourself on being one and acting like one.

And don't dream of always being sweethearts with your husband. That can't be done. You can't go through life billing and cooing and asking 'oose ducky is 'oo. That relationship ends at the altar. But something far better and more beautiful can take its place, a love that is so strong that it stands all the trials of life, an understanding that makes you literally one mind with but a single thought, a trust that makes you know that if all the balance of the world were against you, there woul still be one to whom you could turn and who would stand by you to the end. But that kind of relationship isn't built up by senseless demands and expecting a man to be always talking gooey love talk.

* * * * * * *

DEAR MISS DIX—I am forty-two years old and have been married eighteen years. My wife is a fine woman and a good mother, but we do not seem to get along harmoniously, and mostly on account of money. When I married I had the idea of being a good husband and I gave my wife all the money I earned except enough for carfare and lunch. I still do, and all the money we have saved is in her name. I haven't a penny of my own. But my wife is constantly reproaching me for not taking her out to a dinner or to a show or buying her presents, but how can I when I have given her all the money? Our child hears these reproaches and asks me why I don't do these things and I think it a shame that she should be allowed to think of me as miserly. I feel that I am getting near the end of my endurance and must do something, and it is my desire to do that what is right.

R. T. E.

ANSWER—Your case is another illustration of the old truth that a woman ill-treats the man that she dominates. The henpecked husband is not only tyrannized over and deprived of his liberty, he is invariably abused and treated with contumely and contempt.

There is something primitive in women that makes them respect only men who are stronger than they are, that makes them want to look up to their husbands, and when they get men who are mild and meek and weak and who submit to them, they trample roughshod over them and despise them.

You seem to have got a particularly unreasonable domestic tyrant, for she not only enslaves you and takes all that you make, but expects you to do the impossible and give her still more, and the only thing you can do about it is to depose her and usurp the throne yourself.

This will take a mighty domestic revolution but if you have the courage to stand up and make the fight you can win out and not only win your rightful place as the head of the family but her respect that you have forfeited and the respect of your child.

And that is worth having, for you must look a pretty poor figure to your child when she sees you meekly taking any kind of talk that mother chooses to hand you.

Begin by ceasing to turn over your pay envelope to your wife. That is always a fatal mistake for a man to make; because the hand that holds the purse invariably rules the roost, and no woman who doles out carfare and lunch money to her husband can keep from having a patronizing attitude toward him.

So give your wife a fair allowance to run the house on and keep the balance of your money for yourself. Then you can give her some of the treats that she demands. And get back the property she has in her name if you can. Nothing stiffens a man's backbone like money in the bank.

But it is hard to undo the work of eighteen years and you have my sympathy.

DOROTHY DIX.

* * * * * * *

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I have just lost my seven-month-old daughter. How long should I wear mourning for her?

MRS. M. S.

ANSWER—It isn't customary to wear mourning for a baby. In fact, since the war the custom of wearing mourning has been going out and many people do not wear it at all. They feel that it adds to the depression of a woman who has lost a dear one and that it brings a pang of memory to all who see any one garbed in the habiliments of grief. So don't shroud yourself in black.

CLAIM CONTESTED

Vancouver, June 12.—Damage claim of $14,864 pressed by Ramsay Brothers, biscuit manufacturers, against the city of Vancouver, for losses sustained when a water main under the Hastings Street viaduct burst, will be contested by the city solicitor. The city council ordered this yesterday.

Installed in 1892, the main served with satisfaction until recently, when the break occurred, the city engineer reported.

AT THE THEATRES

JOHN BARRYMORE IN LONDON STORY NOW AT THE DOMINION

John Barrymore comes to the Dominion Theatre to-day in the "The Man from Blankley's," Warner Bros. latest all-talking production.

Mr. Barrymore's early triumphs were in comedy, ranging from the happy-go-lucky type of the "The Fortune Hunter" to the delicate whimsicality of "Alice-Sit-by-the-Fire." His stage career reached the classic heights of tragedy in "Hamlet."

He easily became the screen's greatest lover and his "Don Juan" was the first picture to include musical synchronization. His initial all-talking triumph was "General Crack."

His second is "The Man from Blankley's," a comedy in which he plays the part of a gay London lord who starts out innocently enough to visit an old gentleman interested in antiquarian research but stumbles into the house next door where he is mistaken for the hired guest who is to add eclat to the dinner being given by the climbing Tidmarshes to their wealthy Chicago uncle.

MAE MURRAY IN "PEACOCK ALLEY" AT THE PLAYHOUSE

George Barraud, the handsome young English actor who plays opposite Mae Murray in "Peacock Alley," her first talking and singing Tiffany production, claims that his is the most mispronounced name in America.

George give two reasons for this, First, his own illegible signature, and second, because, as far as he has been able to ascertain, there is no other family name like his in the country. As a result, he is called Barrand, Barnard and, in fact, as he expresses it, everything beginning with a B and ending with a D.

The actor uses the English pronunciation of his name instead of the French. In other words, he gives the au a long o sound and pronounces the final d, placing the accent about equally on each syllable. He further states that every family of Barraud in his native country England, is related to each other.

"Peacock Alley," recorded by RCA Photophone, is the current attraction at the Playhouse Theatre.

REGINALD DENNY IN CLEVER COMEDY AT CAPITOL THEATRE

Reginald Denny admits he had lots of fun making his present picture—"What a Man!"—for Sono-Art, now at the Capitol Theatre. He says he has even broken down the force of the adage that a woman always gets the last word in any argument. In one scene with Miriam Seegar, the leading lady, he delivers a monologue six minutes in duration, without permitting her to get in one word. "Couldn't you manage to get a word in some place?" Miss Seegar was asked at the studio. "I should say not," said Miss Seegar, "when that boy gets going, a poor, defenceless woman hasn't a chance to get a word in edgewise."

"What a Man!" is an adaptation of the novel "The Dark Chapter" by E. J. Rath. It is a comedy based on mistaken identity, and it offers Denny the best oppurtunities for acting he has had since he has been in pictures.

AUTOMOBILE RACES FEATURE GRIPPING STORY AT COLUMBIA

RADIO ARTISTS TO SHOW AT COLISEUM IN CONCERT BILL

With the idea of giving a more personal touch to the performances of CFCT broadcasting artists, G. W. Deaville, manager of the station, has arranged with James McGrath, manager of the Coliseum Theatre and recently of the Gordon McLeod English Players, to present radio artists on the stage of the theatre from time to time, in a fifteen-minute concert party programme, which will be given in addition to the full picture bill arranged.

It is anticipated that this will give local performers an exceptional opportunity of improving their technique and of making more frequent appearances in public. They will also have the advantage of Mr. McGrath's expert advice in voice production and stage deportment—technicalities which are of paramount importance to any performer.

The Victoria Studio, which has done so much to discover local talent, is anxious that its star pupils should be seen as well as heard. At a later date Mr. McGrath hopes to produce a series of light comedy sketches, of the high-class revue type, which will be seen on the Coliseum stage and perhaps heard over the air.

The following artists will appear tonight at 8.45 o'clock, preceding the screen presentation of "Show-boat": Miss Eileen Bennett, vocalist; Reggie Stofer, whistler; Miss Helene Ockendon, pianist, and J. McGrath, vocalist.

On Saturday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, a special stage presentation will be given by Miss Louise Fisher, of the Russian School of Ballet and Madame Lilian Attield, of the B.C. Academy of Music, and her pupils. This will take the form of an instrumental ensemble of southern melodies.

VIOLINIST GIVES RECITAL TO-NIGHT

Francis Armstrong Will Be Assisted By Sydney Dixon, Tenor

Francise Armstrong, world-famous violinist, will be heard in concert this evening, at the Empress Hotel, assisted by Sydney Dixon, tenor, of Seattle.

The recital is being given under the auspices of the Tuberculous Veterans' section of the Canadian Legion, and this will be Mr. Armstrong's third appearance in Victoria on the concert platform. Victorians have every reason to be proud of the international fame which Mr. Armstrong has achieved as a violinist, inasmuch as he was born in this city, and received his first instruction on the violin in Victoria.

The programme, which will commence at 8.30 p.m., will include the following numbers:

(a) Ritornello .... Francesco Veracini
(b) Chanson Louis XIII and Pavane ..... Couperin
(c) Adagio in A Minor ..... Correlli
(d) Siciliano and Rigaudon Francoeur —Arr. by Kriesler
Mr. Armstrong
Recitative—"Deeper and Deeper Still" and aria "Waft Her Angels Through the Skies ..... Haendel
Mr. Dixon
Concerto No. 2 in A Minor ..... Cecil Burleigh
Somberly—Rather gruffly.
Chant—In pensive mood.
Swiftly—Savagely.
Mr. Armstrong
(a) "The Mountain Maid" ..... Edward Greig
(b) "The Iris" ..... Daniel Wolff
(c) "The Lodges of the Sioux" (written for Mr. Dixon) ..... Homer Grunn
Mr. Dixon
(a) "Romanza Anduluza" ..... Pablo Sarasare
(b) "The Prophet Bird" ..... Schumann-Auer
(c) "Cortege" ..... Lili Boulanger
(d) "On Wings of Song" ..... Mendelssohn-Auer
(e) "Molly on the Shore" (Irish reel) ..... Grainger-Kreisler
Mr. Armstrong

IMPROVEMENTS AT SCHOOLS PLANNED

Board Authorizes Expenditures For Repairs and New Installations

Repairs and improvements to several city schools were authorized by the school board at its regular meeting yesterday evening.

Expenditure of $1,200 at the High School for general repairs, $860 at Burnside School for painting, installations and general improvements, and $600 at Boys' Central were among the items recommended by the buildings' and grounds' committee and endorsed. Other schools at which work will be done are Sir James Douglas, Margaret Jenkins, South Park, Victoria West, North Ward, Quadra, Bank Street and Beacon Hill, while renovation of the Oaklands auditorium is under consideration.

The finance committee's report showed that expenditures to date, exclusive of salaries, totaled $49,520.71, as against $46,250.38 up to this time last year, an increase of only $1,269.83.

Purchase of 250 chairs for the Sir James Douglas auditorium, purchase of four sewing machines for domestic science classes and of a frigidaire for the High School were also authorized.

In a communication from the S.P.C.A., the board was advised that Dr. Irene Bastow Hudson had donated prize money for an essay among school children on "Care of Dumb Animals." The board was asked to advertise the contest in the schools.

The usual sanction to hold the summer school for teachers in the High School was granted in response to a request by Dr. S. J. Willis, provincial superintendent of education.

Funeral Aid Group Elects New Officers

The I.O.O.F. Funeral Aid Association will hereafter hold its annual election of officers apart from the proceedings of the Grand Lodge. At the annual meeting held yesterday afternoon at the Odd Fellows Hall the delegates appointed the second Wednesday in March as the date of the yearly gathering and selected New Westminster as the next meeting place.

E. C. Turner, of New Westminster, was re-elected president, the other officers chosen being M. J. Phillips, of New Westminster, vice-president; D. E. McKenzie, secretary, and S. C. McGuire, treasurer. Directors elected were: A. Markland and Alfred Proctor, of Vancouver, and A. G. French, of New Westminster.

W. C. Coatham, retiring secretary, reported the membership to be 2,790 with 2,223 Odd Fellows and 567 Rebekahs enrolled. The association pays funeral benefits derived from a death levy, and last year paid twenty claims aggregating $5,000. The association was created in 1919 and has since paid benefits totaling $35,500.

LAURA LA PLANTE IN "SHOW BOAT" HERE THIS WEEK

Because the voice of Laura La Plante has proved one of the outstanding talking picture voices in Hollywood, Universal Pictures Corporation has contracted for a $200,000 policy insuring it against injury.

The policy covers loss of voice either through accident or through conditions developing from illness. It will be in effect as long as the star is under contract.
